ALDRICH RELENTS IN FEAR OF VETO.

Taft and Senators from Middle West Force Protection Men Into Condition for Compromise.

MANY CUTS MAY RESULT.

President Expected to Reject Bill Which He Decides Does Not Fulfill Pledges of Republicans.

BY RAYMOND.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—As a result of the quiet influence of President Taft and the persistent opposition of the senators from the Mississippi valley, Mr. Aldrich and the conservative element in the senate have been frightened into agreeing that they will make some notable concessions in the way of tariff revision downward.

This may be done possibly without the aid of committee amendments, but the dominant element in the senate will agree not to fight a number of propositions for a revision of some of the most objectionable duties in the downward direction. Furthermore, Chairman Payne, Speaker Cannon, Representative Boutell and others who have been fighting for high duties practically have agreed to accept a number of senate reductions.

Several of these leaders have been to the White house of late and have left the impression there, it is said, that the net result, after the conference has finished its work, will be to put into the bill the reductions made both by the house and by the senate, so that the general average of the perfected bill will be much lower than that of either house or senate.

Fear Taft Will Use Veto.

As has been stated, part of this surrender by the high protection element has come about through the downright fear that President Taft would veto the bill which they originally had framed. On the other hand, the insurrectionary movement on the part of the Mississippi valley senators has had much more effect than has been appreciated even by those senators themselves.

The repeated warnings of men like Cummins, Dolliver, Beveridge, Nelson, Clapp, Burkett, Bristow, and others were laughed at in the beginning, but since then the leaders, both of the house and senate, have concluded that the demand in the middle west for a revision on the downward basis is something which can no longer be ignored. The result is that even Mr. Aldrich, the high priest of the fanatical protection which safeguards the eastern manufacturers at the expense of the consumer, has concluded that between Mr. Taft and the middle west sentiment there is danger both politically and commercially to the interests they represent.

It may be that the eastern leaders are attempting to flimflam the president and to fool the people, but if so they are going about it in a deliberate way, and it is certain from the talks which the members of congress have had with the president that he believes they will play fair with him and the people and will allow a number of reductions to slip into the bill. If they do not, it will be vetoed.

Aldrich Refutes Own Claim.

Mr. Aldrich, it is said, has stipulated that the main feature of the cotton and wool schedules shall be left intact. His argument is that these paragraphs are so complex and are woven together so closely that if they are disturbed by lowering the duty on articles here and there, it will throw the whole machinery out of balance, so far as those schedules are concerned.

There is some truth in this statement, but there is a good deal more selfishness. Mr. Aldrich himself did not hesitate to remodel the silk schedule of the present law, substituting specific for ad valorem duties and remodeling all of the silk paragraphs in such a way as to raise the rates materially on almost every article. If the Aldrich bill goes through in its present form, every article of silk will be higher priced than before and the table prepared by Mr. Aldrich himself admits this fact.

It undoubtedly is a good thing to substitute specific for ad valorem duties whenever it can be done, but there is no reason why there should be an advance in the rates. All the rates could be lowered just as easily as raised, and it is not too late to do that thing.

Wool Schedule Could Change.

It is true that Mr. Aldrich has told the president and Republican leaders that the cotton, woolen, and silk schedules are so delicately adjusted that it would be extremely dangerous to pick out a few paragraphs here and there for a revision downward. There is no reason at all why there should not be a general revision of all paragraphs of all of those schedules.

It could be done in the case of the woolen schedule without interfering with the duties on raw wool, so that the farmers and sheep growers would continue to be fully protected. The rates on manufactured woolen goods and on cotton and silk goods as well could be reduced with a profit to consumers, and the only sufferer would be the New England manufacturer, who has grown immensely rich by the tariff system, which is practically prohibitory on everything except certain lines of goods which are not profitably manufactured in this country.

Senator Aldrich's latest scheme, which has been submitted to President Taft and which later on will be filtered through to the insurgent senators, is that these textile schedules should be let alone, but that there should be a general revision downward in the way of free or cheap raw materials. This means free coal, free hides, free iron ore, low priced lumber, and a reduction on the other raw materials and partly manufactured articles which are to be expanded or remanufactured in this country.

Reduction on General Average.

In this way when the tariff bill finally is submitted to the president the statistical experts will be able to figure out a general average of reduction. The people will not notice it much, because it will not extend to the things they wear in any important particular.

The iron and steel schedule will be cut still further, because the steel trust does not need any protection anyway. There will be no reduction on earthenware or china or cheap pottery. Cotton hosiery, gloves, women's bonnets, and similar articles will be subjected to duties substantially the same as under the EATING AND DIGESTION.

"Digestion waits on appetite and health on both" is a maxim old and true. From this it is clear that the appetite should be keen and natural—that is, not forced by rich foods and highly spiced condiments. There is no better way to get up a good appetite, a keen, genuine hunger, than by exercise in the open air and sunlight.

Then when the meal hour comes let it be a full hour instead of twenty to thirty minutes. See to it, too, that the conversation at the table is of the bright and cheery sort. Take plenty of time and chew your food thoroughly and this, with plenty of outdoor exercise, will preserve both your appetite and digestion and keep you well and vigorous in both body and mind.

SENATORS FIGHT FOES OF PEONAGE

Taft Is Asked to Depose Federal Officials Who Opposed Slavery and Pardon One Man Convicted.

DENY BLOW TO SOUTH.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—A concerted movement on the part of the affected interests to terminate the campaign against peonage inaugurated by the federal government has been started. Strong influence is being brought to bear upon the president to induce him to pardon the men convicted of the violation of the peonage laws in the south.

If it can be accomplished, the district attorneys and United States marshals who have been efficient aids of the department of justice in this important work either will be removed or will fail of reappointment. Altogether, the situation is one which seriously menaces a reform of vital interest, not only to the men induced or forced to work under slavelike conditions, but to the social life of the communities in which they labor.

Four United States senators, representing the states of Tennessee and Alabama, called upon the president today to urge that he grant a pardon to W. S. Harlan, manager of the Jackson Lumber company, near Lockhart, Ala. Harlan comes originally from Iowa, but now is a resident of Alabama. It was proven that he had headquarters at Lockhart; that in his backyard were kept bloodhounds used to capture men attempting to escape. It was shown that by means of the telegraph, railroad, and telephone, justice of the peace, and deputy sheriff the men employed by the lumber company were hemmed in so that escape was almost impossible; that the foreman constantly carried pistols and often made threats; that a rope was placed around the neck of one foreigner and thrown about a beam as an object lesson to the others and to frighten them.

Practices Shock Decent Men.

It was asserted by the government that Harlan and his subordinates organized a conspiracy which in its conception and execution was such as to shock the feelings of any decent man, and that a system of cruelty and oppression, carried on in the remote and sparsely settled pine forest region, had been brought to light which would be hardly credible if two juries had not affirmed that it existed.

Assistant District Attorney Russell, who has been doing yeoman work in the effort to suppress peonage, will make a determined resistance to the attempt to liberate Harlan through the pardoning power of the president. If leniency be shown in that case, the corner stone will be pulled out from the structure of prosecutions which have been laboriously built up during the last two years.

Mr. Taft has been told that the department of justice is hounding a man whose crime consisted in requiring an employé who had been in his service only twelve hours to perform the work he had agreed to do. Mr. Russell, in the course of the investigation he made in the Harlan case, has produced a vast quantity of evidence which he declared showed that Harlan was the reigning spirit in the enforcement of the condition of the peonage at Lockhart. From him, he asserted, all orders came, and by him all methods of business, whether criminal or not, were devised. He was the spider in the web.

Harlan Case One of Many.

The case of Harlan is cited as one of many of similar character which have been uncovered in the southern states by Mr. Russell during the course of his investigations. It is his view that the chief support of peonage is the peculiar system of state laws prevailing in the south, intended evidently to compel service on the part of the working man. It is but a step from the usual condition of the great mass of laboring men where these laws are in force to peonage, and in the report he made some months ago Mr. Russell declared it difficult to draw the distinction between the condition of a man who remains in service against his will because the state has passed a special law under which he can be arrested and returned to work and the condition of a man on a nearby farm who actually is made to stay at work by arrest and actual threats of force under the same law.

The actual spoken threat of an individual employer who makes his laborer stay at work against his will by fear of the chain gang and the threat of the state to send him to the chain gang whenever his employer chooses to have him arrested are the same in result, and he does not consider them different in any other way.

The effect of the activity of the department of justice has not been to put an end to peonage, for cases still are being reported to the department of justice, nor is this to be expected under the conditions described by Mr. Russell.

South Sees Need of Change.

But it is gratifying to note that a healthy public sentiment is developing in the south, which has enabled the conviction and punishment of offenders and which already has led and undoubtedly will continue to lead to a revision of the state laws. In New York, Chicago, and other points from which men were induced to go to southern camps, greater care is exercised to prevent them from serving under conditions resembling slavery.

It may be asked why white men are unable to protect themselves. Mr. Russell answered this by saying that if those who so wonder were suddenly set down in the middle of Russia without money or friends, they would be almost as helpless. The laborers who have been especially subjected to peonage are Russians, Bulgarians, Italians, Austrians, and other aliens, who do not speak English and who therefore are the more easily imposed upon. The state department has been deluged with protests from the governments of Europe which have urged that the federal authorities interfere either to secure the relief of individuals from the intolerable conditions in which they have placed themselves or to ameliorate those conditions.

The department of commerce and labor has been coöperating with the department of justice to bring about an abandonment of peonage by state and private persons. The President Taft and Vice President Sherman, accompanied by two of the president's aids, played a foursome at Chevy Chase yesterday afternoon. The president was victorious, as usual. A return match will be played next week.

President Roosevelt, accompanied by two of his aids, rode ninety-six miles yesterday in a driving rain. He did it to demonstrate that the thirty mile a day ride military test for officers was not an unreasonable hardship. He returned in good condition.

President Taft received a number of callers yesterday. He spent the greater part of the morning in a talk with an old gentleman from one of the western states. It is said that the president has not yet learned the art of terminating an interview and, on account of his good nature, is being constantly imposed upon by tactless callers who do not know when to leave.

President Roosevelt received 200 callers yesterday morning, disposing of them in less than an hour. He had a pleasant word for each and remembered the names of nearly every one of them.

President Taft remains silent on the tariff situation and has steadfastly maintained an attitude of apparent inactivity. It is impossible to get a statement of his position as to a possible veto of the tariff bill, but it is believed that he will act vigorously at the proper time. It is evidently his purpose not to encroach upon the legislative functions of the government.

President Roosevelt is incensed at congress because of their inaction in protecting public lands. He wrote a stinging message yesterday and in consequence the members of congress are frothing at the mouth. It is thought they will be moved by public opinion to take action.

Many men high in congress who have bitterly fought the Roosevelt policies are frequent callers at the White house and are received with friendly cordiality by President Taft. It is believed that he will follow a conciliatory policy with his enemies rather than stir them up by fierce antagonism.

President Roosevelt yesterday threw down the gauntlet to a little coterie of powerful senators who have been representing powerful interests in congress. He defied them to retaliate and swears he will bring them to time.

TWO GIFTS TOTAL $200,000

NEW BUILDING IS ASSURED.

Donors of $100,000 Each Are E. H. Gary and D. K. Pearsons of Hinsdale.

Two gifts of $100,000 each, one to the Chicago Theological seminary and the other to the Y. M. C. A. for a building at Gary, Ind., were announced yesterday. The donors are Dr. D. K. Pearsons of Hinsdale and E. H. Gary, chairman of the executive committee of the United States Steel corporation.

The annual board meeting of the Theological seminary at Ashland and Washington boulevards was turned into a celebration in the afternoon when it was unexpectedly announced that Dr. Pearsons would give the institution $100,000 to be used in any way the board pleased for the benefit of the seminary.

It was Dr. George S. F. Savage, one of the original incorporators of the institution in 1859, who told the welcome news.

"Dr. Pearsons has written me several letters recently," he said, "concerning another gift to the seminary. He telephoned me a day or two ago to go to his office in a few days and get the money. He gave me permission to announce the gift to this meeting."

The twenty-four members of the board from all parts of the northwest immediately forgot all business and cheered the announcement. The news was communicated to a hundred alumni of the seminary, who were at the institution to hold their annual dinner, and a general congratulation party followed.

Dr. Pearsons' Third Gift.

This is the third substantial gift that Dr. Pearsons, who has endowed schools and colleges in every part of the country, has made to the seminary. Thirty-five years ago when the seminary was struggling for its existence he gave it $50,000, and in 1893 he made a gift of $185,000 to the institution.

"The gift is in the nature of a tribute to our new president, Dr. O. S. Davis, who became the head of the institution in April," J. R. Montgomery, secretary of the board, said. "Dr. Pearsons has always been a stanch friend of the seminary. He was an especial friend of Dr. Hugh Scott, professor of church history, who recently was killed in a street car accident. One of the best things about this gift is that there are no strings to it. The seminary is free to use the gift as it pleases. The endowment fund of the institution is over $800,000 besides this."

Dr. Davis is planning a seminary extension course to be open to the ministers of Chicago who have never had seminary training. A part of the new fund may be used for this purpose.

Gift Came as a Surprise.

The announcement of this latest gift of Dr. Pearsons comes as all the greater surprise because of his recent statement that he was going to go slow with new gifts to schools, as those already promised would have to be provided for by the sale of some of his property.

Dr. Pearsons is 89 years old, and since 1887 he has given most of his time to charitable enterprises. It is estimated that his gifts to charity and education have amounted to more than $15,000,000. He has realized an immense fortune from early investments in real estate, which he began to make soon after coming to the city in 1860. After the big fire in 1871 his wealth increased almost as fast as did the size of the city, and in 1876 he was considered one of the richest men of the town.

No Strings Tied to Gift.

Officials of the United States Steel corporation made the announcement that E. H. Gary would present to the city named in his honor a building to cost $100,000 for the use of the Young Men's Christian association. Mr. Gary gives outright for the building and is exclusive of the land upon which it will be erected.

Plans for the building will be drawn by the New York architect of the association, and construction will begin as soon as they are completed.

The site will be selected next Saturday when Indiana officials of the association will visit Gary. The building will be on the town site, but will be close to the steel plant. Owing to the large number of young men employed in the mills the field is believed to be a good one.

Mr. Gary has already donated three lots worth $3,000 as a site for a Methodist church.

MALDWIN DRUMMOND SUFFERS AN ATTACK OF SMALLPOX.

Maldwin Drummond, whose marriage with Mrs. Marshall Field Jr. was one of the sensations of the London fashionable world last summer, is undergoing a severe attack of smallpox. He was taken ill at his villa at Cannes while he and his wife were sojourning there, and for a time he was thought by his doctors to be in danger of his life.

The family and servants were in quarantine. Grave fears harassed Mrs. Drummond for a time lest her young daughter, Gwendolyn Field, should catch the disease. The boys were not exposed, and now everybody in the house has had time to develop symptoms if they were going to do so.

Mrs. Drummond has exercised that gift for nursing which was the subject of comment throughout the country when her first husband lay on his death bed by giving her personal attention to Mr. Drummond. Now the danger is said to be past, and it will not be a great while before he and Mrs. Drummond can return to England. They have taken a splendid house in London, and Mrs. Drummond is planning to be presented for a second time at court. Her first presentation took place only a short time before her wedding.

Robert Mitchell Moore, a lumber merchant, was injured seriously at Roscoe street and Sheridan road Tuesday afternoon when he was struck by an automobile. His collarbone was broken in two places and he suffered severe cuts about the head. The police were not notified of the accident until late last night.

Moore was standing in the street after he had finished repairing his machine, which had been disabled, when the other machine driven at a fast rate of speed, hit and threw him against the curbing.

The number of the machine, he said, was "17963." According to the automobile directory this license is owned by D. M. Norris of Kankakee, Ill.

ALLY OF THE WHITE PLAGUE

Physicians Say Removal Checks Tuberculosis in Children.

Wholesale cutting out of tonsils from the throats of every one subject to tuberculosis was advocated yesterday by physicians at the fifty-fourth annual convention of the Illinois Homeopathic Medical association held in the Sherman house.

Tonsils clearly had no friends among the assembled physicians. One described them as "things good for breeding microbes." Another declared that no use for them ever has been found, and the agreement was general that their removal checked incipient tuberculosis.

"Twelve per cent of the children examined recently," said Dr. Richard H. Street, "were found infected with incipient tuberculosis. When the tonsils of these children were removed there was complete recovery.

"After the removal of the tonsils a pathological examination is necessary to uncover any disease. The tonsils are veritable germ breeders."

They Exist "Just Because."

Dr. Burton Haseltine, secretary of the association, expressed his approval of this indictment of tonsils. Dr. Haseltine added that medical men have been unable to find a reason for the existence of tonsils and have decided that they are a "vestigal organ like the appendix, of a lower form of life."

"It is probable" he continued, "that they had some use in some previous stage of animal life, but we are unable to discover what that use was.

"Ten per cent of the children having diseased tonsils are suffering from incipient tuberculosis. Therefore, when the tonsils have been found to be diseased, I would advise removing them. They are of no apparent use, and if they cause inconvenience, one is better off without them."

Dr. Haseltine announced he had made an extensive study of the subject and gave a discourse on the results of this study. His investigations have resulted in so much evidence that tuberculosis may be found to start in the tonsils that he chose for his subject "Tonsilar Disease a Factor in Tuberculosis."

Papers Today May Stir Debate.

The sessions of the association will close today with the election of officers and discussion of papers on neurology, psychology, and electrology. The principal papers will be those of Dr. W. B. Hinsdale, dean of the Homeopathic college of the University of Michigan, on "Some Present Day Medical Problems," and Dr. Alonzo C. Tenney of Chicago on "What Should Be the Physician's Attitude Toward Psychotherapy?" These papers are expected to result in a warm discussion.

An informal banquet of district societies will be held tonight at the Sherman house. A clinic will be held at Hahnemann college tomorrow and the annual banquet in the evening at the Auditorium hotel will conclude the convention.

ELINOR GLYN FINDS OUR MEN TOO GOOD

WEIRD CHICAGO MANSION.

"Elizabeth" Meets Some Mere Males Way Out West Who Are More Nearly Up to Snuff.

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

Here it is at last! Mrs. Elinor Glyn's long expected and eagerly awaited book on America. "Elizabeth Visits America" (Duffield) is the name of it and she brings that knowing and naughty young person, Elizabeth of the Letters, to see what she may see in these United States.

This book, as the former, is written in the form of letters to her equally knowing and perhaps equally naughty mamma. Mrs. Glyn is fortunate in having this form of expression already made popular and to her hand. It was inevitable that she should write a book about her visit to this country and what more appropriate than that she should put her observations into the mouth of her own Elizabeth!

There are touches here and there that remind one unpleasantly of Mrs. Glyn's notorious novelette, but on the whole the work is amusing and often witty. I thought "Three Weeks" a dull tale, but I find nothing dull in this vivacious record of the author's visit to our shores.

Men Not Naughty Enough.

I think that American women will feel more flattered by Elizabeth's observations than will the men. She finds the latter nice but not naughty enough. Elizabeth says that they are more like brothers, or even aunts, than she likes men to be, and that a woman could trust herself to go to Australia with them.

But I will let her speak for herself. The book will not be in the book stores until after this letter appears. I may say that Elizabeth, now the marchioness of Valmond, whose portrait, by the way, bears a remarkable likeness to the Mrs. Glyn of some years ago, is supposed to have quarreled with her husband, the Harry of the story, who, not quite liking to shoot the man he is jealous of, goes to Africa to shoot lions instead. Tom and Octavia accompany her to America. They come over on the Lusitania, where they have "a charming suite with two real windows and beds."

There are lots of Americans on board, and really these traveling ones are quite as bad as the awful English people one meets on the continent, only instead of having stickout teeth and elephants' feet their general shapes are odd. It appears as if in the beginning Peter, or some one, called up to the Creator that so many thousands of arms and legs and bodies and heads were wanted to make this new nation, and so the requisite amount were pitched down and then joined up without any one's worrying to get them en suite.

Reporters Like Rat Terriers.

A young western miner by the un-American name of Nelson Renour, who has made "his pile," crosses with them and Elizabeth finds him attractive. Crowds of reporters came on board the ship to interview them.

They were perfectly polite, but they asked direct questions, how we liked America (we had not landed!), how long we were going to stay, what was our object in coming there, what we thought of the American divorce, etc., etc. All but two were the same type: very prominent foreheads, deep set eyes, white faces, origin south of France or Corsican mixed with Jew to look at, with the astounding American acuteness added, and all had the expression of a good terrier after a rat—the most intense concentration.

Some Waiters Insolent.

Elizabeth and her party stopped at the Plaza hotel because at the one where they went first the waiters were insolent. When they remonstrated with one for not having brought them what they ordered—

He picked his teeth and grinned and said, "If you don't ask for what you want you won't get it. You said tea, and you've got tea; you never mentioned sugar and milk." Then he bounced off, and when the lift boy whistled as he brought me up, and the Irish chambermaid began to chat to Octavia, she said she could not bear it any longer, and Tom must go out and find another hotel. So late last night we got here, which is charming; perhaps the attendants are paid extra for manners. But even here they call Octavia "La Chevenix" and me "Lady Valmond" every minute—never just "My lady," like at home, and I am sure they would rather die than say "Your ladyship!"

Perfectly Brotherly and Serious.

People to whom they brought cards vied with one another in entertaining them. The first dinner given them was at Sherry's. There were eighteen of them at the table and they had a delightful and amusing evening:

American men, as far as I have seen, are of quite another sex to English or French—I mean you feel more as if you were out with kind aunts or grandmothers or benevolent uncles than just men. They don't try to make the least love to you or say things with two meanings, and they are perfectly brotherly and serious, unless they are telling anecdotes with American humor—and that is not subtle. It is something that makes you laugh the moment you hear it; you have not to think a scrap.

When they are not practically English, like the ones we see in London every season, they wear such funny clothes—often velvet collars on their coats! and the shoulders padded out so that every man is perfectly square; but everything looks extraordinarly well sewn and ironed and everybody is clean shaven; and Octavia says it takes at least two hundred years of gently bred ancestors to look like a gentleman clean shaven, in evening dress, so perhaps that is why lots of them have the appearance of actors.

Not Like Lovely Guardsmen.

It is "perfectly absurd to pretend that they look thoroughbred," she adds. "Their hair does not shine and is not brushed smartly, and "after our lovely guardsmen they look a little ungroomed about the head."

The food on this occasion was "exquisite" though she complains of the bones in the terrapin. I am shocked that Sharry's chef did not take the bones out. In any well regulated kitchen they are extracted before serving. Before dinner Elizabeth had her first cocktail:

> It tastes like ipecacuanha wine mixed with brandy and something bitter and a touch of orange; but you have not swallowed it five minutes when you feel you have not a care in the world and nothing matters.

Bored by Ancestry Talk.

The talk about ancestry and the "Mayflower" bored Elizabeth as it bores you and me. She doesn't quite understand where or why we draw social lines, forgetting that we have to draw them tightly as they are not drawn for us as in England. Over here—

> Even a Socialist leader thinks himself above the crowd—and is, too, though I should imagine that the American middle and lower classes would assert they have no equal but God—if they don't actually look down on him.

Divorce and Heaps of Money.

On the subject of American husbands she says:

> American husbands fetch and carry and come to heel like trained spaniels, and it is perfectly lovely; everything is so simple. If you happen to get bored with your husband, or he has a cold in his head, or anything that gets on your nerves, or you suddenly fancy some other man, you have not got all the bother and subterfuge of taking him for a lover, and chancing a scandal like in England. You simply get your husband to let you divorce him, and make him give you heaps of money, and you keep the children if you happen to want them; or—there is generally only one—you agree to give that up for an extra million if he fancies it; and then you go off and marry your young man when he is free; because all American men are married, and he will have had to get his wife to divorce him.

She is certainly frank about English morals!

A luncheon party she describes as being like a Mad Hatter's tea party, but she adds:

> Of course, it is amusing for Octavia and me to see all this, as we are merely visitors, but fancy, mamma, doing it as a part of one's life! Dressing up and making oneself splendid and attractive to meet only women!

Nice Young Men Cure for "Nerves."

> or fad, and are frightfully restless, and Octavia says it is because in the natural development of the female of any country, numbers of these are really at the stage when they should be doing manual labor, according to their ancestry, and so having nothing to occupy them and living in every dreamed-of luxury, they get nerves instead. But I think it is because they never have nice young men to play with, every one being busy working downtown in the day time.

In writing about our men, Elizabeth explains herself to her mamma. There are men, she says, whom the moment they come into the room you know they are there.

> You know it isn't a woman. It is not an intellectual or soul feeling, but it is lovely, all the same, and although I am furious with Harry and intend to be horrid to him, I must say he has this power stronger than any one I have ever met; when he is close to me I have a kind of creep of pleasure, and when he kisses those little curls at the back of my neck I feel thrills all down my back. Do you know what I mean, mamma? I have divided men up into two lots. Those one could go to Australia alone with and those one couldn't, and it does not matter in the least their age or looks or station or anything, it is just whether or not they have got this quality.

Definition of "Rough Housing."

Gaston de la Trémors, the man about whom Elizabeth quarreled with her husband, has this quality and she was delighted that he followed her to America. Our young men are not a bit like Gaston—thank God! They romp with the girls rather than make love to them, according to Elizabeth.

> What struck us most was the young people seemed much more familiar with each other than we should ever allow them to be; just like playful brothers and sisters, not a bit loverish, but almost as if it could develop into what they call "rough-housing" in a minute, although it never did at the dance.
> "Rough-housing" is throwing your neighbor's bread across the table at some one else, and he throwing his table napkin back at you, and yelling and screaming with mirth; and it often ends with being mauled and pulled about, and water being poured down some one's neck.

Finds Little Romance Here.

Elizabeth must have visited at some houses described by Upton Sinclair.

> There is not much romance here. I don't see how they ever get in love. How could one get in love with a young man whom one romped with and danced with till his face became dripping and his collar limp; whom one saw when one wanted to without any restrictions, and altogether treated like a big brother? I suppose getting "crazy" about a person is as near being in love as they know. Each country has its ways, but I like romance.

Of course Olivia comes to Chicago. On the way here she meets Craik V. Purdy, whom she describes as if he were a typical citizen of this town. He has bushy eyebrows and a stubby red mustache and he boasts of his shady business methods. He has "all kinds of money" and a "dullish sort of woman with a cold in her head" for a wife. He is kind to her, however, and covers her with diamonds.

Weird Mansion of Chicagoan.

The senator who accompanied Mrs. Glyn—I mean Elizabeth—and her party to Chicago arranged a luncheon party for them which he said would be unlike anything that they had seen in America. The luncheon was at the mansion of the aforesaid Craik V. Purdy, a little way beyond the town. It was—> a cross between a robber's castle on the stage and a Henri III. chateau, mixed with a "little English Gothic." Huge, unnameable animals were carved on top of the gates. Tom said the fathers of them must have been "gazeekas," and their mothers "slithy toves," out of "Through the Looking-glass." They were Mr. Purdy's crest, we suppose.

More About the Mansion.

A German butler with a slow walk opened the nail studded door and they stepped into a hall hung—> full of pictures in the widest gold frames, all sorts; landscapes, portraits, cats, dogs, groups of still life, good, bad, and indifferent, massed together on a wall covered with large patterned scarlet and gilt Japanese leather paper. Guarding the doors and staircase were imitation suits of armor on dummy men, standing under some really beautiful Toledo blades crossed above their heads. Then, through crimson plush curtains with gold appliqué Florentine patterned borders, we were ushered into the drawing room.

The drawing room resembled a sarcophagus, for it had stone walls and floor and tombstone mantlepieces. The dining room decorations were—> composed of saddlebag coverings, varnished mahogany and a stenciled fleur de lys wall with crossed battleaxes upon it, between pictures and some china plates, while the table was lit by two huge lamps from the ceiling, shaded by old gold silk shades with frills.

Women Had Horse Sense.

The table furnishings were even more gorgeous than in New York, and "the implements to eat with more varied." Mr. C. V. Purdy had costly pictures and he was thinking of starting a gallery. Really, the women at the luncheon were not so bad after all. They were not intellectual, but they had horse sense and that is a lot.

Elizabeth's visit to Nevada thrilled her because the men were so good looking—"all lovely creatures, just like our guardsmen," and yet they were all Americans!

As I said in the beginning this book is amusing. It will be widely read for that reason and because of its occasional sidestepping over the bounds of propriety. Its stridents will not irritate any one except possibly our young men who may resent being described as "aunts or grandmothers or benevolent uncles."

If Mrs. Glyn honors us with another visit they will, I am sure, let her see that they are just as wicked and just as ungrandmotherly as her pet guardsmen.

CHICAGOAN'S TALE OF TURKISH CLASH

D. E. Felt Writes of Scenes in Constantinople Prior to Sultan's Fall.

WOMEN BRAVE IN DANGER

D. E. Felt, 3259 Beacon street, who since February has been touring Egypt, Syria, and Turkey in company with his wife, was in Constantinople at the time of the invasion last month by the Young Turks. A letter from Mr. Felt reached his partner, Charles J. de Berard of the Felt and Tarrant Manufacturing company yesterday. The letter was written from Athens, where Mr. and Mrs. Felt arrived on April 25 from Constantinople. Describing the circumstances and incidents of the siege, Mr. Felt begins:

"We took the boat at Beirut for Constantinople on April 17. There was trouble at the time. We had seen eight or nine hundred soldiers at a railroad station where we took lunch a day or two before, who went out that afternoon into the mountains near us to quell some disturbances and got badly licked. Several hundred of them were killed. On the boat there was talk of trouble in Turkey all the time, and all trains were guarded by soldiers.

"Some of the Young Turks remained on the boat, stating that they would get off at the Dardanelles and reach their troops by land as they did not dare go through Constantinople. I had intended to remain on the boat clear back to Athens, but when we got to the Dardanelles two Turkish officers came out from land and conferred with those on board, who then remained on the ship. I concluded that if they could go into Constantinople we could. So with about thirty other tourists we landed at Constantinpole.

City Looked Fairly Peaceful.

"This was Wednesday evening. The streets were patrolled by soldiers, but otherwise things looked fairly peaceable. There were many rumors, but all we could learn for sure was that the sultan had a small body of troops in and about the palace, and that the Young Turks had about three times as many surrounding the palace. The latter were estimated from 30,000 to 90,000, and other large bodies of troops were reported moving toward Constantinople.

"Friday was the day the sultan was to make the annual procession to the mosque, and the Young Turks had given him until that day to accept and give pledges that he would abide by the constitution and concede other moderate demands made by them. We put in the day, Thursday, seeing the sights of Constantinople. The trouble was expected to begin, if at all, on Friday morning, when the procession took place, and it was thought that if the bombardment did not begin before 12:30, the trouble would be over. So Friday morning we took a boat, four or five of us, and went up to the Black sea, getting back about 12, intending to go directly on the ship. We were along the shore, where we could see the fighting, but as nothing had happened at 12:30, we came on land, went to the hotel, and had lunch. I hired a dragoman for myself and Mrs. Felt, took my camera, and started out to get some photographs. We went up the Galata tower, from which the city can be seen, and staid there about an hour. Pretty soon the troops began to come back from the sultan's parade, and I photographed the Galata bridge when it was full of them crossing. The tower and the hotel where we were stopping is in Pera, and this bridge, which is the most famous feature of Constantinople, except the St. Sophia mosque, crosses the golden horn to Stamboul. Stamboul, which is distinctly Mohammedan, is a beautiful place when viewed from across the golden horn or from the Bosporus. It is not so beautiful, however, when you get into its narrow, dirty streets.

Report Sultan Was Insane.

"About 2:30 we came down from the tower and went across the bridge to Stamboul. Great crowds of Mohammedans were excitedly discussing the situation, but they did not know any more about the facts than we did, because they told our dragoman that the sultan's physician had sent out word that the sultan was insane and that the procession did not take place. Our dragoman would not let me take any pictures of these crowds. The Mohammedans believe if they take their photographs and cannot put life into them on the day of resurrection they would not go to heaven. Many cameras have been smashed all through the land where we have been traveling, particularly in Constantinople. However, I got many good photographs, but not of the people or the best places. At one or two places policemen pushed me back into the carriage. At one place a policeman followed close up to my back when I was photographing a dog and explained that he did it to prevent some one from stabbing me in the back.

"We got back to the hotel about 5 p. m. and started out to buy souvenirs. We met a dragoman who had been with us the day before and he took us to a street evidently Mohammedan, as all the stores were open. The Christian stores and all the large bazars were closed. The stores were nice ones, with plate glass windows and iron shutters which could be pulled down, each one twenty to twenty-five foot front, with counters and stock arranged and displayed much like those in any large American city. They were mostly jewelry, rug, stationery, and drug stores. We were selecting a spoon when we heard a great noise in the street.

False Alarms Scare Merchants.

"Looking out we saw the stores on the other side hurriedly closing their shutters. Our storekeeper and his clerks ran to the door, but did not pull down his shutters. Our dragoman explained what the excitement was about. Some one had come running up the street. Others saw him running and followed, and the storekeepers thought it was the Stamboul mob coming. I had a similar experience later in the evening, but the cause was different, the crowd being started running by seeing a policeman chasing a pickpocket. Such occurrences were frequent in Pera that afternoon. By dark the people were in a terrible state of excitement. Everybody was talking excitedly and the proprietors of stores were so wrought up that they could not make change properly.

"In the evening we heard a few shots, but did not think anything of it as there had been numerous little fights on the streets for several days. I woke up about 4 the next morning to hear something much like the dawn of an American Fourth of July. I went out on the balcony and could see none but soldiers in the streets. When I went down in the office I found the iron shutters of the hotel closed except the front door, which was partly open. There was a bullet hole over the door. A lot of people were there and the conductors of the American touring parties were excitedly trying to settle their accounts, but could give us no information except that no carriages could be had.

Start Made to the Ship.

"One of the conductors went to the United States ambassador's house and he came over and said he would send one of his guards with us to the ship and also try to get an officer in command of the soldiers to go with us. In a few moments both officer and guard appeared and everybody grabbed hand baggage and started. The officer went ahead. There were soldiers on both sides of the street and in some of the side streets, particularly near the ambassador's house, and near the Ottoman bank. In a graveyard we passed there were a great number of soldiers. At the corner of the graveyard they commanded us to halt, with their guns aimed at us, but the Turkish officer said a few words and we were allowed to proceed. We were halted many times in the same way, but that officer seemed to have a wonderful influence over those soldiers. As we passed along many of the soldiers smiled and touched their fezzes.

"The officer assured us there was no danger, but the dragoman said we were likely to run into fighting and be in danger of stray bullets. There was a constant rattle of fire all about and it seemed only two or three blocks away, but undoubtedly was farther. After we got on the ship the firing seemed to be coming nearer all the time, but we could not see any of it. Like the small arm firing of other districts, it seemed almost to play a tune. For a second or two there would be four or five shots, a second of quiet, then a constant rattle of shots, perhaps 100 or 1,000 a second, and so on up and down the scale. All the time the bass was being played by the heavy guns over and about the palace.

Rumors Enough to Fill Book.

"There were all sorts of rumors all the time of what was going on, but we had no means of knowing anything for sure except what we saw and heard. We had been hearing rumors for thirty days and had become well aware how unreliable is political news heard in Turkey or coming out of any part of the Turkish empire. If I should undertake to write an account of all the rumors we heard in Egypt about the talked of uprising against the khedive when we were there, I would have to write a book, and the same is true of what we heard while in Palestine and Syria. All we knew for sure in Egypt was that Lord Roberts arrived in Cairo two days before we left, that England ordered twenty more regiments of troops there, and that the viceroy of Egypt, Sir Goret, came on the same boat with us to Port Said. Those who pretended to know said he was on his way to see the sultan of Turkey to get him to use his influence over Mohammedans in Egypt who in certain parts of Cairo spit at us and stuck out their tongues as we rode along in carriages—but that is another story.

"On the boat I took a photograph of all the people except two or three, who marched down to the ship from the hotel that beautiful morning when a battle was going on that did not seem a battle at all, as I have always imagined one. Much credit is due to the women of the party. A scream or any commotion would have started trouble in an instant. When a thief snatched the glasses of one of the women the dragoman near her said, 'Don't say a word, but walk right along,' she took her hand off the thief's arm and walked on as if nothing had happened. None of the women complained and none showed fright. They went along cheerfully, smilingly. As I was walking over the gangplank I heard the Turkish officer say something to the resident tourist agent which I could not understand. The agent replied in English, 'because they are Americans,' and afterward explained that the officer had wanted to know why we were not afraid.

Women Actually Under Fire.

"I think one reason the women were so unconcerned was because they had seen so much of guns and men armed with fierce looking knives all the way through Palestine and Syria. Several women in the party were actually under fire between Nabulous and Jenin in Palestine, between Jerusalem and Nazareth. Their party had left camp early in the morning for a ride over the mountain between those two places, following the regular trail, and were eating lunch when the people of two villages on either side of the valley began firing at one another directly over their heads. They had to grab things up, mount horses, and get out in a hurry. The party had gone through two days before us, but shortly after leaving Nabulous our dragoman was advised by an Arab who stopped us on the road to go by another way over the mountain as the villages were at war along the regular trail and if we should meet one of their parties on the trail they would kill him and rob us, being a Christian, though born a Bedouin. He said they would not kill us because they have been taught not to hurt any one with 'big hats.'

"So he took us over the mountains by a different but longer route. We were eleven hours on the way, about ten hours in the saddle, and the trails, while not dangerous, were difficult for a horse, making it tiresome riding. We met some of the parties on the warpath, armed with their old fashioned flintlock guns, but only in ones or twos, going to join their friends. Though they looked savage and picturesque, they made no demonstration. When in camp we were well guarded at night by three Arabs, two dogs, the latter being so vigilant that they kept up a constant barking all night in answer to the jackals and hyenas, who also whined their mournful tune from 10 in the evening until daylight. This, together with the whistles of the guards, which were blown every ten minutes, might have interfered with our rest if we had not been too tired to stay awake for anything.

Why the Warships Moved.

"The day we went into Constantinople there were five Turkish warships lying in front of the city. The next day there was only one and that had gone the following morning. When we came out on our ship we passed them about fifteen miles below Constantinople lying at anchor.

"The day before their disappearance was accounted for in an explanation our dragoman made that the officers of the warships had deserted the sultan and had gone over to the Young Turk party, but on the way out I was told that two days before the Young Turks threatened to bombard the sultan's palace at once if the authorities did not send those warships out of the harbor. After they had gone down the Young Turks would not let them back again.

"Frank G. Carpenter, the newspaper correspondent, and his wife and daughter, who had been traveling all along the route with us, but independently with his own dragoman, remained at the hotel in Constantinople and when we were leaving was preparing to move into the embassy. Mr. Bullock and wife of Chicago also remained and I expect they moved into the embassy.

TRAVELERS VICTIMS OF TURKS.

SIS, Asiatic Turkey, May 12.—Seven Armenian preachers, two delegates, and three Armenian women passed through Sis on their way to the yearly synodical meeting at Adana the day after the fighting began at that place in April. They stopped over night in the village of Sagh Gachad, some of the party with the local governor and the others with another of the leading men of the village, Hagi Bey.

The next day a party of Mohammedans took these travelers from the houses where they had spent the night, and, gathering together a number of the other Armenians living in Sagh Gachad until they had ninety-two, butchered all the unfortunates in the streets of the village.

The women were treated violently. The wife of the governor watched the killing in the street below from the balcony of her house. The bodies of the dead were carted out to the country and thrown over a cliff.

The Armenian pastor of the church at Pekke, although left for dead, was still alive. He recovered his senses and made his way to Sis, where he related the foregoing. He had to crawl through the fields and woods wounded and in great pain.

Twenty-three Victims Hanged.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 12.—The city was shocked again today by the sight of twenty-three hanging bodies of men lately condemned to death by court martial for the murder of the commander of the battleship Assar-i-Tewfik in Constantinople harbor. The commander was slain because during the rising of Young Turks against Sultan Abdul Hamid he ordered the guns of his ship trained upon the Yildiz Kiosk. Other officers of the Assar-i-Tewfik, who tried to suppress the mutiny, also were murdered.

Eight of the mutineers were hanged outside the admiralty building, four within a few hundred yards of the Yildiz Kiosk, five outside the war office, and others in different parts of the capital.

Officer of Rank Included.

The condemned included one officer of rank, a sublieutenant, and a mulah. The others were blue jackets and marines. Several other men condemned for the same crimes at the request of their native villages were sent thither to be hanged.

The police were more strict this time than on the occasion of former hangings. They did not allow crowds to linger near the hanging bodies, nor did they allow photographs of them to be taken. The bodies were removed at noon instead of being allowed to hang all day.

DRASTIC ACTION TO BREAK STRIKE

SMALL HANDICAP TO MAIL

Troops on Guard to Prevent Disorders; Workers Vote to Continue Fight.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

PARIS, May 12.—A cabinet council which ordinarily would not have met until tomorrow was specially called this evening to consider the postal situation. After hearing reports on the condition of affairs by M. Barthou, minister of the public works, and M. Simyan, under secretary of posts and telegraphs, the cabinet decided upon the immediate dismissal of 121 postal employés, male and female, belonging to the telephone service, and also the dismissal of seven provincial employés.

These dismissals are made by virtue of a decree passed March 19 last, during the late strike, giving the minister of public works power to immediately dismiss civil servants who coöperated in quitting work without the necessity of bringing them before the council for discipline. The ministers believe these dismissals will have the effect of crushing the strike movement.

The services in Paris and throughout the provinces tonight, with the exception of that of the railway mail clerks, are normal and as a result there has been no need to take advantage of the preparations made by the various business organizations and commercial bodies to carry on a private letter service.

Troops Patrol the City.

Troops have taken command of the city, although no disturbances were reported during the day. All exposed telegraph lines are being watched, and soldiers have been introduced even into the sewers of the city to prevent cutting of wires.

Furthermore, 500 military telegraphers and several hundred automobiles have been hastily mobilized and massed in the Gallerie des Machines, ready for instant service. Gen. Dalstein, the military governor of Paris, has 50,000 troops in reserve. The walls of Paris are covered with posters announcing that the strike will continue until the employés' grievances are redressed.

The leaders of the strike experienced a discouragement in the failure of the miners' congress at Lens to vote a sympathetic strike, and up to the present none of the trades unions has made sign of joining the movement. At the same time the government is hurrying the preparation of its promised bill regulating the status of state employés, which will be presented to a committee of the chamber of deputies Monday.

Outgoing Mails Affected.

Official figures issued tonight place the number of strikers in Paris as 465 out of 11,000. Owing to the defection of a majority of the mail clerks, the outgoing mails are more or less stranded. The hotbed of the previous revolt, the central telegraph bureau, is quiet, the night shift reporting for duty as usual.

Reports from the provinces show that the movement has not made much headway, except at Havre, where a special service arranged by the chamber of commerce will be inaugurated. At Bordeaux, Lille, and Chartres conditions are normal. In some cities, notably Lyons and Chambery, the postal employés have openly expressed their disapproval of the strike. There is some anxiety at the Paris hotels, where numerous Americans are expecting letters containing bank drafts, lest those miscarry because of the strike.

Decide to Continue Strike.

The postal employés held a massmeeting tonight, which, however, was not so well attended as that of last night, and adopted a resolution to continue the strike with unabated vigor. Prior to the opening of the proceedings a reporter of a reactionary newspaper was requested to leave the building. As he was complying, his hat was knocked over his eyes, for which act M. Pauron, one of the leaders, apologized.

In a speech M. Pauron declared that violence or destruction of property by the strikers would not be tolerated. He said the men would finish the tasks on which they were now engaged.

Two detachments of naval mechanics, summoned from Brest by the minister of marine, have arrived here and are now stationed in the machine rooms of the central postoffice and the Central Telegraph bureau.

Members of the hotel keepers' union have arranged to take the mail of their foreign guests to Brussels, from which point it will be sent abroad. They also are devising a scheme for the delivery of the incoming mail.

The first sign of the intention of the outside unions to participate in the strike movement came tonight, when at a meeting of delegates of the united syndicates of the Seine department it was decided that "the moment has come to throw down the barriers separating the state employés from the workmen."

The delegates bound themselves to start an organization of their respective unions so as to be ready to march out in a body at the moment a general strike was called and invited the General Federation of Labor to take all steps necessary to create a general movement in France.

PLAN TO ASSASSINATE DIAZ BARED IN GRAND JURY INQUIRY

Disclosures in Arizona May Cause Mexico to Place Soldiers on Border to Protect Cananea and Nogales.

Bisbee, Ariz., May 12.—[Special.]—Disclosures which, it is believed, may result in Mexico placing an armed force along the border to guard Cananea and Nogales, towns within a hundred miles of here, were made before the federal grand jury called at Tombstone to investigate the case of three alleged Mexican revolutionists arrested at Los Angeles about a year ago.

Magoon, who was the leader, and Villaral and Rivera, his associates, planned the seizure, according to letters read before the grand jury, of 2,000 rifles at Cananea. With these rifles they were to march to Nogales and capture the town.

Nogales was to be made the seat of their operations. There they intended to enlarge the scope of their military activity and secretly send special agents to Mexico City. According to the letters, Diaz was to be assassinated and all high officials of the republic put to death.

CRITICISM HELD NOT LIBEL.

Judge Holds Newspapers Do Not Defame Candidate in Calling Him Unfit for Office.

Cleveland, O., May 12.—[Special.]—Judge George L. Phillips today sustained the demurrer of the Cleveland Press to petitions for libel filed by Attorney James M. Shallenberger and Attorney Thomas H. Bushnell for $50,000. The court decided newspapers had the right to criticise candidates for public office. He held that saying any man who is a candidate is unfit for office is not defamatory.

PROF. CARHART QUITS MICHIGAN

Board of Regents Urges a Pension for Former Head of the Department of Physics.

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 12.—The legislature, having approved the application of the University of Michigan for the benefits of the Carnegie foundation, the board of regents of the university today decided to recommend Prof. Henry Smith Carhart for the pension. Prof. Carhart, who is the head of the department of physics, and is one of the oldest members of the faculty, submitted his resignation during the day.

BRITISH VIEW OF BEEF TRUST

POWER IS LIMITED NOW.

But American Firms Are Regarded as Possible Menace.

LONDON, May 12.—The departmental committee appointed in July of 1908 to inquire into the alleged combinations in the meat trade in the united kingdom issued its report this evening.

A large portion thereof is devoted to the American beef trust and its representatives in London, the committee concluding that while a combination exists to a certain extent between four companies in the United States, engaged in the united kingdom, it is not at present sufficiently powerful to endanger seriously the beef trade as a whole.

But should these firms, as seems possible, acquire considerable interest in the Argentine, the situation with regard to the meat supply of the united kingdom might become serious.

"With such command," the report says, "of practically the whole imported live cattle and chilled and frozen beef trade, the firms composing such combination might be able to determine beef prices at Smithfield market itself and largely affect prices throughout the country."

Doubtful of Americans' Ignorance.

According to the report the representatives of the American companies in London all told the committee that they knew nothing of the conditions prevalent in the United States, and, commenting on these statements, the committee says:

"The committee reluctantly is compelled to express grave doubt as to the reality of this uniform ignorance, and its assumption naturally has tended to throw doubt upon the other statements made by the representatives of these firms. It is almost incredible that Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Morris & Co., and the Hammond Beef company, the last named representing the National Packing company, should be in combination in the United States and in competition in the united kingdom."

In a paragraph relating to the local tendency to exaggerate "the power and malevolence of successful trade competitors," the committee comments upon the trade methods of the American companies.

"These are superior to those prevailing in this country," it says, "and perhaps less influenced by considerations of sentiment. As one witness put it: 'Business is business all the way, and we do not run business for love.' This maxim is ruthlessly applied by the American companies; they are, therefore, unpopular among their trade competitors."

Thinks Firms Consult on Prices.

The committee failed to find evidence of any deliberate action on the part of the Americans with the object of destroying inconvenient rivals, and it does not think that they have yet attempted to capture or control the whole beef trade in this country, as alleged.

At the same time it is satisfied that the firms mentioned consult together with regard to prices and the amount of the supplies to be put on the market, and that they fix the prices at which chilled beef shall be sold in the provinces, and, furthermore, that provincial salesmen are practically bound to sell at the price daily dictated by the Americans.

It is admitted that Morris & Co. monopolizes the import of live cattle at Manchester, with harmful effect upon the fat and offal dealers, but it is pointed out that this monopoly is due to the corporation having granted Morris & Co. a three years' lease, because they wanted, for their own purposes, to develop the Manchester ship canal.

STEAMER MOONLIGHT WOOING WINS FIANCEE OF ANOTHER.

Chicago Man Woos Mrs. Eva B. Wallace So Ardently She Changes Mind About Marrying San Franciscan.

San Francisco, Cal., May 12.—[Special.]—A cablegram from Honolulu says that R. M. Baker, an automobile agent of Chicago, made such a vigorous suit for the hand of Mrs. Eva B. Wallace, the fiancée of Charles Howard of San Francisco, that when she reached the Hawaiian metropolis she was promptly married to Baker.

Howard was waiting for his expected bride, who greeted him coldly. Before he could see her again she had changed her name. It was said by passengers that moonlight walks on the steamer proved too much for the young woman, who succumbed to Baker's ardent wooing.

MOTHER SURPRISED AT DISPATCH.

R. M. Baker is a son of Charles W. Baker, 7157 Princeton avenue, secretary of the Chicago live stock exchange.

"I did not know that my son was in Honolulu," said Mrs. Baker last night. "We have nothing to say about the report that he has been married there, for we know nothing of it. We do not know where he is.

"We do not care to give any information with reference to his movements lately, and could not if we would. He has a wife here in Chicago, but I do not know where she is at present."

NORTH END CLUB WOMEN MAKE PLEA FOR A PARK.

Ask That Lot in Evanston Avenue Be Secured as a Playground for Children.

Equipped with a large petition roll, representing a plea for the laying out of a small park on Evanston avenue, half way between Wilson and Devon avenues, a delegation of women from the North End club descended upon the board meeting of the Lincoln Park commissioners at the Academy of Sciences yesterday afternoon.

Five hundred signatures obtained by women of the club in a house to house canvass were attached to the petition. The delegation was composed of Mrs. Francis L. Bellows, 2928 Kenmore avenue, the president of the club; Mrs. Edward C. Portman, 2170 Kenmore avenue; and Mrs. William H. Farrington, 1650 Barry avenue.

The petition was referred to the small park committee by President F. T. Simmons of the board, and the women departed confident of a favorable report from the committee.

"A bond issue of $250,000 was recently voted for the creation of small parks in the town of Lake View," said Mrs. Bellows, "and we are anxious to see this vacant lot on Evanston avenue converted into a small park. The children are greatly in need of a suitable breathing spot, as there are no playgrounds at present."

BIGGEST MINING INDUSTRY EFFECTED BY COAL MERGER.

Eastern Interests in Consolidation Company Represent Combined Capital Stock of $37,650,000.

Baltimore, Md., May 12.—The Consolidation Coal company today announced that negotiations had been completed for merging the Piedmont Coal company, the Somerset Coal company, the Clarksburg Fuel company, the Pittsburg and Fairmont Fuel company, and their subsidiaries, including railroads, with the Consolidation Coal company, thus making the latter the largest mining industry of its kind in the world.

The companies have a combined capital stock of $37,650,000, and own and control 200,000 acres of coal lands in Maryland, West Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

There will be no change in management, President Clarence W. Watson and Vice President Jere H. Wheelwright continuing the directing heads of the combined companies.

TAFT'S MESSAGE STIRS PORTO RICO

ACTION CALLED INSULT.

Unionist Party Is Blamed for Storm Caused at Washington.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 12.—President Taft's message to the congress of Porto Rico had the effect of a bombshell here. Its sweeping condemnation arouses resentment, and strong protests are made against the charges of unfitness and ungratefulness contained in the message, when, as is well known here, the storm raised in Washington was caused solely by the Unionist party, which completely controls the house assembly. Other political elements have not participated in the dispute, and they oppose the action of the Unionists.

Feeling of Profound Discontent.

Luis Muonoz Rivera, leader of the Unionist party and member of the delegation that went to Washington to represent the Unionist side of the dispute, says:

"The message of the president causes a feeling of the profoundest discontent. The speaker of the house of delegates has sent a message direct to congress in behalf of the house. The Unionist party reserves to itself the adoption of resolutions depending on developments. It will remain still and await the legislation congress chooses to pass. I foresee greater conflicts for the future, terminating in the complete rupture between the government and public opinion. The Unionists cannot be held responsible for it. They tried to prevent the clash, but could not. The words of the president are an insult heaped on a weak people that cannot reply."

Strong Reproof for Island.

Santiago Iglesias, organizer of the American Federation of Labor here, said:

"The message is a strong reproof generally, not discriminating between classes, while the Unionists solely are responsible. President Taft accuses Republicans, Unionists, Socialists, and neutrals, who compose a large majority of the people, but who have not the slightest responsibility in the quarrel between the Unionists, and the executive council."

LIBERIANS GIVE AMERICANS AN ENTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION.

Commissioners Who Make Investigation Welcomed by Citizens, Who Observe a General Holiday.

MONROVIA, Liberia, Saturday, May 8.—[Via Sierra Leone, May 12.]—The American Liberian commission arrived at Monrovia on board the scout cruiser Chester at daylight today.

The citizens spent Saturday afternoon in convincing the Americans of their welcome. All the stores in town were closed and a general holiday prevailed.

The commissioners were met at the landing by the mayor and councilmen with an address of welcome in which the present day was described as a critical stage in Liberian history.

The Americans were then escorted to the American legation by the military and a delegation of women. They were received generally with special honors never accorded here except at presidential inaugurations.

Monday next the interchange of visits with Liberian officials will take place, after which the commission will begin its work. Minister Lyon has made ample provision for all the requirements of the commissioners and the attachés. The legislature will convene in special session on Monday to aid the Americans in their labors.

NEW SPANISH ENVOY COMING.

Marquis de Villalobar, Councilor of Embassy at London, Soon Will Be Sent to Washington.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, May 12.—The appointment will be announced presently of Marquis de Villalobar as the Spanish minister to Washington. For several years he has been councilor of the Spanish embassy here. He is a great favorite of King Edward and society. He will succeed Señor Don Ramon Pina in Washington.

BOY AT PLAY KILLED BY CAR.

Friends of Lad Witness Accident When He Runs on Tracks Near Residence.

Clarence Birdseye, 7 years old, suffered fatal injuries last night when he was knocked down by a west bound Harrison street car in front of his residence. His skull was fractured and he died early this morning at the American hospital, 805 West Monroe street.

Several of the victim's playmates witnessed the accident, when the boy ran directly in the path of the car, which was moving slowly. The motorman, however, was unable to stop the car in time to avoid running him down.

An official from the Chicago Railways company said the crew would be present at the inquest this morning. The boy lived at 934 West Harrison street.

On the coffee question a lady says:

"I used to be so miserable after breakfast that I did not know how to get through the day. Life was a burden to me. When I tried to sleep I was miserable by having horrible dreams followed by hours of wakefulness. Gas would rise on my stomach and I would belch almost continually. Then every few weeks I would have a long siege of sick headaches. I tried a list of medicines and physicians without benefit.

"Finally, I concluded to give up my coffee and tea altogether and use Postum. The first cup was a failure. It was wishy-washy and I offered to give the remainder of the package to anyone who would take it.

"I noticed later on in one of the advertisements that Postum should be boiled at least 15 minutes to make it good. I asked the cook how she made it and she said, 'Just the same as I did tea, being careful not to let it steep too long.'

"I read the directions and concluded Postum had not had a fair trial, so we made a new lot and boiled it 15 to 20 minutes. That time it came to the table a different beverage and was so delicious that we have been using it ever since.

"My sick headaches left entirely, as did my sleepless nights, and I am now a different woman."

CALL ABNER SMITH TO TELL OF LOANS

Defendants in National Life Suit Subpoena the Former Judge; Memory Fails.

SAYS HE BEARS CALUMNY

Convicted Head of Defunct Bank of America Awaits Pardon Board's Action.

Former Judge Abner Smith, president of the defunct Bank of America, who is awaiting imprisonment in the penitentiary or favorable action by the pardon board, was called as a witness in the suit of the National Life Insurance company against Gustav Myers and J. Edson McEldowney before Master in Chancery Zeisler yesterday. Smith was formerly a director of the insurance company, and it was to adduce testimony to prove the charge of the defendants that many of the directors of the insurance company were "dummies" that he was subpœnaed by the defendants. Part of the testimony related to loans which Smith was alleged to have made from the company.

"We want to determine from Mr. Smith what duties and acts he performed while a director of the company as bearing on the allegation that the company's business always was conducted in an honest and orderly manner," said Attorney McRoberts, counsel for the defendants, when Smith was called.

"Did you, Mr. Smith, have any knowledge that any of the directors received commissions on loans the insurance company may have made?"

"I don't remember," declared Mr. Smith.

Does Not Recall Inquiry.

"Do you know of any director who investigated the security of any loans made by the company outside of the finance committee?"

"I don't remember—I don't recollect that I made any investigation," was the reply.

"Were the reports of the finance committee made to the directors?"

"In a general way I remember that they were."

"Did you borrow $3,500 from the company in November, 1905, for which you gave four notes secured by a mortgage on real estate?"

"Did you not borrow $2,000 Jan. 15, 1906, and give for which as collateral security a note and a trust deed?"

"I may have done so. I think I borrowed money of Mr. Shedd, but if I borrowed from the company I paid it back."

"What I wanted to prove was that these two loans by this witness, one at 6 per cent and the other at 7 per cent, could have been made at a lower rate if the collateral had been sufficient," stated Attorney McRoberts to the master. "Did you ever pay those loans, Mr. Smith?"

"Of course I did."

"Were the loans you obtained from E. A. Shedd and his brother ever sold to the insurance company?"

Name Used, but He Resigned.

Following the testimony of Smith, T. P. Phillips, former president of the Federal Trust and Savings bank, testified as to his connection with the insurance company.

"My name was used as a director of the National Life Insurance company, but I told the officials that I didn't care to serve," stated Mr. Phillips.

"State how you first learned that you were a director," requested Attorney McRoberts.

"I saw my name used as such in some of the company's literature," was the reply.

"Were you ever a stockholder in the company?"

"Not to my knowledge. While I was a director I never attended meetings nor paid any attention to the affairs of the company. I don't know how long I was a director or when I was elected. When I ascertained I had been elected a director I resigned."

Says He Will Bear Calumnies.

Aside from his testimony on the witness stand former Judge Smith maintained a close mouthed attitude respecting the charges accumulating against him on account of his alleged mishandling of estates intrusted to his care.

Following his statement of Tuesday night, in which he declared heatedly that the charges were falsehoods and stated that his enemies might "go and jump in the lake," Mr. Smith was quoted as saying:

"I never will plead my cause in public. I never will make an attempt to justify myself before the world. I will bear the calumnies as well as I can. I have made my report to Gov. Deneen, and further than that I will not talk."

In the grist of stories about Mr. Smith's alleged irregularities aside from the failure of the Bank of America was one which intimated he was responsible for an alleged shortage of a sum ranging between $10,000 and $20,000.

According to the story, the amount was intrusted to the former circuit judge's care by Mrs. Sophia T. Burdette, widow of Riley Burdette, the Pennsylvania organ manufacturer, who died in Chicago in 1890.

Estate Reported in Tangle.

"Out of the Sophia T. Burdette estate we never received a single penny," said Emil C. Wetten, attorney for Mrs. Lilla Metcalf, Mrs. Burdette's daughter.

Before leaving for Washington Mr. Wetten forwarded his views on the methods pursued by former Judge Smith to Gov. Deneen.

The Metcalf estate, which is said to be one of the three estates amounting to $110,000, which Smith is thought by some to have involved in the Bank of America operations, is said to be in a hopeless tangle.

The law firm of Darrow, Masters & Wilson, representing Receiver D. D. Healy of the wrecked bank, will deliver its final broadside against the former judge before the governor and the pardon board, which is expected to meet next Monday at Springfield.

At the offices of this firm it was admitted a fourth estate involving several thousand dollars probably will figure in the Smith record when presented before the pardon board.

Attorney Clarence Darrow during the day said the presentation of the case will be temperate and solely with the view of making known the whole truth.

FINISH PLANS FOR DINNER TO LAUNCH $1,000,000 QUEST.

Plans for the "committee dinner" of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Grand Pacific hotel tonight, the banquet which will open the campaign for raising $1,000,000 to purchase a site for the proposed association headquarters and office building, were completed yesterday. The attendance of the 284 committeemen of the seventy-eight trade divisions and of the "captains" of the five division "battalions" was assured. Just to start the enthusiasm Homer A. Stillwell announced that he would subscribe for $5,000 of the bonds.

"Subscriptions are coming in right along and we have not yet started to solicit them," said Walter D. Moody. "When we finally get under way I believe we can raise the $1,000,000 in record time. With the site acquired the second bond issue for the erection of the office building will be taken up. Tentative plans for the building have been submitted by Holabird & Roche, architects. We believe there will be no difficulty in placing the building bonds, as they will bear 5 per cent interest and will be the first to be retired."

The report that the association had decided to discontinue the publication of Greater Chicago and Chicago Commerce, its quarterly and weekly journals, was declared misleading by Gerald Pierce, chairman of the committee which has the matter under consideration. He said no action had been taken by his committee. The matter of changing or discontinuing the quarterly publication has been under discussion for a long time.

Young Woman to Sail for Europe: Aunt Will Entertain Mary Garden.

Miss Helen Birch

Miss Helen Birch will sail for Europe on May 26 with her mother, Mrs. Hugh T. Birch, and Mrs. Marshall Field. Later in the season her aunt, Mrs. Bayard of England, will take a palace in Venice, and following the custom of other summers they expect to entertain Mary Garden there for a time in August. Mrs. Birch probably will be in Venice all of the time that her daughter is there, and Mrs. Field, it is said, will visit the city while Mary Garden is with them.

In the meantime they will all visit Carlsbad together, following again the custom of other years. Then the party will go into northern Italy, and Mrs. Field expects to spend some time in Paris.

Miss Birch has a number of sonatas of her own composition which she does not publish, but which are said by her friends, for whom she plays them, to be beautiful.

Mrs. Stanley Field gives a dinner party this evening to fourteen guests. Mrs. Marshall Field will not attend because she is in mourning.

SLAYS WIFE; SUICIDE ON L

Jealous Man Shoots Spouse, Then Chooses Novel Death.

LAYS HIMSELF ON TRACKS.

Son Discovers Mother's Body and Motorman the Father's.

Prompted by jealousy, as the police think, Joseph B. Hinz shot and killed his wife, Mary, in their residence at 2115 West Twenty-first street last night and a little later threw himself in the path of a Metropolitan train, which mangled him almost beyond recognition. No one saw the suicide, the motorman first noticing the body on his return trip from the terminal, near which Hinz ended his life.

The murder of the wife, to which there were no witnesses, was discovered by the 10 year old son of Mrs. Hinz. The lad had left the house early in the evening to attend a neighboring theater. He returned at 10 o'clock. Calling out for his mother, he passed through the kitchen door which he found open into the garden at the rear, and there came upon her body. His alarm summoned the family living in the flat above the Hinzes and they called the police at the Lawndale station.

Jealousy, Quarrel, Shooting.

Hinz apparently entered the kitchen where his wife was working shortly after 9 o'clock. She was a handsome woman and Hinz is said to have been jealous of her for a long time. Some retort, the police believe, brought about the climax when Hinz drew a revolver and fired three shots. It is thought that the first bullet struck her in the left hand and she fled from the kitchen to the rear yard leaving a trail of blood behind.

As she descended the stairs, Hinz, standing in the doorway, according to the theory of the police, fired the other two shots which struck her in the back of the neck, and penetrated the brain, causing instant death. Hinz then left the house, taking the revolver with him and threw it away before going to the Metropolitan road.

Hinz was seen walking under the elevation of the road at Forty-first avenue and apparently walked on west until he reached Fifty-second avenue, where it reaches the surface. There he apparently walked on the tracks and lay down on the rails.

When the body was found it was removed to an undertaking shop and then the boy identified it. The body had been partly identified at the scene through cards in his pockets bearing his name.

Motorman Saw No One.

"When I made the run west at 10 o'clock," said Mulryan, motorman of the train which is believed to have killed Hinz, "I saw no one on the incline nor at the foot, though I watched closely, for persons frequently cross the tracks where they reach the surface. Hinz had placed himself on the tracks and the light did not strike him.

"On the return trip a quarter of an hour later I saw the body and stopped the train. We looked around for a revolver when we heard there had been a murder, but none was found."

SPENDS DAY IN COURT IN VAIN.

Case of Bandmaster Who Sues for Services at MacVeagh Home Not Reached.

Miss Laura Dainty Pelham, professionally a director of social entertainments, spent yesterday in Municipal Judge Uhlir's court awaiting the calling of the case in which Louis Lipski, bandmaster, seeks to collect $50 from either Miss Pelham or Mrs. Franklin MacVeagh, wife of the secretary of the treasury, who is joined with her as defendant. The suit arises out of a dispute between Miss Pelham and the bandmaster concerning an entertainment at the MacVeagh home. The suit was not reached.

BOMB WRECKS SALOON WALL

Explosion May Be Work of Nonunion Glaziers' Foes.

TWO GIRLS AND MAN SEEN.

Druggist Says Trio Fled at Moment of the Dynamiting.

A bomb was exploded at the side entrance of Michael C. Duggan's saloon, 191 Ogden avenue, at 10:30 o'clock last night. Four plate glass windows were shattered and a hole four feet wide blown in the basement wall. Duggan was behind the bar and four customers were in the saloon, which is located in a three story brick structure, when the explosion occurred. The room was filled with flying glass and plaster, but no one was hurt.

Duggan told the police late at night that the bomb may have been thrown by union sympathizers, as he had several windows glazed yesterday and the union men being on strike he was forced to employ nonunion help.

Five families occupying quarters over the saloon were awakened by the explosion, and all rushed precipitately to the street.

Three Seen Running Away.

The police have only one clew on which to work. S. F. Ade, a druggist, at 197 Ogden avenue, just across the street from the saloon, furnished it.

"A moment before the explosion," said Ade, "I noticed two women and a man walking toward the saloon. They crossed the street, and as they were passing the building the explosion occurred. All three took to their heels."

Patrolman David Kerr was on the beat two blocks away.

"The report was so loud I thought that whole section of town was wrecked," he said. "I ran to the corner, and when I reached the saloon the smell of powder was strong. There are few disturbances in the neighborhood, and I do not know why Duggan should be singled out by the bomb experts."

A man in the crowd which gathered following the explosion told the police he saw a man rush up to the saloon and drop something below the glass windows a few seconds before the explosion occurred.

Police Make a Search.

Lieut. Hartford of the Lake street police station took charge of the investigation of the bomb explosion. A squad of detectives was assigned to search the neighborhood for the perpetrators of the act.

TWO ENGLEWOOD GIRLS HURT IN A RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Miss Louise Bushnell and Her Sister Injured When Buggy Smashes Into Lamp Post and Is Wrecked.

Miss Louise Bushnell of 6320 Yale avenue and her sister, Pearl, both well known in Englewood society, were injured yesterday when a horse they were driving ran away as it was passing under the structure of the south side elevated railroad at Fifty-fifth street.

An unidentified man in an automobile attempted to seize the reins by driving his machine near the frightened horse, but this caused it to swerve, and the buggy was thrown against a lamp post and wrecked.

Miss Louise Bushnell suffered a fracture of her nose and left arm, and was bruised about the head and body. Her sister suffered bruises about the body and head.

WAGE AGREEMENT ANNULLED BY FEAR

TRY TO EFFECT PEACE.

Idle Drivers Complimented on Their Conduct by Business Agent Gibbons.

Fear of being placed on the "black list" of the Liverymen's association and having his funeral carriage business diverted to employers loyal to the organization yesterday led Svanie Anderson, a liveryman at 2308 Wentworth avenue, to rescind the new wage agreement he had signed with the Carriage and Cab Drivers' union and join the employers' fight on the strikers.

To offset the loss of Anderson, however, Business Agent Walter J. Gibbons of the union announced that six additional liverymen had signed the new scale during the day.

Anderson was given a "quiet tip" that in retaliation for having signed the union scale the various undertakers who furnish him carriage orders for funerals would see to it that the orders were sent to "loyal liverymen." When this situation became clear to Anderson he hurriedly called Business Agent Gibbons on the telephone and ordered the agreement canceled.

As a result the union drivers sent to Anderson's barn quit work and rejoined the strikers. Officers of the liverymen's association denied the existence of a black list, though they admitted that liverymen who sign the agreement with the union during the strike are subject to a heavy fine, expulsion from the association, or both.

Version of Undertakers.

"Anderson rescinded the agreement when he learned he could have police protection," said Secretary William O. Roberts of the Chicago Undertakers' association. "Of course, Anderson understood he would be fined and perhaps expelled from the association for such a clear violation of the rules."

Another effort was made during the day to bring the employers and the strikers together in a conference, and the probabilities are that the state board of arbitration will effect a meeting today or tomorrow.

Harry M. Powell of the board communicated both with Business Agent Gibbons and President Robert K. Sloan of the Liverymen's association regarding the peace move. The proposition of the arbitration board was discussed at meetings of the committees of both sides, though nothing tangible resulted beyond the fact that neither side absolutely spurned the good offices of the state's arbitrators.

President Sloan told Mr. Powell that the employers felt it was the duty of the strikers to make the first advances looking to a settlement. The employers, he said, made the last offer, which was answered by the officers of the union by ordering the drivers out on strike.

Ready for Propositions.

Business Agent Gibbons said the union is willing to entertain any fair proposition the employers wish to make, and the officers and committee are ready to receive communications from the employers requesting a meeting.

"We are hopeful of bringing the two sides together in a meeting and perhaps effecting a settlement in a day or so," said Mr. Powell. "The differences between the strikers and the employers are small and I believe diplomacy can bring them together on good terms."

Business Agent Gibbons delivered a lecture to the strikers at the strike headquarters in the afternoon. He congratulated the idle drivers on the peaceable manner in which they had conducted themselves during the conflict and urged them to stand loyally by the union and to refrain from committing acts of violence.

"I want to congratulate you all," said he. "You have behaved splendidly in this strike. Just think of it, the first work of the police in this strike was to arrest J. O. Sullivan, one of the employers, who pulled his revolver and shot three times.

"I have warned you to keep out of saloons during the strike and you have done so. Sullivan, the liveryman, is an example of what liquor will do to a man. Stick, boys, and stay on your good behavior."

Won't Stop Funerals.

"We will, and we won't interfere with funerals, either," yelled one of the strikers. This sentiment was met with cheers and applause from the big crowd of drivers.

Sullivan, who was arrested on Tuesday for firing his revolver in a saloon near Calvary cemetery after returning from a funeral, was arraigned before Judge Bruggemeyer and the case was continued until May 17.

At the request of Roger C. Sullivan four detectives from Central station will guard the funeral of Thomas J. Hogan to be held today from 555 Washington boulevard to Calvary. Fear that trouble might arise led Mr. Sullivan to make the request for police protection.

The arbitration boards of six states bordering on the great lakes met in the morning and received reports from the various committees. After receiving word from Treasurer Thomas A. Hanson of the Lake Seamen's union to the effect that the seamen were willing to meet the officers of the Lake Carriers' association the joint board adjourned to meet in Detroit at 10 a. m. next Tuesday.

'STOLEN STORY' TRUE TO LIFE IS INVITED TO MILWAUKEE.

Fame of Newspaper Players, Professional and Amateur, Spreads and Special Performance May Be Given.

The fame of the newspaper players, professional and amateur, who are appearing in the "Stolen Story" at the Bush Temple theater under the auspices of the Chicago Newspaper club has penetrated to foreign parts. During the performance last night a telegram was received from Sherman Brown inviting the club and the stock company actors to appear at a special performance at the Davidson theater in Milwaukee.

The performance last night, which was witnessed by a crowded house, was described by one amateur critic as a "scream." Dick Little appeared as the old maid reporter.

"My, what a mussy office you have," exclaimed the old maid to Arthur Bowen, who was playing the part of the city editor. "Why, in our office we have Brussels carpets on the floor and flowers everywhere."

"Do you have any news?" asked the city editor.

"Sir, I did not come here to be insulted," responded the old maid as she adjusted the ribbons that held her note book.

The matinée today will present a special attraction to women. Mme. Qui Vive and other feminine members of real newspaper staffs will appear.

Physician Gives Views in Paper Read Before Medical Society.

Each householder to purify his own sewage is the plan proposed by Dr. Sanger Brown in a paper read before the Chicago Medical society last night. Dr. Brown believes it is only a question of a short time before the drainage canal will be unable to carry sufficient water properly to dilute the sewage of Chicago, and that artificial purification must be resorted to. In this belief he is upheld by R. R. McCormick, president of the sanitary district, who also spoke on the same subject, following Dr. Brown.

"The method which I have to suggest is for a septic tank to be attached to each house, which shall, of course, be installed and operated under municipal inspection. I believe in the small individual tank in preference to the large general tank, because the inflow can best be controlled in the household tank. Moreover, it will teach the people something about the care of sewage.

Tells of Experiment.

"Septic tanks are not offensive and, if properly constructed, can be placed against the foundation of the house, and will not emit any odors. I have operated such a tank myself for the last four years, and it has served eighty people and has given good results. I am informed by the best authorities that in twenty-four hours such a tank will destroy 50 per cent of the solids in sewage, and it could then be emptied into the main sewer and allowed to flow through the sanitary canal thus doubling the capacity of that ditch.

"A tank for a house in which ten people reside, allowing fifteen gallons of water for each person, which is a liberal allowance, would only cost $25. I would suggest that the drainage board put in a dozen of these tanks and experiment with them until it is definitely ascertained what sort of a tank will do the work best. I am sure members of the medical profession will gladly offer their services on a committee to conduct these experiments so that the cost will be small. It is time something is done, and I think it is for the medical men to take the initiative."

Tanks New to McCormick.

President McCormick declared that the question of individual household tanks was a new one to him and therefore he could not express an opinion concerning its feasibility until he had studied the question more.

"There is no doubt that something must be done soon to help out the dilution method now being used in the disposal of our sewage. When the sanitary district was created by legislation in 1899 the lawmakers thought the possibility of Chicago having a population of 3,000,000 was so remote that it was not taken into consideration. The canal was provided to take care of a maximum flow of 600,000 cubic feet of water a minute, which was estimated to be enough to care for 3,000,000 people. The canal was built, however, to carry a greater volume of water, but now the United States government has stepped in and says that because it was only contemplated in the beginning to carry 600,000 cubic feet, we shall at no time increase that flow.

"The board for the last year has recognized that some provision must be made for an auxiliary method, and has appropriated money for an experimental laboratory where different forms of artificial purification will be tried out, including the septic tank and the filtration method. I trust this laboratory will be a permanent thing, so that Chicago will lead the world in sanitary engineering and experimentation.

RUNAWAY BOY LOSES NERVE.

Henry Dunham Becomes Homesick and Returns to Parents After Being Absent One Night.

Henry Dunham, 13 years old, a schoolboy living in Elmhurst, who ran away from home Tuesday with Charles Kelluem, 15 years old, of Oak Park, to go to Seattle, became homesick and returned home last night while his father, L. N. Dunham, was in Chicago notifying the police of his son's disappearance.

Dunham, who is a pupil of the William Bye school of Oak Park, listened to the tale of the wonders of the west as told him by Kelluem, who has run away several times, and then came with him to Chicago, where they registered at the Palmer house.

AWAIT BAILIFFS; STILL FREE

REPEAT THEY PREFER JAIL.

In Meantime Executions Are Issued and Arrests Seem Near.

All day yesterday and last night Fritz Rickel and his wife, each 64 years old, waited the coming of a court bailiff to take them to jail because they refuse to pay two judgments amounting to $936 recovered against them by Mrs. Emma Runge and her daughter, Martha, 16 years old. Following the application on Tuesday, body executions were issued in the Municipal court in the morning for Mr. and Mrs. Rickel, and attorneys for Mrs. Runge went to the execution clerk and obtained capiases in both cases and filed them in the bailiff's office of Judge Cottrell's court.

"We'll go just as soon as the bailiff comes," Rickel said at night. "There are worse places than jail, but we won't pay those judgments."

Mrs. Rickel said she would remain in jail a year rather than pay a cent to Mrs. Runge or her daughter.

Charged Slander and Attack.

The judgment against Mrs. Rickel was recovered by Mrs. Runge following a suit she brought charging Mrs. Rickel had slandered her. Mr. Rickel was ordered by a court to pay damages to the daughter when she won a damage suit against him in which she charged he kicked her.

Mrs. Runge, a widow, and her three children were formerly tenants of the Rickels in their rooms at 377 Clybourn avenue. Rickel says the trouble between the two families originated when the widow refused to pay her rent when it was due. Mrs. Runge asserts the Rickels began to torment her because she refused to move when her children became ill with measles.

"The judgment was secured against me because I was too ill to go to court," Mr. Rickel said in the evening. "I am not going to pay that money if I am kept in jail forever."

Daughter Loyal to Them.

After the court proceedings were started Mr. and Mrs. Rickel transferred their property to their daughter, Mrs. Bertha Schroeder, 386 Clybourn avenue, and their son-in-law, Robert Godberg, 716 Racine avenue.

"I'll take care of my father and mother," Mrs. Schroeder said. "My father has only his barber shop across the street. If that is taken from him I will get him another."

Bernard L. Lee, one of the attorneys for Mrs. Runge, said the capiases probably would be served upon the old couple this morning.

PUT NEW LIMITS ON MADDEN JURY.

Court and Prosecutor Bar Musicians, Cripples, and Colored Men from Body.

ACCEPT ONE VENIREMAN.

Examiners "Stump" Some Candidates by Demanding Definitions of Big Words.

No musicians, cripples, or colored men are to be permitted to serve on the jury which is to try Martin B. ("Skinny") Madden and his associates on the charge of conspiracy, according to the examination of veniremen which occupied the entire day yesterday in Judge McSurely's court.

While there is no law that would prevent these three classes of persons from acting as jurymen, it was tacitly agreed by counsel that none of them would be accepted. In the case of A. Tague, a shipping clerk living at 484 South Halsted street, the lawyers and the court thought another juror had been obtained. In the course of the examination, however, it was discovered he had a wooden leg.

"I'm sorry," said Judge McSurely, "but this jury has got to be locked up all the time, and I'm afraid you couldn't stand it. I'll have to excuse you."

Record of One Juror a Day.

Only one juror was accepted by both sides during the day, and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon the panel of 100 veniremen had been exhausted. Judge McSurely adjourned court until morning and issued an order for a new panel of fifty men. Five jurors have been obtained so far. The one who was accepted during the day's session was Samuel E. Meyers, a coppersmith's helper.

Every indication is that the entire week will be taken up in the examination of veniremen. Almost every man who was questioned either had stanch opinions regarding the guilt or innocence of the defendants or was affiliated with labor unions in such a manner as to disqualify him.

State's Attorney Wayman has taken every precaution to prevent veniremen from being tampered with. The corridor leading to the courtroom is guarded constantly by detectives and special bailiffs and no one is allowed to enter unless he is connected with the case or is known.

Also Sergt. Chatt, a detective assigned to Mr. Wayman's office, sits near the defendants, Fred A. Pouchot, M. L. Boyle, and Madden, and watches every one who approaches them.

Excuses Labor Veniremen.

State's Attorney Wayman personally examined veniremen and questioned them thoroughly as to their affiliations with labor organizations and their impressions of the Madden case. Many of them had read of the charges made against Madden and his associates of extorting money from contractors and had formed opinions. A number of veniremen who said they were members of unions were disqualified because they said they could not give the defendants an impartial trial.

When several of the prospective jurors admitted they had formed opinions of the case Judge McSurely took up the examination himself and handled the veniremen "without gloves." On George Morganthal, 3646 Wood street, a meat salesman, he was particularly severe.

"Have you formed an opinion merely because you don't want to serve as a juror?" he asked.

"No, sir. I don't believe I could give these men a fair trial. I have read about the case in the newspapers and I have an opinion that would be hard to change."

"It looks to me like a great many of you men are simply trying to get out of serving on the jury," said the court. "If I find anybody trying to get off it will go pretty hard with him."

Morganthal was excused.

One Stumbles on "Mallify."

John M. Newberg, 3012 South Forty-third avenue, a machinist, surprised the court and the attorneys. Whenever one of the lawyers decided a certain venireman would not do he would begin asking him the meaning of sundry difficult and complicated words in order to test his ability to act as a juror. State's Attorney Wayman asked Newberg:

"Do you know the meaning of hypothetical, tortuous, prospective, presumptive, subtle?"

"Sure, I do," was the reply. "Those words are easy."

"Do you know the meaning of mallify?"

"No; you've got me there."

"I should think so," smiled Mr. Wayman; "there's no such word to my knowledge. I just wanted to see whether you were telling me the truth or not."

Newberg was excused, however, because he had formed an opinion which he was afraid evidence could not change.

Robert Lewis, another venireman, when asked by the state's attorney the meaning of the word hypothetical, replied:

"That's too much of a sticker for me. I know what hypnotist means, though."

Musician and Negro Excused.

Adolph Stolegig, 2039 Marshfield avenue, a musician, aroused humorous comment from the court.

"What's your business?" he was asked.

"I am a musician," was the reply.

"I guess we'll excuse you," said Judge McSurely, smiling. "I'm afraid musicians wouldn't make good jurors in this case."

The only negro talesman who came into the jury box out of the venire of 100 men was William Golden, 1346 Forty-fifth street. He was excused by agreement by both sides after Attorney James E. Brady had put several questions to him.

HOPE OF CHARTER IS MORE ROSEATE.

Senate Sends Consolidation Bill to Third Reading and Advances Suffrage.

PERILS NOW IN HOUSE.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Once again the chances for the Chicago charter are brightly tinted. The senate gave a substantial boost today to the hopes of the charter boosters. The house still is the most dangerous ground, and the final action there has been postponed until some time next week—this by the direct wish of the campaign committee from Chicago.

The consolidation bill—No. 1 of the series—was sent past second reading by the senate in the form as amended in committee, and now is on third reading and ready for final passage. Bill No. 2, the home rule bill, was reported favorably to the senate and now stands upon second reading. Bill No. 9, the woman's suffrage bill, was advanced from second to third reading in the exact form as framed by the charter convention. Bill No. 3, the public utilities bill, was ordered out favorably this afternoon by the senate charter committee.

In the house, in spite of the tremendous pressure from the Chicago delegations and from the experienced politicians who helped all day long, not enough votes were in sight to warrant an attempt at the passage of the consolidation bill.

Exodus from Capital Begins.

The members of the legislature began to leave the capital on the early afternoon trains, three or four official inspection committees starting away for the state institutions. In these deputations were several representatives who are counted upon for certain assistance in keeping the charter bills away from the rocks, and the early morning plan to have bill No. 1 called up at the late afternoon session of the house was knocked in the head.

There was a distinct spirit of optimism prevalent in the charter forces at the close of the day. The senate had acted altogether lovely, and assurances were given and received which encouraged the Chicago men to make roseate predictions of what will happen when the senate acts finally.

"There has been a most definite change in sentiment," was the view of Walter L. Fisher. "The conditions have been bettered materially, and it is a safe prediction that the senate will pass the bulk of the charter legislation as formulated in the charter convention. I am greatly encouraged by what has happened on the senate side.

"In the house," he continued, "we have been able to break down some of the dangerous opposition, and while we have a terrific fight on hand, prospects are not nearly so gloomy as might be imagined."

Boosters Willing for Delay.

Chairman James M. Kittleman of the house charter committee declared that the delay until next week in seeking the final test on the consolidation bill had been the result of a bunch of consultations by the charter leaders and that it had been deemed the politic thing to wait.

"The Chicago men," said Representative Kittleman, "thought the delay until next week to be the better plan in view of the number of our friends who had to leave Springfield today. The time was not ripe today to put the consolidation bill on its passage."

Ald. Milton J. Foreman, chairman of the charter convention, flew a fair weather signal and declared himself satisfied with the prospects. "It looks a lot better tonight than it did this morning," said Ald. Foreman. "The attitude of the senate today is a good sign. I believe the house will line up with us at the finish."

Senator Curtis, chairman of the senate committee, spoke of a further continuation of a friendly majority in the upper house.

"In my judgment," he said, "the senate is ready to act favorably upon the charter series. I think that the consolidation bill will be passed by the senate without a doubt."

Final Senate Fight Today?

The senate may have a chance tomorrow to pass its final judgment upon the consolidation bill, which now is ready for final passage. It depends altogether upon the humor that the senators are in when they gather in the morning as to whether Chairman Curtis will wish to take the last plunge. If the senatorial liver has had a good night and the skies are clear—as clear as they were today, for instance—bill No. 1 will be placed upon its final passage.

This is what the big guns in the anti-charter ranks in the house seem to fear. They much prefer to have the charter legislation throttled in the senate than to have the senators slip the proposition across the rotunda and leave the onus of slaughtering the charter legislation upon the shoulders of the representatives, who oppose it. For a similar reason a part of the charter campaign managers believe it will be a wise thing to force the passage of any or all of the charter bills by the senate at the earliest favorable opportunity.

All day long the Chicago delegations labored with the wavering house members. Just as active were the enemies of the bills, who came out openly during the day in opposition to the measure and not concealing the real grounds of their enmity—namely: that they will crucify anything that is backed by the Chicago "uplifters," as they refer to some of the leaders in the pro-charter fight.

Fisher and Sullivan Confer.

There was a continuous series of conferences in the appropriations committee room during the morning, the most notable of which was between Roger C. Sullivan and Walter L. Fisher. The Democratic national committeeman and Mr. Fisher, it is understood, came to a most amicable agreement as to the merits of the consolidation bill and Mr. Sullivan immediately got busy. John J. McLaughlin, who is looked upon as the leader of the Sullivan men on the Democratic side, was summoned into the conference and there was much plain talk, it is asserted. None of the conferees had any statement to make as to what was agreed upon.

Representative McLaughlin is inclined to belligerency and is balking considerably, the story goes, but the charter managers are inclined to the belief that the bulk of the friends of Mr. Sullivan will be found in the ranks of the recruits when the final showdown comes.

There was another conference between Speaker Shurtleff and the main cogs in the house organization over the situation, and by common consent of everybody, except the Lee O'Neil Browne faction of the Democratic side, it was decided to give the floor managers of the charter bills all of the leeway necessary or requested. Chairman Kittleman will be given the opportunity of calling up the consolidation bill at the instant that he sees the necessary seventy-seven votes on tap.

Henson Stopped from Trouble.

When Senator Curtis called up the consolidation bill in the senate this morning the antagonism which had been manifest yesterday when postponement was forced by a vote of 21 to 20 did not develop.

It is probable Senator Henson would have had things to say had it not been for the attitude of Lieut. Gov. Oglesby when Senator Curtis moved the advancement of the consolidation bill. No sooner had the Kankakee senator been recognized and his purpose explained than the Oglesby gavel banged down and number one had safely navigated a most dangerous shoal.

The bill was ordered to third reading just as it came from the committee with the committee amendments. The amendments are technical in form and the bill is practically as it was rounded out by the charter convention. Nov. 2 was inserted as the date for the referendum election on the bill.

Immediately thereafter Senator Curtis called up No. 9, the woman's suffrage bill. It was not amended in any particular except for inserting the election date, and it went along to third reading, riding easily.

Home Rule Bill Reported.

Earlier in the session, Senator Curtis reported in the home rule bill as authorized by the charter committee. It now stands at second reading. The amendments were reported simultaneously. There is a strong disposition among the representatives of the real estate interests to attempt to strike from the amendments the sections as to patent paving, but just as strong pressure is being brought to bear upon them to keep hands off, rather than to precipitate a wasting battle upon the bill at this stage of its legislative career.

The session of the senate charter committee was calm and peaceable. Charter bill No. 3 was under discussion. Ald. Merriam, discussing the provisions of the public utilities provisions, made the point that such a scheme as outlined in the bill is absolutely necessary in order to permit the city to proceed with its plans for harbor expansion and improvement. There was no objection to ordering a favorable report upon the bill, and it will go on the senate calendar for tomorrow morning.

Row Hurts Waterways Bills.

In the senate the administration deep waterway bill, almost untouched by an amendment, went to the third reading today, and in the house the bill drawn by Representative Edward Smejkal, Congressman Lorimer, and the house deep waterway committee was presented this evening as a committee substitute for the bill originally introduced in the house.

Lines are now pretty well drawn in this conflict between Lorimer, backed by the house, and Gov. Deneen, backed by the senate. An agreement between the congressman and governor on the senatorship might settle the deep waterway controversy. Without it neither bill is likely to be passed by both houses, although the senate will probably pass the Schmitt bill and the house will probably pass the Smejkal bill.

The latter, over which Mr. Smejkal, Mr. Lorimer, and members of the house committee have been working for a week, provides for a deep waterway commission of seven members to be appointed by the governor. It fixes the salaries of the commissioners at $6,000 a year, with $2,000 extra for the president of the commission.

Terms Indicate Fear of Delay.

It provides that the commissioners shall be appointed thirty days after the act takes effect, and that the first batch shall serve until July 1, 1915, and thereafter they shall be appointed for a term of four years. The fact that the term of the first commissioners is made to terminate in 1915 is taken to indicate that the backers of the bill have no faith in the passage of any deep waterway legislation for two years.

The measure provides that the commission shall build deep waterways in coöperation with the United States government, and that the title to them shall be vested in the federal government, with a proviso that the state shall have dock and water power privileges and shall forever own and control them.

The ultimate depth of the channel is fixed at twenty-four feet, and it is provided that all structures in the channel shall be built to that depth at the outset. Five locks are provided for, each to be 108 feet by 960 feet in effective length. It is provided that the Joliet level shall be 400 feet wide, and that it shall be dug to the ultimate depth of twenty-four feet at the beginning.

Below Joliet it is made permissible for the channel to be dug to a depth of fourteen feet at first, with a width of 200 feet. The United States engineer stationed at Chicago is made an ex-officio member of the commission.

Federal Agreement Is Necessary.

It is provided that work on the waterway shall not be undertaken until the commissioners have entered into an agreement with the United States government for its construction and until plans and specifications for its construction have been approved.

It is further provided that only $200,000 of bonds shall be issued until congress shall legalize the expenditure of a sum which with $20,000,000 will complete the work. Until this time the commission is authorized to issue $200,000 in bonds and to use the money in making surveys and in doing preliminary work necessary to be done before the actual construction is undertaken.

It is provided that the work which the federal government shall undertake shall be such as the building of locks, bridges, and easements of navigation.

In this provision is found the chief difference between the senate and house bills, one allowing the state to proceed at once and the other demanding such federal aid as is necessary preliminary to any attempt at construction.

BLAMES THEATER MANAGERS IN TICKET SCALPING CASE.

Jury Fails to Reach Verdict in Suit Involving William Morris Co. After Deliberating Six Hours.

The three days contest before Judge Walker in which Herman Oppenheimer, a theater ticket broker, was suing William Morris & Co. for $1,200, resulted in a draw last night when a jury after six hours' deliberation was unable to agree on a verdict and was discharged.

Oppenheimer testified that he frequently had contracted with William Fabish, western manager for Morris & Co., for tickets. In December he said he had given Fabish $1,200 for 600 tickets which never were delivered and that Fabish disappeared after getting the money.

The feature of the last day's session of the trial was the declaration of Mr. Oppenheimer's attorney that, despite a statement made by Mr. Morris that he opposed speculating in theater tickets, this form of speculation is prevalent in the Morris theaters.

"Why, there is no question that the management winks at this form of speculation and knows all about it," said Attorney Elmer Schleisinger. "I will be able to show that this morning Mr. Oppenheimer was able to procure tickets in lots of fifty from a theater in this city under the management of Morris & Co."

Counsel for Mr. Morris objected and Schleisinger said:

"If you object to my statement I will put Mr. Oppenheimer on the witness stand right now and have him tell how he procured tickets today by paying the management an advance of 25 cents."

The wrangling between the lawyers, which was marked throughout the trial of the case, continued after the jury had gone out. Counsel for Morris wished to have the jury discharged when after three hours' consideration no verdict had been reached. Counsel for Mr. Oppenheimer, however, refused to agree to this and also refused to permit a sealed verdict.

SIMS SUES MANUFACTURERS UNDER THE PURE FOOD LAWS.

District Attorney, in Twelve Actions, Charges Seven Companies Shipped Misbranded and Adulterated Articles.

In pursuance of the campaign recently begun to prosecute manufacturers of food products for alleged violations of the pure food laws District Attorney Sims yesterday entered suits against seven local manufacturers. There are twelve suits altogether, but five of them were against the Scudder Sirup company, it being charged that the sirup which they have been selling and branding as pure maple sirup actually contains only 50 per cent of maple sirup.

The other defendants are:

Berry-Haybrum company, alleged to have shipped "Northern Woods Maple and Cane Sirup" containing less than 50 per cent real maple and cane sirup.

D. B. Scully Sirup company, accused of shipping "Westmoreland New Hampshire Maple Sirup," alleged to be mixed with a substituted substance.

Thomson & Taylor Spice company, accused of shipping "Standard Full Measure Compound Lemon Flavor," said to contain little lemon grass.

CHILL FEET HALT LORIMER'S CHARGE

ROGER 'CHINS' BLOND ONE

BY C. S. R.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—In anticipation of Mr. Lorimer's raid on the senatorial apple orchard, all but three members of the legislature were present at the joint session today. The traveling statesmen, who are investigating the condition of the state institutions, as per biennial custom, were called in by telegrams from the house organization, and everything was in readiness for William's attempt on Albert's former possessions.

In the meanwhile William had been the victim of chills in the feet, and, as had been forecast in the tidings of the morning, had decided that his endeavor were better postponed.

In the opinion of some of the statesmen who are assisting in his effort to attain that which was Albert's, a golden moment was lost. They think it will come back, but they believe this evening's setting sun might have cast its golden effulgence on the blond locks and placid countenance of a new United States senator from Illinois if the foregoing chills had not attacked the feet of him of the blond curls and innocent face.

Traveling Statesmen on Their Way.

The traveling statesmen were released this afternoon and have departed to their other fields of duty to examine the commissary departments of the institutions in which the wards of the state are housed. The golden moment is not likely to return until next week. For this week all bets seem to be off and Shelby M. Cullom must continue to represent the entire state of Illinois unaided and unsupported in the United States senate for a spell longer.

Such significance as was had by the joint session assembled today, as per the constitution, for the election of a United States senator, was given it by the fact that three Democrats voted for Speaker Shurtleff. They were Representatives Allison, Robert Wilson, and Foster. Mr. Allison was successful in recording himself for Mr. Shurtleff yesterday, and today he was joined by two of his colleagues.

This willingness on the part of these Democrats to surmount the prejudice of party and to lend their efforts to the greater good is welcomed warmly in certain Republican circles. It does not make a noise like a jubilee march to the Hopkins Helping Hand association, but the obstreperous portion of the Band of Hope and the Republicans of the Lorimer-Shurtleff persuasion look on it as a manifestation of kindly and brotherly spirit.

More Democrats May Follow Suit.

More Democrats may add themselves to this small movement tomorrow. They are getting the habit and it will be easier now for increasing numbers to disregard party lines and throw aside narrow considerations of party policy.

Lawrence B. Stringer, who is supposed to be the Democratic opponent of Mr. Hopkins, does not contemplate these facts and possibilities in a manner wholly unruffled. All Mr. Stringer expects to get out of it all is to be decently defeated by some successful Republican at some time, but just the same he would appreciate it if he could be buried with full military honors, and if a united minority would fire a salute after it was over.

He has a reasonable and logical objection to having a part of his force go over to the enemy and take a hand with the spade. His objections are admitted to be natural and human, but it is feared they will be without great effect.

Mr. Roger C. Sullivan, whose real purpose in being in Springfield at this interesting moment is not released for publication, had a conversation early this morning with Congressman Lorimer, but that was after the decision to postpone Mr. Lorimer's attempt had been reached.

Mr. Sullivan does not deny that at the proper time he may assist his Republican friend, Mr. Lorimer. He does not say that he will, but his remarks concerning probable developments on the Democratic side are of a character which would indicate that Mr. Sullivan is not entirely in the dark as to Mr. Lorimer's purposes.

Boeschenstein Also on the Scene.

Charles Boeschenstein, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, arrived in these parts in the morning, having much the same real errand as that of Mr. Sullivan, with interest in the senatorial controversy as a side issue.

One thing which is holding back Mr. Lorimer in his purpose of reaching out after the prize for which Mr. Hopkins has been striving is the knowledge that while no difficulty would be experienced in getting Democrats to vote for Mr. Shurtleff there might be some difficulty in getting enough of them to vote for him.

This complicates the situation. If Mr. Shurtleff stood as well with Gov. Deneen as does Mr. Lorimer the latter probably would withdraw and allow the speaker to be the candidate. Mr. Deneen, while expected to remain passive as Mr. Lorimer makes his attempt, cannot be brought to look with favor on Mr. Shurtleff. Hence it seems to be necessary to get Democrats for Lorimer instead of Shurtleff.

It may or may not have reference to Mr. Lorimer's impending attempt, but Gov. Deneen tonight called in the vice regents of his Chicago territory—Roy O. West and John R. Thompson, from Hyde Park; Charles Vail, from Englewood, and Thomas J. Healy, representing the north end of the Town of Lake.

Mr. Deneen's explanations for the presence of his vice regents in his office at midnight were reasonable, pleasant, harmless, and unsensational, but also unsatisfactory. The prevailing low browed opinion is that Mr. Deneen wishes expert opinion as to just how much "in bad" he would get if he consented, even by "implication," to the election of Mr. Lorimer.

Hopkins' Vote Jumps to 78.

Because of the large number of legislators present at the joint session, Mr. Hopkins' vote jumped up to 78. The summary was as follows:

Candidates.	Senate.	House.	Total.
Hopkins	30	48	78
Foss	5	13	18
Mason		2	2
Shurtleff	2	20	22
Sherman		2	2
McKinley	1	1	2
Calhoun		1	1
Yates		1	1
Stringer	12	34	46
Cyril R. Jandus		4	4
Browne		3	3
John F. O'Malley		2	2
Evans		1	1

Indications that Gov. Deneen and the Democratic state organization may reach a better understanding before long are among those things which encourage the belief that progress is being made toward the greater good. There is even the hope that some time before the close of the present administration some of the minority appointments to boards and institutions which have had vacancies instead of Democrats will be made.

Gov. Deneen has neglected to fill vacancies on some of the boards on which it is required by statute that Democrats shall be appointed. This has displeased many Democrats, but it is true also that many important positions available for Republicans remain unfilled, and Republicans who gladly would fill them do not consider that the Democratic party is the only organization entitled to be displeased.

BLOW TO TEXT BOOK "TRUST"

Ettelson Bill Passed by Senate and Goes to House.

PENALTY FOR CONSPIRACY.

Frequent Switching Barred and Schedule of Prices Named.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The Ettelson school book bill providing for a maximum scale of prices for text books used in public schools and directed at coalition of the school book publishing houses was passed by the senate this afternoon. The vote was 48 to 0 and the bill now goes to the house.

The bill is held to be a stinging slap at the book publishing companies and at the alleged combination of the concerns which sell school books for one price in one state and another price in another. This is the schedule of maximum prices for text books as provided in the bill which the senate approved today:

Primer, 15c. First reader, 15c. Second reader, 20c. Third reader, 25c. Fourth reader, 30c. Fifth reader, 35c. Spelling book, 15c. Elementary arithmetic, 30c. Complete arithmetic, 45c. Complete geography, 75c. Elementary geography, 35c. Elementary English grammar, 25c. Complete English grammar, 40c. Elementary physiology, 30c. Complete physiology, 50c. Elementary United States history, 40c. Complete United States history, 70c. Physical geography, 80c. Copy book, 5c. Civics book, 50c.

Provisions of the Bill.

The provisions of the bill in brief are that the publisher of any textbook must file with the superintendent of public instruction one copy of any textbook he proposes to furnish to the public schools of Illinois, with a guaranty that he will sell the book at the retail rate to any individual at or less than the maximum price as fixed in the preceding scale; that the books furnished shall correspond in text, printing, paper, binding, and illustration with the sample on file and that he shall deposit a fee of $10 for each of such books to defray the expense of the superintendent of public instruction sending a copy of the price list of accredited textbooks to public schools.

The bill further provides that school boards shall not contract with publishers for textbooks at prices greater than the maximum scale of prices. The anti-combination provisions are stringent, providing that before a textbook gets on the accredited list, the publisher shall file a sworn statement that he is not in any agreement or combination with any other publisher to control book prices or to restrict competition. The publisher's license to sell books shall be cancelled if it develops that he has given or offered any sort of remuneration to secure the adoption of his book by school officials.

Must Advertise for Bids.

School officials are to be furnished with lists of accredited books in February of each year, and before making contracts for books shall advertise for bids for three weeks. Text books shall not be changed by school boards oftener than once in four years, and shall not be changed in the middle of a school year. The bill carries an emergency clause as adopted by the senate today.

The two bills of Senator Clark authorizing the sale of submerged lands in South Chicago to the Illinois Steel company and to the Iroquois Steel company were advanced to third reading in the senate. Senator Glackin offered an amendment raising the price of the lands to the Illinois Steel company from $37,150 to $2,000,000, and to the Iroquois Steel company from $8,583 to $500,000. The amendment was overwhelmingly defeated.

Senator Humphrey's bill allowing corporations to own real estate was defeated in the senate, but reconsideration was secured and the bill made a special order for next Tuesday.

RIVERVIEW PARK OPENING ATTRACTS 75,000 PEOPLE.

Attractions Were Viewed by Great Crowds in Spite of the Threatening Aspect of the Weather.

More than 75,000 people last night attended the opening of Riverview park and visited the many new attractions which have been placed in the amusement resort this season. For a few minutes in the evening the crowd was compelled to seek shelter from the rain, but the sky cleared in a short time and the different "shows" did a big business.

Among the "big things" in operation was the "Monitor and the Merrimac," an exhibition said to have cost more than $200,000—according to Press Agent Pat Henry. The "Royal Gorge," the "Scenic Railway," "Tours of the World," "Old Maids," the "pike" shows, the dancing pavilion, and the Casino were also going full blast. The Casino has been enlarged and will now seat several thousand persons.

A storm some time ago seriously damaged several of the largest attractions, and the workers were unable to get them ready for the park opening. The "Human Roulette Wheel," "Creation," and "Niagara Falls"—all new shows—will open the last of the month.

BISHOP CHARLES B. GALLOWAY DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS.

Official of M. E. Church South Was Mississippi's Most Noted Divine—Ranked High as Pulpit Orator.

Jackson, Miss., May 12.—Bishop Charles B. Galloway of the Methodist Episcopal church, south, Mississippi's most distinguished divine and best known publicist, who for the last twenty years has held rank among the greatest pulpit orators of America, died at his residence in this city this morning after being ill several days from a mild attack of pneumonia.

Bishop Galloway was taken ill last Friday while en route from Nashville, where he had attended the annual session of the College of Bishops.

The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock from the First Methodist church, followed by interment at Greenwood cemetery. Bishop Warren A. Candler of Georgia will conduct the services.

Orders have been issued for all departments of the federal, state, county, and municipal government to remain closed tomorrow, and Mayor Crowder has issued a proclamation urging all the business houses to close for the day.

OBITUARY.

ABRAHAM LIPMAN, in the diamond and loan business in Chicago since 1861 and one of the best known jewelers in the country, died on Tuesday at Atlantic City of a complication of diseases. For twenty-eight years Mr. Lipman had occupied the store at 99 Madison street. His wife died in 1890. He is survived by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Louis Mann, the actress known as Clara Lipman; Mrs. Ludwig Marum, and August Lipman. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning from the chapel of Furth & Co.'s undertaking rooms, Grand boulevard and Thirty-fifth street. Burial will be at Rosehill. Mr. Lipman was 70 years old.

BURTON SCORES DENEEN.

Senator Refers to the Dubious Acts of Governor on Pending Legislation.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Both the house and senate appropriation committees are winding up their work to make an adjournment possible this month, and are disposing of the charitable institution appropriation bills. The fate of these measures, together with that of the asylum reorganization bill, will indicate the future action of the state board of charities.

Thus far President Billings and his associates on the board have not shown any disposition to compromise, but insist that the plan of reorganization and rehabilitation as outlined in the reorganization bill and in the appropriation bills shall be carried out. Material deviation from these plans is likely to result in the resignation of the members of the board.

The house appropriation committee today finished its work on the bills for seven of the charitable institutions, treating them with greater consideration than it is expected they will receiver either at the hands of the senate or of the governor.

Amounts Asked and Allowed.

The following table indicates what was asked and what is being allowed by the house committee for the ordinary running expenses of the institutions, the amounts being those allowed for each year of the biennial period:

Institution.	Requested.	Allowed.
Watertown	$247,500	$175,000
Soldiers' Home	210,000	205,000
Jacksonville Deaf	130,000	125,000
Jacksonville Insane	240,000	225,000
Soldiers' Orphans	70,000	67,000
Insane Criminal	45,000	40,000
Kankakee	460,000	406,000

From the requests of the Watertown asylum for improvements and repairs were cut the items of $25,000 for a nurses' home and $10,000 for a cold storage plant. Various cuts were made in the requests for improvements at Kankakee, the $100,000 requested for two cottages being taken from the bill.

Senator Burton Explains Position.

An echo of the senate action of yesterday on the asylum reorganization bill came in the senate during the discussion over the deep waterway bill when Senator Burton, the Democratic leader, referred to the dubious actions of Gov. Deneen in support of the asylum bill. Mr. Burton said that in supporting the deep waterway bill he was embarrassed because it was an administration measure.

"So was the charities bill which was taken up yesterday," he said, "or it was supposed to be. I have here the vote on that measure, the vote on the question of eliminating the penal and reformatory institutions from its operation. It may be profitable to analyze it.

"I had understood that Senator Jones of Chicago and Senator Dunlap of Champaign were representing the administration and were heading the uplift cause. I had some thought of being an uplifter myself, but this is the uplift vote as shown by that roll call:

"'Billings, Burton, Gardner, Gibson, Glackin, Hall, Hay, Hearn, Holstlaw, Hurburgh, Jones, Jewel, McKenzie, Manny, Pemberton, Schmitt, and Tossey.'

"We Democrats were standing, as we thought, with the uplifters for an administration bill. Who were with us? Five uplifters—Senators Schmitt, Jones, Billings, Hurburgh, and Hay—and three of the 'barnacles' of the last session.

Says He Got with Wrong Crowd.

"While on the surface that measure was advanced by the administration, in reality the friends of the administration were trying to defeat it. It is evident that in endeavoring to associate with the uplifters we got into the wrong crowd. We should have been on the other side of the question to have been in touch with administration reform. Senator Potter now is the head of the uplift."

Senator C. P. Gardner protested against amendments which connected him with the attack on the reorganization bill. He explained that he voted to strike out the enacting clause of the measure only after the amendments which injured the bill had been adopted and did so in protesting against its mutilation.

The roll calls on the various propositions show that the customary lines which divide the senate were broken, but the responsibility for the mauling of the measure is placed on the shoulders of several of the senators who are supposed to reflect Gov. Deneen's ideas and on members of the old organization.

DEMON RUM SCORES TWICE

LOCAL OPTION HARD HIT.

Measure to Eliminate the Township Feature of Law Advanced.

Springfield, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—The liquor interests were successful in two legislative attempts today. In the senate this evening the enacting clause was stricken out of Senator Landee's bill, which would have raised the saloon license all over the state to $1,000 a year, and in the house the bill which is designed to eliminate the township features from the local option law was advanced to third reading, an attempt to take out its enacting clause being defeated by a vote of 65 to 81.

In both contests the demon rum had the best of the encounter, and the supporters of the local option law are seriously concerned for fear that this act will lose its most important feature—the one which has permitted rural communities to vote the small towns dry.

The Landee bill went to the finish without much of a struggle. It was embarrassed by a provision that $200 of the $1,000 fee should be paid over to the county treasury, and it could not afford to carry such weight. The bill to amend the local option law was subjected to much argument in the house. Representative Adkins moved that its enacting clause be stricken out, and on that the local optionists and the opponents of the law went to the mat.

Browne Defends the Bill.

Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, minority leader, supported the bill and defended it from the Adkins motion by arguing that it was a home rule measure.

"In all other matters," he said, "the village is separated from the township and has its own local self-government. No one would think of permitting some man who lived out in the country to vote on a village or city ordinance. In the local option matters such a citizen is given representation without taxation, a thing wholly repugnant.

"It is wrong to give him a voice in the acts of the municipality unless he pays a part of the municipal burden. There is no logic or reason to any other course. It is not fair to submit the liquor traffic to restrictions that cannot be applied to other traffic. Restrictions should be general.

"This bill separates the township from the city or village. It makes an entity of the one and an entity of the other. It provides that the municipality shall be separate and distinct from the rest of the township and shall be a government unto itself. The measure provides that on the question of whether a township shall be wet or dry the township may vote, but that such vote shall not include the city or village in the township."

Would Reduce Alcohol Limit.

Before the vote was taken, Mr. Browne offered an amendment to the bill which was adopted. Originally, as the measure came from the license committee, it provided that in local option territory, liquors containing less than 2½ per cent of alcohol might be sold. The Browne amendment reduced this percentage to ½ of 1 per cent.

The bill which Arthur Burrage Farwell had introduced by Representative Lyon to extend the law of quo warranto to cover cases in which a mayor fails to meet the obligations of his office was blocked in the house judiciary committee. It was designed to give the anti-saloon citizens of Chicago a weapon with which they might attack the mayor for failure to enforce saloon ordinances and the state Sunday closing law.

The committee refused to take the bill up for consideration.

MISSOURI PROHIBITION HURT.

State Senate Refuses to Recede from Tax Rider Amendment to the State Wide Measure.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 12.—The Missouri state senate today refused to recede from the tax rider amendment to the prohibition joint resolution and asked the house for a conference committee. This action is taken generally as spelling the end of legislative action on the subject at this session of the general assembly.

The fight on the tax rider was bitter and the vote so close that only one ballot was lacking to carry the motion to recede. The count showed seventeen affirmative ballots, one less than a constitutional majority. There were fifteen negative votes.

After the defeat of the motion the senate agreed to adhere to the amendment providing for the immediate effectiveness of prohibition if carried at the polls. The senate conferees, therefore, will be under instructions to make concessions to the house.

The house defeated the senate bill providing for state weighing of grain at all public warehouses.

GORE IN SENATE BACKS RETAILERS

Oklahoman Denies That Middlemen Have Forced High Prices on Consumers.

BLAME PUT ON TRUSTS.

Cites Number of Articles Handled Under Agreement Their Values Be Fixed.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Senator Gore, the blind senator from Oklahoma, today defended the retail dealers who were charged yesterday by Senator Scott and others with forcing high prices upon the consumer.

Senator Scott and his colleagues had declared that high prices had little relation to the tariff and that the manufacturer sold goods at an insignificant profit.

"This senate," declared Mr. Gore in dramatic tones, "has turned itself into a grand jury and is here ready to return a verdict against the retail dealers for the high prices of articles used by the American people, and the senator from Maine has constituted himself foreman of this jury. The manufacturers and trusts are undertaking to hold up the middlemen and retailers as a shield to protect themselves against the outraged consumers.

"I stand here to enter a plea of not guilty for the retailers of this country."

Mr. Gore named shoes, hats, shirts, clothing, and other articles of particular manufactures as being sold to retailers under contract that they should be sold at an agreed price.

Hale Agrees with Gore.

Mr. Hale said he agreed with what the senator from Oklahoma was declaring. Trade conditions fixed the retail price, and he did not charge the retailer with any extortion.

"I am not arraigning the retailer," said Mr. Hale. "I am only saying that such is our habit of trade that a price entirely disproportionate to the manufacturer's price is asked."

Mr. Gore said that some woolen and cotton manufacturers of New England are declaring dividends of 66 per cent, which was greater than the profit of retailers.

Mr. Aldrich contended that the duty on glass had no relation to the price at which glass is sold in this country.

During a discussion of the profits of window glass manufacturers by Mr. Newlands, Mr. Oliver [Pa.] objected that there is not a window glass manufacturer in the United States today who is making anything like a fair profit, because of competition which keeps the price of glassware down.

Glass Products Are Considered.

On motion of Mr. Aldrich the section relating to window glass was passed over temporarily and the senate proceeded to consider other sections of the bill, agreeing to several paragraphs that had previously been passed over and which related to various glass products. Committee amendments relating to marble and stone manufactures were agreed to, as were those on articles manufactured from marble, breccia, onyx, alabaster, and jet into monuments, benches, vases, etc.

When the section relating to iron ore, on which the committee had recommended a duty of 25 cents a ton, was reached, Mr. Crawford opposed placing a duty on natural products of the country, such as lumber, oil, iron ore, and coal.

Mr. Rayner gave notice that he would move to place iron ore on the free list.

Mr. Crawford declared that so far as the cost of labor in Canada and the United States was concerned there was no difference in the lumber industry, and that none of the arguments used to justify the protective tariff could be applied to it.

Scores Standard Oil Company.

Referring to the oil industry, Mr. Crawford declared that the Standard Oil company had been shown by the bureau of corporations to have prospered by "gross unfairness and the violation of every principle of honesty and decency."

Reviewing the history of the United States Steel corporation in respect to its attitude toward the "independent" steel producing concerns, Mr. Crawford said:

"One of the pathetic things that have come under my observation here is the pathetic, desperate appeals made to members of this senate by men of small means struggling along with small factories, imagining that they are really independent concerns. They are as helpless as a little mouse that attempts to play on the carpet in front of a feline that can crush it with its paw. When we think we are helping them we are simply strengthening the big corporations that can absolutely crush them at any moment."

"Now, fellow citizens," exclaimed Mr. Crawford, "we are——" He was interrupted by general laughter, in which he immediately joined. He then changed his form of address to conform to senatorial custom, and continued:

"We are pledged here," he said, "to revise the tariff downward."

Quotes from President Taft's Speeches.

He quoted from speeches of President Taft in South Dakota to sustain his view that the tariff revision would be downward. He declared that if the cost of production at home and abroad could be obtained, and the revision should be based on such differences then the revision would be downward.

During the session Senator Paynter spoke in favor of the removal of the duty of 6 cents a pound upon leaf tobacco as a means for freeing the tobacco growers from the control of the tobacco trust.

Senator Cullom filed a petition signed by nearly 400 persons of Rock Falls and Sterling, Ill., protesting against any advance in present tariff rates and urging the senator to use every effort to defeat the senate bill if it is not radically changed to conform to pledges made in the Republican platform.

Moves to Cut Duty on Wheat.

A touch of humor was introduced into the opening proceedings when Senator Gallinger laid before that body a petition from his constituents in New Hampshire praying that a reduction of 10 cents a bushel be made in the duty on wheat.

As the title of the petition was read Mr. Gallinger glanced toward the senators from the wheat growing states, many of whom have figured prominently in the movement for lower duties on the manufactured products of New England. Senators Nelson, Burkett, and McCumber and others exchanged significant smiles with the senator from New Hampshire, but no comment was made by any of them.

Filipino Opposes Free Trade.

Resident Commissioner Ocampo, one of the representatives in congress of the Philippine islands, voiced his indorsement of the protest against free trade between the United States and the Philippines which recently found expression through a number of Filipinos residing for the present in Boston. He said:

"The Philippine assembly, the true representative of popular sentiment, has, in conjunction with the upper house, which is composed largely of Americans, expressed itself, before this, in opposition to free trade, and since the passage of the bill by the house of representatives, the feeling against it has grown more intense for the reasons stated above, apart from the economic viewpoint of the matter, which also is in no way encouraging, because it necessarily will embarrass the Philippine government financially.

Tells Ambition of Filipinos.

"This free trade proposition is a case of life and death with us. The ambition of the Filipinos to live an independent life is one which is undeniable and persistent, and any measure tending to oppose it would only stir the people of the islands and operate to prevent the development of a better feeling between Americans and Filipinos."

present law. Some of the jokers will be cut out of the cotton, woolen, silk, and flax schedules, but enough will be left behind to keep the prices up on every article made of those fabrics. Sugar will be let alone and the question of a tariff on petroleum will be left to the decision of the conference committee.

Thus far the promises made by Mr. Aldrich, while not as sweeping as they might be, are important because they indicate a disposition to compromise, whereas only a few weeks ago the Rhode Island leader was denouncing the western senators as free traders and traitors and declaring no concession would be made to them.

Stocking Tax First Concession.

It will be remembered that when the tariff bill was in the house the leaders there scoffed at the sentiment in Chicago and the west generally in opposition to the extraordinary increase in the duties on cotton hosiery, gloves, and similar articles in which the women of the country are most interested. Their petitions were ignored in the house and they were not even allowed a day in court, the snub direct being administered by Mr. Mann of Chicago, who is the official mouthpiece of the house organization.

By the time the bill got over to the senate the protest of the western women had spread to the east, and the senate committee therefore restored the Dingley rates on all of these articles, the result being that the house scarcely will dare to make even a pretense of insisting upon the advanced rates.

This was the first compromise by the senate leaders. They would have made no other had it not been for the united front presented by the senators from the Mississippi valley. They now are prepared to make more concessions, and they will do this by agreeing to the amendments offered on the floor of the senate by the individual western representatives.

Taft Is Waiting His Time.

Throughout all of this maneuvering the attitude of President Taft has been consistently the same. He adheres closely to his view of of his constitutional duty. He has chatted and smiled with the representative leaders on both sides, but he has made no threats. He has not hesitated to give his opinion about general principles. but repeatedly he has declared to the Republican leaders in both houses they must make their tariff bill to suit themselves.

He proposes to be free from all responsibility in the matter so that when the bill comes to him for consideration he will not be tied down by any promises. He believes in a revision downward, especially in regard to raw materials for manufacturing. The president is a protectionist from the beginning to the end. He does not believe in a tariff for revenue only, and he does not believe that the revision downward should extend to a point where it would cripple the fair profits of manufacturing or result in a reduction of wages.

He is extremely strong in the belief that the legislative and executive function of the government should be kept entirely separate. He does not want to advise congress as to what it should do. When the conference committee is through with the tariff bill and presents it to him he will consider it on its merits as he is required to do by the constitution, and neither the pleas of the political leaders nor the stories of political exigencies will influence him.

Taft Hopes for Good Bill.

At the present time it is undoubtedly true that President Taft hopes and believes a bill will be presented to him which he can sign. He has been told so by the foremost men in both houses, and he is willing to believe them for the present at least. He will not assume that they are deceiving him, and he will not contemplate the possibility of veto until an examination of the perfected bill, agreed to by both houses, convinces him that the promises by the leaders of a real downward revision have not been kept.

Just at the present time the prospects of a downward revision are far brighter than ever before, and inasmuch as President Taft has made no threats whatsoever, nor even interfered actively in the matter, it is evident that the firm stand taken by the western senators has had its effect, and that the men like Cummins, Dolliver, Beveridge, Nelson, Clapp, Bristow, Burkett, and others are entitled to claim for themselves a personal victory of which the people at large will be the beneficiaries.

Chicago Debaters Take Victory.

immigration law enacted in 1907 contains a section establishing a division of information in the bureau of immigration and naturalization, the duty of which is to promote the beneficial distribution of the aliens admitted into the United States, among the several states and territories desiring immigration.

Labor Agencies Must Obey.

According to the provisions of this statute, the chief of the devision has been in correspondence with the officials of the states and territories and in this way has discouraged the efforts of the men and firms which pursued the peonage practices. Moreover, it has been made clear that the government will not encourage the workmen to go to the localities in which they are likely to be subjected to involuntary servitude or imprisonment for debt. Authority was discovered for the canceling of the licenses of labor employment bureaus charged with sending men to the southern camps where peonage exists.

But the legislation now in existence is inadequate to end the peonage, in the opinion of the department of justice. Mr. Russell wants the federal law made broad enough so that legal peonage will be defined as including the holding of persons in servitude, whether in liquidation of an indebtedness or otherwise.

It is extremely unlikely that congress will grant such legislation at this time. It would be in conflict with the state laws, some of which were not passed originally for the purpose of permitting slavery, but which have been used and are being used for this purpose. It is evident there must be a continuance of the agitation in the south in order to make the people of that section realize the need of observing the same conditions with respect to labor as it prevails in the north and west.

No Desire to Hurt South.

South Carolina, Mississippi, and certain other states have felt the force of public opinion, with the result that they have repealed or modified the laws which tended to enslave the workmen and have introduced a better system of employment, with a consequent benefit to their respective communities.

The old cry has been raised that the policy of the department of justice with regard to peonage is inspired by the desire to injure the southern industries in the interest of those of the north. As a matter of fact, there is no such desire or intention on the part of the department or any one else in Washington. The effort of the federal authorities is to encourage industry in all parts of the country, and what Mr. Russell said is as true under this administration as it was under the last, that the policy observed with respect to peonage is the best that could be taken for the benefit of the south and its progress. It is evident that if peonage be resumed as it existed before the department began its campaign, labor, informed by the agitation of the last two years, will be chary of subjecting itself to a condition of slavery.

The Harlan case undoubtedly will be made the hook upon which the department of justice will hang an explanation to the president of the entire peonage situation. It is believed by the department that when the president is fully informed of what has been and is being done, he will not only refuse to pardon Harlan but will authorize Assistant Attorney General Russell to continue his work and will decline to interfere with the federal officeholders who are aiding that official in his campaign.

MURDER OF GIRL A MYSTERY

Providence, R. I., Police Seek Clews for Slayer of Musician.

ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED.

Prospective Bridegroom Furnishes Information for Inquiry.

Providence, R. I., May 12.—[Special.]—In the absence tonight of any theory established after a tireless search for clews, authorities are perplexed if not literally dismayed in their investigation of the murder of Laura E. Regester, whose body was found early yesterday near the cemetery of the Sons of Israel. It is known the girl was strangled to death as she was returning to her home after trying on her wedding gown at the home of a dressmaker.

Possible Jealousy Is Suspected.

An investigation will center tomorrow around the young men friends and acquaintances of the girl. This course will be pursued on the assumption that jealousy prompted the crime. Wounds on the body suggest that Miss Regester's slayer made his attack with an almost insane rage after stunning her with a blunt weapon.

Charles Douglas, a young jeweler, who was to have married Miss Regester within the coming month, has had several conferences with the police, the last this afternoon, when he volunteered information on which the authorities will work.

Housekeeper for Her Father.

Miss Regester, who was 25 years old, of prepossessing appearance, and an accomplished musician, was the daughter of Charles W. Regester, a trusted employé of the Gorham company, and for whom she kept house at 15 Pleasant street, Cranston.

TAFT AGAIN WINS IN GOLF CONTEST

FORMER HAS STAR DRIVE

Ball Laid Within Few Feet of Hole in a Drive from the Eighteenth Tee.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—President Taft played golf today with Walter J. Travis, several times amateur champion of the United States, and once of Great Britain. Although his game was not brilliant, the president demonstrated that he is not in the bumblepuppy class.

The match in which the president engaged this afternoon was on the links of the Chevy Chase club. It started out bravely as a foursome, with Mr. Taft and Mr. Travis paired against F. Oden Horstman, one of the crack players of the District of Columbia, and Gen. Clarence Edwards, chief of the bureau of insular affairs of the war department. Mr. Horstman, however, dropped out at the end of the first nine holes, owing to physical disability, and Capt. Archibald W. Butt, the president's military aid, tok his place and finished the match.

Mr. Horstman was disappointed and chagrined at his inability to continue in the game, but he was suffering from nothing less painful than a broken or misplaced rib due to an accident yesterday.

Walter J. Travis came to Washington to play in the spring open tournament of the Chevy Chase club, which will begin tomorrow. During the president's sojourn in the south before the inauguration Mr. Taft and Mr. Travis met as fellow players on the links, and the then president-elect received many points which subsequently helped him in his pursuit of the ancient and honorable game.

Travis Praises Taft Game.

At the close of the match today Mr. Travis remarked that the president had no bad faults of play which must be overcome, but had the form of a true golfer and would, he was sure, be able with the right kind of practice, to play a game which would prove formidable to his opponent, whoever he might be. When Mr. Travis made this remark he had himself just made a score of 74 strokes on the 6,000 yard course at Chevy Chase and Mr. Taft had finished in 92.

Mr. Taft has a method of scoring in a four ball match which is strange to most golfers. He insists that the only proper method of scoring in such a match is to add the scores of each side to determine who wins each hole. According to this method the best golfer in the United States might make a three on a long hole and still not win the hole if his partner's score happened to be a nine or a ten. If the players on the other side took five or six strokes each they would win the hole, as against the best ball, which made a score of three.

Mr. Taft did not score many threes today, although he played a moderately steady and effective game. His partner, Mr. Travis, made several threes; yet he and Mr. Taft were only two up at the ninth green, as against Mr. Horstman and Gen. Edwards.

Details of Game Missing.

Minute and interesting details of today's match are lacking, but it was rumored this avening and the report is probably true, that when Capt. Butt took Mr. Horstman's place in the match Mr. Travis and Mr. Taft gave their opponents a handicap of two strokes a hole for the rest of the distance. The result was that Gen. Edwards and Capt. Butt were one up for the last nine holes, so that the net result of the match—if such an irregular contest may be called match—was that the president and Mr. Travis were one up on the whole round of eighteen holes.

The four ball match in which the president engaged attracted a great deal of attention at the club, but out of courtesy to the president no gallery followed the players. The members of the club and their friends permitted the president and his companions to play their match without any annoyance from spectators. As the players drove from the eighteenth tee, however, there was a large gathering of the club members and guests on the lawn who watched the play with interest.

President Drives Last Green.

The president and Mr. Travis had won the seventeenth hole and Mr. Taft drove first from the last tee. With great deliberation the president addressed his ball and with a slow swing back and a good follow through he drove the ball for a distance of 100 yards to within ten feet of the little cup on the home green. It was a drive of remarkable accuracy, and the crowd gathered on the lawn clapped their hands so vigorously that the president must have heard the applause.

Ex-Champion Travis drove next, and although he used an iron, his ball landed at a point considerably farther from the hole than Mr. Taft's. When the players reached the green Mr. Taft surveyed the ground between his ball and the hole judicially, but his first put was weak and although the line was perfect the sphere stopped fully four feet short. Mr. Travis' first put placed his ball within six inches of the hole and he had an easy three. The president missed his second put, and holed out in four. Capt. Butt and Gen. Edwards required four strokes for the hole.

Mr. Travis never played on the Chevy Chase course until this morning, so this was his second round. His seventy-four was close to amateur record for these links, and the president warmly congratulated him on his clever achievement.

ERECTS MONUMENT TO ADAM

Marylander Thinks It High Time First Pioneer Is Honored.

EVE NOT EVEN MENTIONED.

Donor Declares Original Man Had His Troubles in Eden.

Baltimore, Md., May 12.—[Special.]—Believing that it is better late than never, John P. Brady, a contractor and builder, has had erected at his country house, Hickory Grounds, near Gardenville, a monument to the memory of Adam, the first man.

After spending much thought upon designs for the monument, Mr. Brady came to the conclusion that nothing could be more fitting than a plain square shaft of concrete, surmounted by a sun dial.

Without saying that women will not be admitted Mr. Brady wishes the occasion of the dedication to be distinctly masculine. He has no intention at any time to erect a memorial to Eve.

Inscriptions on the Monument.

THIS, THE FIRST SHAFT
IS DEDICATED TO ADAM, THE FIRST MAN.

"Sic transit gloria mundi."

Kind of Adam to Appear.

"After all, there is no serious reason why there should not have been thousands of memorials to Adam," said Mr. Brady today. "Some of us may blame him for the misfortunes which we get in this world, but few of us wish that we had not been brought here. It was kind of Adam to appear in the world. He paved the way and should receive the homage which we pay to pioneers in all fields. There seems to be glory enough to go around for every one who ever did anything, and many monuments and other tributes have honored men who never did anything.

"It being so easy to get one's name graven in stone, I thought it was high time that Adam had something to show for having been here. Adam had a pretty hard time of it. He was something of a hero, after all. Just think of it—to be here on this big earth—not a soul until Eve came, and then——"

LAUTERBACH'S WIFE SAYS SHE WILL PAY ALL OF OWN DEBTS.

Announcement Made in Advertisement Said to Have Followed Repudiation of Responsibility by Him.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Mrs. Edward Lauterbach, who for two years has been living apart from her husband, the noted lawyer and Republican politician, sent to the newspapers, through her attorney, the following advertisement:

> All persons having claims against me which may have been repudiated by my husband, Edward Lauterbach, will please present the same at the office of my attorney, C. Monteith Gilpin, Esq., 68 William street, New York City, where they will receive prompt attention.
> AMANDA F. LAUTERBACH.

When last July their son Alfred was killed in an automobile accident the couple met at his funeral and their grief made them for a time forget all differences. A reconcilliation was looked for then, but it did not take place. Mr. Lauterbach tonight admitted, after hearing the advertisement, that he had repudiated the debts contracted by his wife and spoke as if their separation was to be permanent. When seen at his home, 2785 Broadway, he said with a smile:

"Mrs. Lauterbach is a woman of independent means and able to pay her own bills just as I am able to pay mine. I never have publicly repudiated her debts, but since our separation, when her bills have come to me, I have declined to pay them. I also have found it necessary to notify individual tradespeople, from time to time, that Mrs. Lauterbach would settle her own accounts. There is no news in the fact that we are separated. Mrs. Lauterbach is living at 751 Fifth avenue and I am making my home here."

TWENTY WORKMEN ARE KILLED BY A PREMATURE EXPLOSION.

One Thousand Pounds of Dynamite Let Go While Quarry Employes Are Near By.

Albany, N. Y., May 12.—At least twenty men were killed today by a premature blast of dynamite in a stone quarry near South Bethlehem, eleven miles southwest of Albany. Among the dead are John Hoyt Callanan, vice president and general manager of the company; Charles D. Callanan, a brother of the manager; and Leroy McMillan, assistant superintendent.

One thousand pounds of dynamite exploded and the bodies of the victims were so badly mutilated as to be almost beyond recognition. As darkness was falling a wagon drew up to the engine house loaded with bodies that had been picked up back on the quarry hill.

The workmen had placed 500 pound charges in six of the holes and were working on the seventh when a percussion cap was prematurely discharged.

The INNER SHRINE
A Novel of Today

Once in a lifetime a brilliant star may flash across the sky, and it is interesting to note how quickly comes recognition and wide acclaim.

With one accord readers have granted to "The Inner Shrine" those qualities which men have agreed to call great. Here, they say, is distinction, strength, and vigor, here is tenderness, sweetness, crystal clearness, and that certainty of touch which marks the master. Whether the writer is already Famous or not, this is what they say of this great work:

"Dear 'Harper's Montly Magazine,'—I am getting to be seventy-five, and have read and enjoyed you since 1850. Of all the enjoyment I have had, none is, or has been, keener than that I have received from perusing 'The Inner Shrine.' If Mrs. Deland wrote it, as I believe she did, it is even finer than her last work. Shall we know the author when the book is published?

"ELLEN M. WICKES.

"May 10, 1909."

Never did so many readers beg for advance proofs when the story was running serially in HARPER'S. NOW the book is all here—AT LAST.

"DRYS" QUESTION WOULD-BE JUDGES

QUIZ IS MADE BY MAIL.

Failure to Answer Will Be Construed to Mean Aspirant Favors Present Condition.

Although having no candidates in the field, the Prohibitionists are planning to take a hand in the judicial campaign by lining up the Republican, Democratic, and Socialist candidates on the liquor question. The central committee of the party yesterday mailed to each candidate a letter asking replies to two questions relating to the enforcement of the Sunday closing law.

The letter, which was signed by William A. Brubaker, follows:

"As you doubtless know, the Prohibitionists have made no nominations for the judicial election to be held next month. The 10,000 Prohibition voters are, therefore, free to cast their ballot for the candidates of their choice on the other tickets.

Questions on Sunday Closing.

"In order that they may do so intelligently I am directed by this committee to request an answer from all candidates to the following questions:

"1. Do you believe that the law of the state of Illinois requiring saloons to be closed on Sunday is in full force in the city of Chicago?

"2. Do you believe that honest efforts should be made by public officials, executive and judicial, to enforce this law in the city of Chicago as long as it is on the statute book?

"You understand, of course, that we want your answer to these questions for publication, and that if we do not hear from you we will be compelled to construe your silence as a negative answer."

Third of "Pink Teas" Held.

Democratic precinct committeemen from the First, Second, Third, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, and Thirty-third wards attended the third in the series of "pink teas" given by the central committee for the party candidates for judges at the Sherman house last evening. The rhenswasser was on tap and each candidate told a story and urged the workers to get out the vote on election day.

The Republican judicial candidates will appear at two meetings on the north side tonight. The first will be at the North Side Turner hall, 257 North Clark street, at 8 o'clock, and the second will be at Warneke hall, 811 Larrabee street, at 9 p. m.

SYSTEM DEVISED BY COURT STOPS TRAFFIC BLOCKADES.

Judge Charles N. Goodnow Discovers an Effective Method for Putting End to South Chicago Nuisance.

A new system devised by Judge Charles N. Goodnow for regulating the conflicting interests of railroad and street traffic is being tried out in South Chicago. In that part of the city elevated tracks are unknown, but innumerable long freight trains are features of every landscape. Annoying blockades of street cars, pedestrians, and teams are the result.

The problem was brought to a climax a week ago when Policeman George C. Curran of the South Chicago station arrested Conductor George H. Hoos, in charge of a Lake Shore train. Curran was stationed at Ninety-second street and the Baltimore and Ohio tracks when he was notified that a train was blockading the same street at the Lake Shore tracks. After finding that a car had been halted for twelve minutes he hurried to the front of the train, almost fifty cars away, and arrested the conductor. The conductor explained that he thought he had cleared the crossing, but that the train was so long he could not see the end of it, or get a signal from the brakeman at the rear. A report that the conductor had left his train and was arrested at a long distance from it was untrue.

On remedying matters he was allowed to go on his own recognizance without being taken to the station. At a hearing before Judge Goodnow the next morning the railroad men declared that not the conductor, but the yardmaster was to blame. The judge continued the case till Friday and had the yardmaster brought into court. He was allowed to go only on his express promise to keep the streets free of obstruction.

Since then there have been no blockades in South Chicago.

CONFERENCE ON EVANGELISM PACKS THE MOODY CHURCH.

Two Thousand Men and Women Attend Opening Session and Hear Address by the Rev. R. A. Torrey.

Two thousand men and women packed the Moody church last evening at the opening session of the third annual conference on summer evangelism and open air work. The Rev. A. C. Dixon presided. A song service was led by D. B. Towner, who was assisted by a large volunteer chorus. Arthur J. Smith of New York delivered a lecture on gospel tent work in that city last summer, illustrating his subject with stereoptican views. Mr. Smith said the men of Wall street were as interested in the open air meetings as any one, and that business men generally are so busy that it is necessary to carry the gospel to their doors.

The Rev. R. A. Torrey, who leads the evangelistic portions of the meetings for the week, was troubled with a severe cold. He delivered a brief address, however, that aroused much enthusiasm, speaking upon excuses made by persons when asked to become Christians.

Tonight and tomorrow night in addition to the meetings at the church there will be open air meetings held at Chicago and La Salle avenue, Chicago avenue and Clark street, Clark and Michigan streets, and Wells and Oak streets.

The sessions will continue afternoons and evenings through Friday.

Adolph Brendecke, a druggist at West Randolph and Sangamon streets, whom the police call a veteran in breaking the drug regulations, was found guilty of selling cocaine by a jury in Judge Cottrell's court yesterday and fined $200. A motion for a new trial was made and set for argument May 22.

Brendecke, who is a licensed physician, was forced to close his drug store two years ago because of activity on the part of detectives of the Desplaines street police station against sellers of drugs in the west side levee district.

He opened the store a few weeks ago, however, and a few days later was arrested charged with having sold cocaine to Mrs. Mary Gyer, 294 West Madison street, and her husband, Albert Gyer, a carpenter.

Seek Red Men's Carnival.

Officers and members of the Order of Red Men are exerting strong efforts to have the great carnival session of the imperial council held in Chicago next year. A large delegation will journey to Danville, Ill., on Saturday to attend the sessions being held in that city and to present this city's claims for the next session.

REVOLUTION IN COAST RATES

RADICAL REDUCTIONS MADE.

Through Tariff Will Apply to Spokane and Other Slope Points.

Radical reductions in western freight rates will be outlined before the interstate commerce commission today at Washington by traffic officials of the Hill and Harriman railroads, who have finally perfected a plan for the readjustment of rate schedules applying from Chicago and points east of the Missouri river to intermediate Pacific points like Spokane, Salt Lake City, and Reno, Nev., in accordance with the commission's instructions in the Spokane rate case.

The plan will be presented by J. C. Stubbs of Chicago, traffic director of the Harriman system, and J. G. Woodworth, general traffic manager of the Northern Pacific railway. It will show reductions amounting in many cases to from 25 to 50 per cent, affecting practically every commodity except those on which water competition at the coast terminals is especially keen. This will be accomplished by applying the coast rates to the intermediate cities in place of the present practice of adding to the coast rate, supposed to be fixed by water competition, the local rate back, a practice which has long been the occasion for vigorous complaints from the commercial interests of the intermediate cities.

No Alternative Given Roads.

When the commission recently reduced the rate to Spokane as unreasonably high, it also directed the roads to reduce the other rates accordingly, saying that if this were not done voluntarily they would be reduced by another order. In order to permit the roads to work out an adjustment which would meet the conflicting requirements of competing commercial centers, the order in the Spokane case was postponed.

The railroad officials state that some of the new reductions are even more radical than those ordered by the commission.

The new rates, if they are approved by the commission, are expected to result in a great impetus to the traffic from this territory to the west and in the upbuilding of important jobbing centers at cities located inland from the Pacific coast, which have long groaned under a system of rates which has been declared an overwhelming handicap in favor of the coast cities.

The new system will also undoubtedly be considered a severe blow to the commerce of cities like San Francisco and Seattle, which have hitherto been able to ship from the east and reship back to Spokane or Reno at rates as low or lower than were applied on direct shipments. For instance, wool shippers at Manti, Utah, near Salt Lake City, have complained that they can ship wool to Boston by sending it first to Los Angeles and then reshipping back through Manti at a rate 23 cents a hundred pounds less than if it had been shipped direct in the first place. It was to correct such rates as these, which the roads have justified on the theory of water competition at the coast cities, that the commission issued its order.

Reforestation on Pennsylvania.

Evidence of the importance of the forest preservation question to the railroads is seen in the announcement made yesterday by the Pennsylvania railroad that it is planning to set out this spring more than 1,000,000 trees. This will make a total of 3,430,000 trees planted in the last three years by this road to provide for future requirements of timber and cross ties.

Of the trees to be set out this spring 893,000 are red oak, 40,000 Scotch pine, 29,000 locust, 14,000 hardy catalpa, 14,000 pin oak, 5,000 European larch, 3,000 chestnut, 3,000 yellow poplar, 2,000 black walnut, and 1,000 white pine.

In order to encourage reforestation on the part of the public the railroad has furnished 151,000 trees practically at cost to private corporations and individuals.

The conference of passenger officials of eastern railroads concerning summer tourist passenger fares to New York, New England, and New Jersey resorts was adjourned until next Tuesday without making any change in the rates of a fare and a third for the round trip.

SHERMAN NOT TO ATTEND FEAST

Tariff Will Prevent Participation of Vice President in Royal Arcanum Banquet.

Vice President Sherman will not be a guest of Chicago on the occasion of the banquet to be given by the Royal Arcanum on or about July 15. Roger Van Sands, supreme regent of the order, who made the invitation yesterday at Washington, let it be known that he had received a declination, the reason for which was the vice president's confident expectation that congress would not be through with the tariff bill by the time set for the feast.

LAWMAKER DEFIES MICHIGAN SPEAKER

Representative Curtiss, Ousted in Scandal Case, Says He May Return to Seat.

CALLS AFFAIR A PLOT.

Declares He Left Floor Voluntarily to Save Colleagues Embarrassment.

Lansing, Mich., May 12.—[Special.]—Representative D. Z. Curtiss of Detroit, who was escorted from the house chamber by Speaker Campbell last night with a repeated warning not to appear at his desk again during the present session, is still in the city.

Curtiss, whose name was linked with that of the wife of Sidney Hall, journal clerk in the house, declares he will not leave Lansing until the session ends, and that if any legislation comes up which he regards as being vital to his constituents he will ignore the warnings of Campbell and will take his seat in the assembly.

In interviews the Detroit representative says that the alleged scandal with which his name has been connected is a plot against him. He claims that he was not ordered from the house floor, but decided to save his colleagues embarrassment and left voluntarily in view of the false rumors afloat.

Primary Election Bill Considered.

The conference committees of the senate and house held a meeting during the day to see if an agreement can be reached regarding the provisions of a primary election bill and the two committees clashed. The house members want a bill which will require all counties to nominate county officers under the provisions of the act, while the senate members are opposed to mandatory provisions. No agreement was reached after several hours of discussion.

Practically all of the senate bills have been considered by that body and it is about ready to devote the remaining time to house matters. Bill after bill was considered during the day and work rushed along at a great rate. The house is also well along in legislative procedure.

Liquor Regulation Bill Favored.

The Warner-Crampton liquor regulation bill, which passed the house, was the subject of discussion before the senate committee on liquor traffic. The committee seems favorable to the measure, but after the showing made in the afternoon there is considerable sentiment in favor of some sweeping amendments to section 2 of the proposed measure before it is reported out. Under the provisions of section 2 the committee believes no druggist or club, nor any one but a retail dealer defined by the measure may purchase from wholesalers in Michigan.

The section directs that wholesalers shall sell to only actual retail dealers. This, in connection with the clause, providing that outside wholesalers and manufacturers will have to pay the same license as home concerns and take out security bonds, is not looked upon with favor.

Other features of the bill have been gone over and while all members of the committee were in attendance, there seems to be no general opposition to the bill.

JIG SAW PUZZLES

WRIGHTS MODEST; AERO CLUB GUESTS

OWNER OF DOGS EXPLAINS

Wright Brothers Guests of Aero Club.

The Wright brothers, Wilbur and Orville, left New York shortly before 6 o'clock this evening for their home in Dayton, O., after a day spent in receiving the tributes and compliments of friends and admirers. However much at home the brothers may be amid the perils of the upper air, they showed again today that they are extremely shy as guests of honor. At the luncheon tendered by the Aero club of America at the Lawyers' club, both had consented, with reluctance, to allow their names to go down on the program of speakers. But their speeches were models of brevity and the pair appeared immensely relieved when the ordeal was over. Wilbur spoke first—three sentences that lasted less than sixty seconds by the clock. Orville followed, and his speech was just half as long as his brother's.

Assailed by the interviewers, the Wrights found little to add to the few things they said yesterday. Orville referred all questioners to Wilbur, and Wilbur turned them over to Orville.

Battery Dan, Chased by Dogs, Hears Explanation.

Mrs. Heim of 515 East One Hundred and Sixty-second street, whose three hounds had Magistrate Finn up a lamppost last Saturday, went way down to the Jefferson Market court today to explain to Battery Dan that the dogs were "chentle." "They may be 'chentle' all right," said the magistrate, "but they certainly had me going."

"No, no, chudge, dose dogs are so chentle—your hand you can put in dere mout'."

"I'd look smart doing that, wouldn't I?" replied Battery Dan. "I'm mighty glad my cane was with me."

"Dey was raised from pups——"

"Madam," said the court, "you are lucky that I did not have you arrested. Three times I asked you to call them off and you merely laughed. You'd better go home and muzzle those dogs. Go home now."

Mrs. Huntington Makes Gift of $250,000.

Mrs. Collis P. Huntington has given a large plat of ground at Broadway and One Hundred and Fifty-sixth street, valued at $250,000 or more, to the American Geographical society on the condition that the society raise money for the erection of a building on the site. The society council already has undertaken to comply with the condition, and it is understood has strong hopes of being able to accept Mrs. Huntington's offer within a week. Archer M. Huntington, the donor's adopted son, is president of the society, and is active in the endeavor to rase money for the building. Mr. Huntington himself is said to have subscribed $50,000.

Mrs. Huntington when seen at her home concerning the rumor that an engagement existed between herself and Henry E. Huntington, her late husband's nephew, said she had no intention of marrying anybody.

Four Held Charged with Fur Theft.

Three men, present or former employés of Revillon Freres, fur merchants at 19 West Thirty-fourth street, have been arrested and locked up at police headquarters charged with the larceny from the firm of some sixty pieces of goods valued at $25,000. A fourth prisoner, a woman, was arrested in Cleveland Monday last, and through her arrest and subsequent confession detectives were enabled to trace the disappearance of furs from the Revillon house during the last few months. The men arrested are Charles Kline, 24 years old; George E. Knox, 33 years old; and Thomas Mullin, 25 years old. The woman who was arrested in Cleveland is the wife of Knox.

The most valuable pieces stolen partly made up the crown of a Russian sable muff, comprising five skins valued by the firm at $1,000 each, or $5,000 for the muff.

Geraldine Farrar's Engagement Rumored.

Geraldine Farrar, the American prima donna of the Metropolitan opera house, and Antonio Scotti, the Italian baritone of the same company, who sailed for Europe this week, are to be married in Paris next month, according to a story published here tonight and which is based on wireless messages said to have been received from Miss Farrar by friends today. The marriage is to take place, it is added, at the Church of the Madeleine in Paris. Once before, last fall, when the two opera stars came over from Europe together on the same ship, there was a report of their engagement, and it was said at that time the marriage would probably take place this summer.

Taft and Hughes Praised in Report.

"The election of President Taft and the reëlection of Gov. Hughes, pronounced advocates, both in and out of office, of the merit system, insured continued progress for civil service reform in nation and state." The foregoing paragraph is one of the most significant declarations in the annual report of the executive committee of the New York Civil Service Reform association, which held its annual meeting here today. Silas W. Burt was reëlected president, and among the vice presidents chosen to serve during the coming year are Senator Root and Attorney General George W. Wickersham.

Statue of Indian to Face Liberty in Bay.

The erection of a colossal statue representing the American Indian, to be placed in New York harbor opposite the statue of liberty, was advocated by Gen. Leonard Wood and other speakers at a dinner given tonight by Rodman Wanamaker, son of John Wanamaker, in honor of Col. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill). Such a statue was originally suggested, it was said, by Mr. Wanamaker, who has devoted much time to the study of the Indian. He hopes to raise the required sum through a public subscription.

HISGEN OUT FOR U. S. SENATE, SEEKING TO SUPPLANT LODGE.

Former Presidential Candidate Says Hearst's Independence League Is Dead and Deserted by Founder.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—[Special.]—Thomas L. Hisgen, according to a statement given out at the Boston headquarters of the Democratic state committee, is a candidate for the United States senate against Senator Lodge.

Hisgen, who was a presidential candidate of the Independence party in 1908, explains his attitude with the further announcement that with the withdrawal of the financial support of William Randolph Hearst from the Independence party that organization now has ceased to exist. Mr. Hisgen does not directly announce that he is a Democrat. He leaves it to be inferred that he means to wage his fight against Senator Lodge, whose present term expires in 1911, on his own platform, which he outlines as follows:

Porto Rican Governor Blamed for Crisis.

REGIS H. POST.

Regis H. Post, governor of Porto Rico, probably will lose his office, largely as a result of his failure to control the activities of political leaders in the island, who because their private schemes were blocked, have brought about a situation which leaves the island government without appropriations for running its affairs. Gov. Post is an old neighbor of Theodore Roosevelt. He was sent to Porto Rico by President Roosevelt first as auditor in 1903, later was made secretary of the government there, and finally governor.

LIGHTS AID SUN, NOT MOON

CARS ARE RARE; SO IS MAIL.

Just a Few of Faults Alleged by Improvement Association.

A loud cry for a greater and better Cheltenham went up from a meeting of the improvement association of that part of the city, held at 253 Seventy-ninth street last evening. Cheltenham wants parks, more street cars, more street lights, and more mail deliveries.

According to statements made by citizens at the meeting the street lights in Cheltenham burn steadily all day, but go out at night. The city maintains oil lamps in that quarter, and the residents charge the lamps are filled every morning and lighted at the same time. By the time night comes the oil is almost or quite burned out, and the lamps die out shortly after darkness sets in.

Other citizens complained that the city is laying sidewalks with no regard to street lines, in many cases the walks being a foot or more out of line. Still others denounced the mail deliveries. There is only one each day, they said, and sometimes that fails to materialize.

Street Car a Curiosity?

"Who would think that we live in the great metropolis of Chicago?" demanded one irate Cheltenham dweller. "We might just as well live in some backwoods settlement where a street car is a curiosity and all the folks go down to the station when the daily train comes in.

"We pay taxes enough, but what do we get for it? We pay for street lights and then stumble home in the dark. And when it comes to keeping on the sidewalk the soberest citizen has his difficulties. The way the city is putting them down now the sidewalks out this way don't track. Sometimes you are on the sidewalk and sometimes in the street."

"Yes, and even Uncle Sam sometimes forgets we are on the map," exclaimed another irate Cheltenhamite. "You don't see a mail carrier out here any oftener than you see a policeman, and that's seldom enough. We used to boast of a delivery of mail at least once every day, but now and then they skip a day and we don't get any at all. Why, they do better than that on the rural free delivery out in the farming districts."

Want Park and a Subway.

It was decided to petition the south park board to establish a small park north of Seventy-ninth street instead of in South Chicago in the vicinity of Bessemer park, as is contemplated. The citizens also want a subway under the Lake Shore and Pennsylvania tracks at Seventy-ninth street in order that street car connections with Cottage Grove avenue may be effected.

Ald. Emerson of the Eighth ward was present and indorsed all of the reforms demanded. A. C. Sontag was elected president of the improvement association.

"Let your Malted Milk be HORLICK'S. Everybody knows why. A nourishing lunch, at fountain, hotel, or home. An ideal food-drink for all Ages."

GERMAN CLUB IGNORES SUIT

MUST LINE UP WITH OTHERS

Receiver Says Plaintiff Bondholder Will Get No Preference.

A default judgment of $205 was entered against the Germania Männerchor corporation by Judge Uhlir in the Municipal court yesterday in favor of M. Bernard, who sued for payment of two $100 bonds, which became due May 1, 1909.

Bernard was represented in court by Attorney Harry J. Lurie. No one appeared for the Männerchor corporation. Because of receivership proceedings instituted on Tuesday, Bernard will be forced to line up with other creditors and will not be in a position to realize at once on the judgment.

"I have not yet decided what action to take in the matter," said Attorney Lurie. "We are waiting to see what other bondholders will do. It was known Bernard would sue for payment of the bonds he held and receivership proceedings were arranged to keep him from attaching personal property of the club. There is certainly some recourse in such a transaction. Mr. Bernard is a Chicago business man."

Says Man Is Not a Member.

Edward G. Halle, former president of the Germania Männerchor, now acting as receiver, said:

"This man Bernard is not a member of the club and never has been. When the 5 per cent bonds were issued twenty years ago no registry of them was kept and they have subsequently been sold and resold so that we have no idea where they all are. Bernard evidently had two of them. We do not expect to pay any attention to the case in the Municipal court because he will not be able to do anything.

"You know the original issue of bonds was about $160,000. Of that amount we have retired over $20,000. Now it is the intention of the corporation to retire all of these and issue new bonds, probably at 4 per cent. We would like to pay less interest if possible.

"Many of these bonds already have come in and we anticipate little trouble in getting the old issue in and the new issue out. We were afraid Bernard's action would make other bondholders believe the corporation was in trouble and therefore hinder the new bond issue."

Club Conveys Its Property.

Under the direction of the receiver a supplemental trust deed, giving additional security on the bond issue of the club, dated May 1, 1889, and due May 1, 1909, was filed of record during the day. The additional security conveyed to the Illinois Trust and Savings bank, trustee under the original trust deed, consists of paintings, furniture, carpets, billiard and pool tables, glassware, china, kitchen utensils, and all personal and real and mixed property of the männerchor, including dues unpaid, due, and yet to become due, moneys and bills receivable.

The German club is to be allowed to retain its present quarters as long as it lives up to the new agreement.

Bankruptcy Proceedings Before Judge K. M. Landis Are Dismissed.

BANK FILES OBJECTION.

Court Overrules, However, and Appeal Will Be Taken by Libertyville Institution.

Another step was taken in clearing up the tangled affairs of A. Booth & Co. yesterday when Judge Landis, on motion of the petitioners, dismissed the bankruptcy proceedings which have been pending in his court since the receiver was appointed by Judge Kohlsaat of the United States Circuit court. There was one slight hitch in the proceedings when the Lake County National bank of Libertyville, through its attorney, Frank T. Murray, objected to the dismissal of the bankruptcy proceedings and sought to become a co-petitioner with other creditors.

Judge Landis promptly overruled the objections of the Libertyville bank and declined to let it become a party to the bankruptcy proceedings at this late day, whereupon Attorney Murray declared that he would take an appeal from the order of Judge Landis.

"Before the appeal is taken," said Judge Landis, "the chief officer of the bank will appear and be examined on the question of why the action taken by the Lake County National bank was not taken before."

"I think such explanations are not material," replied Attorney Murray.

"The court uses its own judgment on whether it is material or not," answered the court, and the matter ended.

Foresees No Delay.

John Barton Payne, attorney for P. A. Valentine, who has been at work on the plans for reorganizing the Booth company, said the action of the Lake County National bank will not delay matters and that the reorganization will go through as scheduled.

"There will be no difficulty about carrying out our plan," he said. "I do not like to use harsh language, but it would seem to be an effort on the part of the bank to collect its note in full and in preference to the other creditors. I don't think the effort will be successful. Ninety-five per cent of the creditors have signed the agreement to settle on the basis offered to the creditors' committee. The only thing now remaining is to carry out the sale of the property through the receiver, and that will be done soon."

Mr. Murray did not care to be quoted about the position of his clients, the Lake County National bank. "I was only called in a few days ago, and as we are creditors, we thought we should be permitted to become parties to the bankruptcy proceedings, and we object to the dismissing of the petition. We are not trying to hold up anybody, but I can't say what our plans are or what motive we have in taking action at this time. All I care to say is that we shall appeal from Judge Landis' order."

Deems Explanation Unnecessary.

"Will the officers of the bank explain their action in court?" he was asked.

"That is not necessary," replied Attorney Murray. "My opinion is that the rules of practice are that we can petition the Circuit Court of Appeals to grant us a writ of error from the lower court and that the lower court will have nothing to do with it. Of course, in courtesy to Judge Landis, we would not do that until we had first asked him to grant us our appeal".

The Lake County bank has a note for $5,000 of the National Commercial company of St Louis, one of the Booth subsidiary companies. It is alleged in the petition that A. Booth & Co. is the indorser on the note and therefore liable. This note, as well as one other held by the same bank, was scheduled with the receiver appointed by Judge Kohlsaat, and up to the present time the bank has made no effort to become a party to the proceedings before Judge Landis, although they have been pending since two days after the receiver was appointed

ACTUARIES FORM AN INSTITUTE.

Will Press for Special Training for Their Craft in Colleges and Universities.

The American Institute of Actuaries was organized at a meeting in the Auditorium hotel yesterday. Its purpose is to secure a training for actuaries in colleges and universities and to maintain a high standard among actuaries engaged in life insurance and other businesses. The officers elected for the first year are:

Vice president—Lucien McAdams, Chicago.
Secretary—J. Charles Seitz, Chicago.
Thearsurer—H. S. Vail, Chicago.
Librarian—E. L. Carter, Chicago.
Board of governors—O. J. Arnold, Chicago; F. A. Draper, Pierre, S. D., and the officers.

YALE BOYS SWIM TO SAFETY

After Hours on Upturned Boat They Reach Shore, Exhausted.

OHIO GETS MORE VICTIMS.

Small Vessel Sinks When Five Pittsburg Men Try Crossing.

DROWNINGS OF THE YEAR.............153

New Haven, Conn., May 12.—[Special.]—After clinging for four hours to the bottom of their overturned boat, three members of the Yale sophomore class saved their lives by swimming as the craft sank, near the outer breakwater of New Haven harbor. They were not discovered until ten hours later, when they were picked up half frozen and famished. They were William D. Bishop Jr. of Bridgeport, Chanter Cornish of Yonkers, and Everett O. Waters of New York City.

The three sailed yesterday afternoon from Pond Point, near Bridgeport, for New Haven harbor. A mile from the entrance of the harbor a heavy squall capsized the boat and the trio were thrown out, clinging to the boat.

Their vessel continued to sink, but the wind blew it toward the breakwater and at midnight, as they felt it settle, they started to swim for the breakwater wall. The boat settled into the water just after they had left it.

Three More Drown at Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—[Special.]—Refusing to pay 1 cent toll apiece over the river bridge, five men today piled into an old scow and tried to cross Youghiogheny river at McKeesport, a suburb. The scow sank when in the middle of the river, letting the five down into deep water. Three were drowned.

The two men rescued owe their lives to the prompt work of 500 children who were at play in a schoolyard near by. The children threw out planks and sticks enough to assist the almost exhausted men to get to shore.

One of the men rescued said the quintet had heard there was some work at Glassport and they decided to walk there. Being short of money, it was decided to avoid the bridge by rowing across in the old scow.

First Accident Claims Twenty-three.

Twenty-three lives are know to have been lost by the sinking of the overladen launch Graham in the middle of the Ohio river below Pittsburg last night. Ten bodies have been taken from the water and it is certain there are thirteen others in the river.

When the search for the bodies began today fully 10,000 persons were on the banks of the river. Many of them were women relatives of the missing men. Early in the day seventy-five men were put at work dragging the river for bodies.

John Graham, the aged father of the man who was running the boat that sank, is almost crazed with grief. His daughters in their houseboat kept coffee ready all day for the searchers and otherwise assisted in the hunt for the bodies.

There is indignation here over the fact that the tow boat Tornado swept by the drowning men last night, and its waves are thought to have brought death to some who would have swum out under other conditions. Those rescued declare they cried to the passing Tornado and the crew answered them with a laugh, continuing on their way.

BY I. E. SANBORN.

George Browne, late Cub and former Dove and Giant, turned Senator between cereal and demi-tasse yesterday and showed Cantillon's men how to win a game of baseball. Although Browne himself did not negotiate the plate, his example and his three base hits contributed noticeably to the overthrow of the White Sox by a score of 6 to 2 in the third game of the series.

The recent Cub outfielder was sold by President Murphy of the Cubs to the Washington club in the morning, notice that all seven National league clubs had waived claim having been received the day before. Manager Cantillon lost no time in fitting George out with a toga, intending only to look him over in preliminary practice, but Brownie loosened up so gingerly that it was decided to shove him into the fray before he had been introduced to all of his fellow statesmen. Center field was assigned him in place of Milan, and before it had gone far Manager Joe was shaking hands with himself.

Owen on the Slab.

Frank Owen was chosen for the slab work, but without the assistance of his plural namesake. At that Yip would have given the Senators a good argument if his supporters had not failed him in the second round. A couple of boots there let in two unnecessary runs, and when Ganley cracked open the fifth with a two bagger through Isbell Manager Billy allowed it was not Owen's lucky day. He made a hurry up switch to Scott of Wichita, and before the young man from Isbellville could settle to business the Senators had the game in the ice cooler with the help of one more Sox error.

The Sullivans ought to have won easily in spite of all the runs handed the enemy, for they had their hitting sticks in commission and outbatted the visitors by a couple of swats on the day's work. But they have become so accustomed to making hitless runs that they have forgotten the combination which makes them by swatting. Ten white legged runners left on the sacks tell the story of wasted opportunities. Once the Sullivans had the bases full and only one out, yet failed to score a run because Manager Bill and Tannehill struck out in the pinch. This so peeved Lee that he kicked himself out of sight and let Purtell finish the job at third, while the manager benched himself before the game was over to let George Davis perform with the stick. Only a rattling good play by Conroy kept George from breaking up the game with a stinger close to third base which ought to have been a double but was turned into a double play.

Browne Fools Tannehill.

Browne opened the battle by catching Tannehill napping with a bunt and beating it so far Lee did not throw the ball. George got no farther than second while the next three were being disposed of. Hahn opened the Sox half by rapping one through Freeman, but went no farther than did Browne.

The second saw the beginning of the bobbles. Owen struck out Clymer, but passed Conroy. McBride followed with a single to left, on which Wid made third. Manager Bill sent his infield back to lay for a double play to shut off the run and his dope was perfect. Street hit sharply to Parent, who whipped the ball to Atz, starting the double play all right, but Jakey relayed it to the new lidless seats instead of to Isbell. Conroy scored and Street reached second. Smith was hit, and Browne cut a single into left, but Pat tore in, holding Street on third. Ganley hit to Parent, who fumbled, letting in the second run; then Freeman forced Bob by way of Parent.

The Sox showed a great form reversal in the third, giving Owen grand support. First Altizer raced over toward right and pulled down a hit which Delehanty meant for a home run. Then Clymer hit one to the right field bleachers and ought to have had three bases on it, but perfect winging by Hahn and Atz nailed him by a step at third base, after which Atz ate up a hot roll from Conroy. Tannehill opened the Sox half with a single, but was forced at second by Owen and nothing came off.

Sox Buds Fail to Blossom.

In the fourth the Sullivans ought to have made half a million. Isbell led with a clean single and when Altizer bunted Freeman foozled the ball so badly that Dave was safe and Isbell sneaked all the way to third. Atz fouled out and then Smith showed his brains by passing Parent and striking out Sullivan and Tannehill, retiring the side runless. Lee objected to the third strike so eloquently that he was ordered out of the game by Connolly.

The fifth brought more woe for the fans. Ganley led with a wallop past first base for two corners. Scott was called upon to relieve Owen. While he was getting his aim Ganley stole third, Freeman drew a pass and stole second, both scoring in a walk when Delehanty smashed a two bagger far out over left center. Manager Cantillon, who was coaching, tricked Scott into making a bad play on Clymer's grounder, the youngster throwing to third too late to get Delehanty. But after Conroy popped out Del was caught and run to death in an attempted double steal with Clymer. Purtell made a good stop of McBride's bounder, but threw low to first and every one was safe. McBride started to steal and, although he was headed off, he gave the Sox a chase until Clymer could score from third.

Scott Leads a Rally.

In their half the Sox scored their only runs. Scott led the rally with a clean single to center. Hahn popped out, but Dougherty singled and Isbell poled out a double to left center, on which Scott scored. Altizer rapped to McBride, who tried to nail Isbell at third, but missed him, and Dougherty scored. Atz popped out again, and when Dave and Issy tried the double theft the latter was nailed at the pan.

Singles by Altizer and Parent, with another pop-up by Atz sandwiched between them, caused Cantillon to switch pitchers in the eighth. Sullivan sent Davis to bat for him and George rapped a hot one close to third. Conroy came up with it in one hand, stepped on third and doubled Davis up at first, ruining the good opening. Johnson's double and Browne's safe carom off Isbell's shins scored Washington's sixth run in the ninth. The Sox tore off a pair of hits after two were out in their half. Nothing doing. Score:

NOTES OF THE WHITE SOX.

Washington once more today.

George Browne started off like a whale, and at that rate will not have to worry about the climate of Minneapolis for a few seasons.

Owen was the only one of the four twirlers who failed to get a base hit, and he came near it with a foul the first and only chance he had.

Neither Cantillon nor Sullivan has presented the same front twice during this series, but may deal the cards today the same as yesterday.

Browne went down to second on his hit against Isbell's shins in the ninth, but tripped over the base and fell down so far away from it that the ball was there before he could get back.

McBride was chiefly responsible for Atz's wild throw to first in that attempted double play in the second inning. He came into the bag in such a way that Jakey had to throw over him to get the ball away and ruined his aim. But that is part of the great pastime.

Umpires are getting a bit careless about informing the bugs of substitute batsmen. Connolly neglected to introduce Graveyard Welday when he officiated for Scott in the ninth. Yesterday Egan had the same lapse of speech when Blankenship was sent up in McBride's place. Not all the fans see as many games as the umpires do.

Parent executed a neat play on Freeman's line drive in the seventh. Ganley had singled right before it and the Sox were looking for a sacrifice from Jerry, who tried to cross them by soaking the ball in the nose. But Parent jumped sideways and pinched the fly, then had Ganley so far off first that Bob did not even try to get back.

Reports from Des Moines yesterday had President Comiskey and Manager Cantillon gracing the opening of the Western league season there. As both these celebrities were present in person at the south side performance, it is presumed the "mysterious stranger" is getting in his work among the minors now that the gates of the majors are barred to him. And there must have been two of him to deceive the Iowa scribes so cruelly.

With Delehanty on second and nobody out in the third Clymer hit to Scott. "Third base! Third base!" yelled Cantillon from the lines, and Scott mistook it for Isbell's voice, throwing to third too late and losing Clymer besides. Isbell walked over and told his protégé that Joe was several kinds of a short card man and to disregard his siren calls hereafter. By that trick Manager Cantillon gained a run, as events proved.

It was Manager Sullivan's intent to pitch Walsh against the visitors, but Big Ed failed to show up and investigation proved he was chained to his room with a severe cold and threats of tonsilitis, with orders from an M. D. to stay there until the irritation in his pipes subsided. Although Ed had been complaining of a cold for several days, it is believed the tonsilitis germ was absorbed while holding down Frank Smith's hoodoo in the clubhouse the day before which makes a triple plated martyr out of the Meriden star.

MURPHY MAKES CLEAN SWEEP.

Browne Sold to Washington, Coakley to Louisville, and Chic Fraser May Farm It.

Besides disposing of George Browne to the Washington club of the American league yesterday, President Murphy of the Cubs reduced the numerical strength of his team by accepting an offer from the Louisville club of the American association for Pitcher Andy Coakley, waivers having been secured from the rest of the National league clubs on both men.

The deal for Browne was completed by telephone in the morning, Manager Cantillon agreeing to pay the regular waiver price of $1,500 for the release of the former Giant. The boss of the Senators had talked with Browne the day before and agreed upon terms with him, consequently the completion of the deal was effected quickly and Browne was able to play in the afternoon against the Sox. This is Browne's first venture in the American league, but he has drawn salary from two world's champion clubs in the National. His home is in Washington.

Vice President Chivington of the Colonels completed the deal for Coakley after an extended conference with President Murphy of the Cubs. Coakley was a third party to the confab part of the time. At first Andy objected to being disposed of to a minor league, but finally accepted the inevitable and probably will join the Colonels within a few days. He was a member of the Cub outfit for only a few weeks at the close of last season, having been obtained from Cincinnati. He was dissatisfied at being left out of a share of the world's series profits last fall, although he was ineligible to take part in any of those games.

Chic Fraser has not yet been disposed of, although waivers have been asked on him. Friends of the veteran pitcher believe he will retire from the game and turn his attention to farming on his Idaho ranch if no major league team claims him.

"Preps" to Play for Soccer Title.

Oak Park and Englewood High schools will meet at Phipps field Saturday morning to settle the high school soccer championship. The teams played a 1 to 1 tie game on April 17 at the Hyde Park grounds, and both have practiced hard since that time for the final match.

NOTES OF THE CUBS.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Pfiester and Mathewson may try it tomorrow.

Meyers' smash in the ninth might have gone for a home run if it had been necessary.

Johnny Evers has a habit of hitting safely the first time up and then resting for the balance of the afternoon.

Pat Moran has six hits to his credit out of eight times up during the series. He likes the left handers, and wouldn't care if McGraw pitched 'em every day.

The sun bothered Artie Hofman in the first inning. He started back toward the fence for McCormick's drive, then had to turn and come in full speed to make the catch.

There was another good crowd in attendance. New Yorkers appear to be as much interested in the Cub games as if the two clubs again were fighting for the pennant.

Marquard fanned Sheckard, Schulte, and Chance in a row in the third and fourth, and would have added Steinfeldt to his consecutive victims if Meyers had been able to hold a tip foul.

Bridwell's hit in the ninth, which hit O'Hara, was a ball hard to dodge. If the Irisher had managed to get out of the way the drive probably would have scored him with the winning run.

Steinfeldt made a flashy catch off Doyle in the third and robbed Larry of a hit. The former Three Eye leaguer caught one on the nose and sent it on a line toward left. Steiny almost fell over, and came up with the ball sticking in his mitt.

BY R. W. LARDNER.

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Big Chief Meyers, he break up big ball game with heap big triple in big ninth inning, yes. He shoot Cubs full of heap big holes today. He beat small bear cubs 3 to 2.

He beat 'em. Big Indian chief he whack out three base hit with two men out and brave Bridwell on first base, and drive in winning run against Big Jeff Overall. And that wasn't all the big chief did. He also slapped out a single that tied up the game in the seventh when the Cubs looked like easy winners, notwithstanding the fact that Rube Marquard was pitching like a house afire.

There was no reason on earth why McGraw should allow his second catcher to work two days in succession, for Admiral Schlei was feeling all right and it was his turn. But Muggsy thought the Rube and Indian would make a good combination, and so it proved. Rube was good except in two innings, during which the Cubs scored all the runs they got, which were not enough.

McGraw Crosses Cubs.

Again McGraw crossed us by making every one believe that either Christie Mathewson or Bugs Raymond would work. So strong was this belief that it would be a right hander that the Cubs practiced their batting against Higginbotham, and had forgotten what left handed pitching looked like when they got into the game. Notwithstanding that fact, they gleaned two tallies before the New Yorkers had one, and appeared to be winners all the way until the Indian got in his work. It was another hair raising finish, just as exciting as Tuesday's, though not as pleasant. The Giants came up for their last regular chance with the count tied at 2-all.

O'Hara, a Baltimore youth, opened the round with a double between Hofman and Sheckard. This was mighty promising for New York, but the Irishman and Al Bridwell acted in concert to pull Overall out of the hole after Devlin had been put out of the way. Devlin, of course, was up to sacrifice after O'Hara had smashed out his two cushion shot. He failed in his intent and finally died on a high fly to Tinker. Bridwell caught one squarely on the nose, addressing it to left field. If it had gone through it certainly would have sent O'Hara to third and might have scored him, but he was unable to get his small frame out of the way and was hit in the left hip. This removed him from a threatening attitude and gave Bridwell credit for a single.

Indian Makes a Start.

So, with Al on first and one run needed to win, Chief Meyers came forward and swatted the first ball pitched almost to the nearest elevated station. Neither Schulte nor Hofman had a chance to make the catch, but both ran after the ball as if their lives depended on its recovery. They caught up with it all right, but only after it had collided with the fence. Hofman made a despairing throw toward the diamond, Joe Tinker turned and saw Bridwell already going across the plate, and then directed his feetsteps towards the clubhouse.

It was all over and the big crowd swarmed around Meyers, patting him on the back, and attempting to carry him off the field as if the victory meant the pennant for New York. It was a nice game for the Giants to win. They were the underdogs up to the seventh when Meyers' first safe smash enabled them to tie up the count. Their case looked hopeless up to that time, although Overall appeared to be growing weaker instead of stronger, and the $11,000 beauty was growing better all the time.

The champions started just as in yesterday's scrap, Evers leading off with a hit and Chance scoring him. This time Johnny's wallop was good for only one base. Sheckard laid down the necessary sacrifice and Shulte was the victim of Tenney, Evers resting at third. The Peerless Leader delivered a single past Devlin and Johnny was in before the ball reached McCormick. Cap stole second, but Bridwell threw out Steinfeldt. The Giants had a fair chance to tie in their half. Tenney hit safely past Tinker and Doyle fanned after trying in vain to sacrifice. Capt. Fred made up for it, however, by stealing second. Then, on a hit and run play, McCormick lined to Hofman and Tenney, scurrying back to the bag, was able to reach third before Artie could get the ball thither. Murray hit the sphere hard, but Tinker got him, thanks to Chance's nice scoop.

Schulte Scores One.

O'Hara started the third with a single and stole second the first ball pitched to Devlin. Walloping Arthur went out, however, and O'Hara was run to earth at third on Bridwell's hopper to Tinker. That was the only opportunity to make good offensively until the fateful sixth. The Cubs had hopes of getting another run margin in the fifth, which Moran opened with a Texas league two bagger to right. Overall sacrificed, but the next two were easy.

In the sixth Wildfire Schulte hit cleanly over second, was bunted ahead and reached third on a wild pitch. Steinfeldt scored him with a single up against the right field bleachers, Murray doing well not to let the ball hit the woodwork behind him. Steiny was caught stealing a moment later.

A pass and another single counted for nothing in the seventh, Evers and Sheckard flying to various parts of the outfield when it depended on them. Moran singled with two down in the first half of the ninth, but Big Jeff was the victim of Marquard's own ingenuity. The Giants made a tying tally in the seventh. Bridwell went all the way to second on Tinker's bad throw of his bounder. Meyers feinted at bunting once and then singled to center, Al coming across. Marquard sacrificed, but Hofman made a pretty catch of Tenney's drive and doubled the Indian off second. Score:

STAR PLAYERS MAY WARBLE

BANG-UP SONGS ON THE CARD

Walsh, White, Mathewson, and Moran Will Sing in Quartet.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

New York, May 12.—[Special.]—Four of the best known ball players in the big leagues will be seen on the vaudeville stage next fall and winter.

A quartet consisting of Ed Walsh and Doc White of the Chicago White Sox, Christy Mathewson of the New York Giants, and probably Pat Moran of the world's champion Cubs has been formed and has been offered booking by one of the biggest vaudeville agencies in the United States. All four men have signified their willingness to appear before the footlights with the exception of Moran, who has not been convinced that it will be just as easy to face the public and sing as to turn his back to the bugs and catch.

However, Pat probably will make up his mind to go through with the plan. The quartet should be a popular one around the big city vaudeville circuit, which includes all the towns of both the major leagues. In it will be the American league's premier pitcher and its star left-hander, the National league hurler who ranks as high as any of them, and the first catcher on the world's champion team. A baseball sketch will be written for the four and they probably will appear in their uniforms. Plans have been started to rehearse from the end of the season until Nov. 1. On that date their first appearance will be made either in Chicago or New York. "Doc" White's vocal powers are not of an unknown quality or quantity. He has sung in the churches at Washington and could go on the stage as soloist and make a hit. He will be first bass in the quartet; Christy Mathewson, who won fame as a songster while at Bucknell college, will be second bass; Pat Moran, second tenor, and Ed Walsh, first tenor.

Champaign, Ill., May 12.—[Special.]—Chicago smashed tradition by defeating Illinois on Illinois field today, 3 to 1. It was the first time since 1899 that the Maroons have humbled the Illini here and the fans are downcast.

Pat Page was the chief factor by his pitching, holding the Orange and Blue batters safely at critical times and keeping their hits scattered. Page's time of trial was in the eighth, when a typical Illinois rally seemed imminent. With two men on and 2,000 rooters cheering madly, Page forced Buzuck, one of Huff's best hitters, to pop up an easy fly.

The Illini made several poor plays on bases, and H. Penn's wildness was a factor, giving the Maroons an early lead in the first, when they scored twice. In the ninth the pitcher's error let in another score. Schaefer's triple scored Capt. Penn in the first with the sole Illinois run. Score:

JACOBSON BECOMES A "PRO."

News That Brother of Purple Twirler Is on Freeport Team Causes Disappointment.

The news of Harry Jacobson's first appearance at Freeport, Ill., in professional baseball was not received pleasantly at Northwestern. He had been counted on as an addition to the pitching for next year. He is a younger brother to Fred Jacobson, star twirler for the purple team this year, and was expected to join the university nine next year. Athletic Director L. O. Gillesby said last night he was disappointed as young Jacobson having once played professional ball could not play on the university nine.

INAUGURAL TEST FOR TURF TODAY

BOOKIES TO BE BARRED.

Huge Crowd Is Expected to See Running of the Metropolitan Handicap.

New York, May 12.—Horse racing on its own merits—racing for the excitement of the sport and with bookmaking eliminated—will have its tryout on the metropolitan circuit tomorrow with the opening of Belmont park, under the auspices of the Westchester Racing association. While the anti-betting laws were in effect during part of last season this was not sufficient to prove conclusively whether racing could survive under the new conditions, and now comes the test.

There will be oral betting this year, as the legality of this method of making wagers has been sustained by the Appellate division of the Supreme court; but in order to keep within the statute passed by the legislature after much pressure had been exerted by a persistent governor, no recording of wagers will be permitted.

Big Crowd Expected.

Adopting every means for increasing receipts, which fell off as the result of the adverse anti-betting legislation, the old admission fee of $3 has been restored at Belmont Park, but indications are that with fair weather the inaugural tomorrow will be witnessed by 20,000 persons eager to witness the start of the "sport of kings," handicapped by legal restrictions, but with prospects of success even under the new régime.

As in former years, the Metropolitan handicap will be the chief feature, albeit reduced in value this year from $10,000 to $5,000. Notwithstanding this there are thirteen entries for the event, which ranks well with the entry lists of days gone by and stands out prominently as compared with the dwindling fields for the less important stakes.

That part of the public which follows the racing game finds itself particularly eager for the opening, not only because of the anxiety concerning the experimental aspect of things but because of the lateness of the season. Heretofore the racing season has started a full month earlier, but it was postponed this year, and in addition the days for racing were reduced to Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays. The meet will come to a close June 2.

Jack Atkin Scratched.

All the horses for the Metropolitan handicap finished their trials yesterday on the Long Island courses. Jack Atkin, looked upon as a likely starter and a probable favorite, will not start. He was scratched, it is understood, because of the almost prohibitive weight of 129 pounds imposed and because his condition indicated that he would run to better advantage in the Toboggan handicap on Saturday. With Jack Atkin out, it is the prevailing opinion in racing circles that King James, one of the Hildreth entries, will go to the post a favorite, with John E. Madden's Fayette second choice.

The Belmont park grounds have been carefully prepared for the opening and with a clear day the scene will be a brilliant one, laws or no laws. It is generally understood that the sheriff of the county in which Belmont park lies, had been instructed by Gov. Hughes to have a squad of deputies available to see that the anti-gambling laws are enforced. The Jockey club, however, has said emphatically that there will be no bookmaking and it is expected that the day will pass unmarred by any police interference whatever.

TRACK MARK EQUALED BY NADZU

Louisville, Ky., May 12.—Nadzu, the favorite, which won the last race, ran a mile and an eighth in 1:53 at Churchill Downs today. This equaled the track record held by Light Wool. Joe Morris easily won the feature event, the Bashford Mannor stakes, at four and one-half furlongs. King Solomon was second and Donau third. These three finished exactly in this fashion in a purse race at the same distance on May 8. The racing was spirited and the crowd large. The weather was clear and the track was fast. Summaries:

First race, 1 1-16 miles—Tom Hayward, 97 [Taplin], $188.10 straight, $94.75 place, $28.70 show, won; Romp, 102 [Warren], $24.10 place, $19.55 show, second; Mellow Mint, 105 [Rice], $11 show, third. Time, 1:46 2-5. Ludhiana, Mrs. Sewall, The Missus, Gerrymander, Kilvany, Lady Ethelyn, Greenbridge, Home Run, Queen's Message, Broadside, Silverado, Schleswig, and Harkaway ran.

Second race, 9-16 mile—King Olympian, 101 [Martin], $48.70 straight, $12.30 place, $10.05 show, won; Slew Foot, 106 [Heidel], $7.95 place, $7.10 show, second; Dick Goodbar, 98 [Page], $22.55 show, third. Time, :53 2-5. Prim Polly, Don Antonio, T. M. Irvin, St. Dunio, and Ethelburg ran.

Third race, handicap, 1 1-16 miles—Gliding Belle, 90 [Martin], $79.15 straight, $20.45 place, $10.70 show, won; Dr. Barkley, 101 [Rice], $9.75 place, $7.15 show, second; Lady Esther, 103 [Warren], $8.35 show, third. Time, 1:45 4-5. First Peep and Direct ran.

Fourth race, 9-16 mile—Joe Morris, 118 [Page], $25.30 straight, $12.95 place, $12.10 show, won; King Solomon, 118 [Preston], $10.80 place, $8.05 show, second; Donau, 118 Kennedy], $13.95 show, third. Time, :53 2-5. The Fad, Eye White, St. Dunstan, Relluf, Topland, Duquesne, Southern Gold, and Frank G. Hogan ran.

Fifth race, ¾ mile—Marbles, 101 [Williams], $24.05 straight, $12.70 place, $7.45 show, won; Gypsy King, 101 [Taplin], $9 place, $6.85 show, second; Merrick, 112 [Preston], $6.30 show, third. Time, 1:12. Roseburg H., Hasty, Fulford, Reb Queen, Usury, Chalice, Harold Hall, Palemon, and Thom McGrath ran.

AMERICANS WIN AT NEWMARKET

NEWMARKET, May 12.—The Wednesday welter handicap of 150 sovereigns for 3 year olds, run here today, was won by L. Winans' Sir Martin. Dusky Slave was second and Houghton third. Nine horses ran.

This was the first appearance of Sir Martin, an American candidate for the Derby, in this country, and the outcome was watched with great interest. Dusky Slave was the favorite at 2 to 1. The price against Sir Martin was 7 to 1.

The Chesterford maiden plate of 200 sovereigns for 3 year olds at six furlongs was won by H. P. Whitney's Sixty II. Crossways was second and Lawn Sand third. Thirteen horses ran.

The Flying Handicap of 10 sovereigns each, with 200 sovereigns added, for 3 year olds and upwards, distance five furlongs, was won by Malwood. H. P. Whitney's Bobbin II. was second, and Pinshead third.

A plate of 200 sovereigns, distance a mile and a half, was won by J. R. Keene's Esperanta. Clarissa was second and the Sweet Duchess filly third.

BLACK OFF TO FIGHT O'BRIEN

JEFFRIES IGNORES CHAMP.

Colored Man Says He Will Force Big Fellow's Hand on His Return.

Jack Johnson, the colored champion, looking in the best of shape, packed bag and baggage and left Chicago last night. Jack will stop at Buffalo today and give a boxing exhibition at Convention hall for the benefit of a newspaper club. He will leave for Philadelphia some time tomorrow, where he is to meet Jack O'Brien in a six round bout before the National Sporting club Wednesday night. A week after his fight with O'Brien he will sail for England to fill a ten weeks' theatrical engagement, and does not expect to return to America until September.

Jack certainly looked fit to give battle to O'Brien next Wednesday night. He has lost considerable superfluous flesh through hard training which he has been doing for the last two weeks on the south side, and claims to weigh 208 pounds.

Says He Will Lick O'Brien.

"Don't worry about me," said Jack when asked about the O'Brien fight. "I'll take care of myself and give O'Brien one of the worst beatings he ever received in a short bout. Take it from me, I am in grand shape, although reports have been going around that I have been lax in my training, and have been dissipating a great deal. I do not let any one tell me how to train, and I have conditioned myself for this fight by hard, conscientious work, and am satisfied that I will be able to carry the milling to O'Brien through the six rounds. I can't say that I will put him away, but that does not mean that I am not going to try. I am going after him from the tap of the bell, and will show the public that I am every bit as scientific a fighter as he is. I am anxious to make a clean cut win over O'Brien and convince some people in this country that I am entitled to be called the heavyweight champion of the world. I'll beat O'Brien, and I'll beat him badly, and when I return to this country I'll give Stanley Ketchel the same dose."

Johnson is bitter toward Jeffries for the way he has acted since he has been in town, and the colored champion had a few things to say about the way the Californian utterly ignored him and his challenges.

Ignored by Jeffries.

"Jeffries is afraid to fight me, and he has shown this by not even acknowledging my challenges and by making any pretense of covering my forfeit money. What right has he got to reclaim the heavyweight title? He relinquished it to Tommy Burns, and I beat Burns in Australia. Then why am I not entitled to the championship? He simply has reclaimed the title to get advertisement for his theatrical work, and before he gets a clear claim to it he will have to fight and beat Jack Johnson. I have given him plenty of opportunities to talk fight terms here. I am going away without even hearing a word from him. I'll make him fight when I return, even if I have to battle for nothing. Yes, I am going to fight Ketchel in the fall before Jimmy Coffroth's Colma club, but under no conditions am I going to fight Sam Langford in England. I do not intend to engage in a fight until I return to America."

Johnson was attired in a nobby brown suit and straw hat, and a score of people of his own color accompanied him to the train. As Jack stood on the steps of the train bidding them good-by they gave a loud cheer for him and called for a speech. Before Jack could say anything the train pulled out.

Jeff on O'Brien Scrap.

When Jeffries was told that Johnson had left town he showed little concern and simply said: "We will attend to his case later." Sam Berger, who is looking after the "Boilermaker's" affairs, promised to say a few things about the proposed match between Jeffries and Johnson when Jeff finishes his theatrical tour.

"If Johnson is in shape he should get the decision over O'Brien in their fight next Wednesday night at Philadelphia," answered Jeff, in response to a question about the bout. "Johnson is bigger and heavier and I think O'Brien is about all in. I do not think the negro can hit hard enough to make the Philadelphian take the count, but I know this much, that Jack O'Brien can go some for six rounds and Johnson will have to be at his best to win the decision."

Jeffries will start hard training on the stage of the theater where he is playing this week. He will do considerable boxing and wrestling and if the weather is favorable will do about five miles on the road. His hand is getting better rapidly and next week Jeff thinks he will be able to do some hard punching with the afflicted member. He continues to pack the theater where he is showing and his work is greatly appreciated.

Weston Slowly Plods Along.

Ellsworth, Kas., May 12.—Edward Payson Weston, who is walking to the Pacific coast, had not reached here at midnight. He left Salina, forty miles east, shortly after noon. He was reported as making good progress despite the rough roads.

Co. H Wins Gibhardt Trophy.

Company H of the First regiment last night won possession of the Gibhardt trophy, competition for which has been in progress through the week at the armory range. The winner shot last night and totaled 324 points, beating company C, which shot earlier in the week, by two points. Company I took third place with 317. Twelve teams of five men from each company took part, the shooting being at [illegible], 300, and 500 yards. The trophy is a perpetual one and is shot for annually.

New leaders cropped up in the eleventh hour squad in the five men event in the Illinois Bowling association tournament last night at Geroux & Schuenemann's alleys when the No. 1 division of the Lincolns rolled into first place with a score of 2,960. For nearly the whole of the series the world's record of the Lipmans, the 2,963 piled up at Pittsburg, was in danger, but the new prospective state champions fell three pins shy of equaling the mark of the jewelers.

Will Flenner led the South Chicago bowlers to victory in the brilliant series in which the team raised 1,000 even in the first game, 1,025 in the second, and 935 in the last. Flenner hit the timber for a count of 655. Ben Brown was next with 610, Charley Collier anchored the club with 597, Ed Guston drew 571, and Gus Steele was dog with 527. The 1,025 game is the high mark in the present meet, beating the Tropics' record by two pins. But one more squad remains unshot in the tournament, and their chances of beating out the Lincolns are not seriously considered by the fans.

Earlier in the day Charley Nelson and Gus Sievers of the Southwest league rolled into third place in the doubles with 1,218.

Rolling with a late squad in the singles, W. "Chuck" Collier of the Lincoln No. 1 hoisted a total of 640 and landed in fourth place. This score, with those in the team event and doubles, gave the Woodlawn player an average of 603 1-3 for all nine games. E. Kraus, another South Chicagoan, took tenth place with 628 pins, while E. Jones and W. Flenner both went over the double century mark. The last named has an average of 602 1-3 for all nine games. Scores:

JULY 17 REMAINS RACE DATE.

C. Y. C. Refuses to Change Plans to Accommodate Canadians—Amorita Case Is Considered.

BY JOHN G. DE LONG.

At a meeting of the boat owners of the Chicago Yacht club held at the Union last night a proposition to change the date of the Mackinac race from July 24 to July 17 failed to carry, and the cruise to the straits will be started on the first named date as originally planned.

The move to set the starting date one week forward was made in the interests of Canadian yachtsmen, some of whom had stated that they would enter the big race providing the C. Y. C. men would accommodate them by changing their plans to conform to requests for the earlier date. While the boat owners present were heartily in favor of having the Canadians enter the race, it was the sense of the meeting that plans for the later date had progressed too far to make a change advisable at this late day.

The stand taken by the owners was largely in the interest of Dr. William L. Baum, who recently purchased the big schooner yacht Amorita with the understanding that the race would be started July 24. Amorita is to start from New York June 5 and will compete in the Bermuda race of the Atlantic and Royal Bermuda yacht clubs, after which it will set sail for Chicago, and it was considered next to impossible for the boat to sail the 4,000 miles to this city and arrive in time to go into dry dock and tune up for the Mackinac race if it was started July 17. It is thought that in spite of the fact the date will remain the same that two or three Canadian entries will be received and pressure be brought to bear upon the dominion yachtsmen to that end.

Judging from the attitude of the owners, Mackinac as a permanent destination for the racing yachts appears to be doomed. It is proposed to change the objective point each year and a committee will be appointed to investigate propositions from a number of northern resorts that are willing to bid for the big event. It was decided that in he future the race should be known as "the Chicago Yacht club's long distance race."

By the unanimous vote of those present it was decided to turn down the suggestion to limit the duties of professionals on board the Mackinac racers and the paid men will be given a free hand as in the past. A proposition to limit the sails on the boats also was lost. The racing schedule for the season as outlined some time ago, was adopted. New feaures of the schedule will be two "owners'" days—June 26 and Aug. 28.

THE LOST WHEEZE.

'Twas a beautiful wheeze that that bright fellow sprung
Of the fighter that won with one nerve and one lung,
And capered away with the wreath on his brow—
It's too bad that we cannot remember it now.

Funny? You'd laugh till you fell in a faint—
He told it so nicely, so droll and so quaint.
'Twas a little bit off, but we said anyhow,
We would print it some day—but can't think of it now.

Kind o' crazy it was, but it sounded so well
That even the bloke with the side whiskers fell.
'Twas the funniest thing we have heard, we'll avow,
But it's funnier still we can't think of it now.

The scheme to place horse racing outside of the pale of the police in Hot Springs showed a lot of speed up to the final quarter, but there it blew. It was going easy passing the senate, but when it swung into the house it saw a committee sitting down in front of it. Possibly its failure was due to a bad ride. If a three-card man were a good diplomat he wouldn't be a three-card man.

The New York Giants apparently have switched to the conclusion that there is more in trying to be respectable than there is in heeling the rough toss gig. Even an umpire can crack it a bit too raw at times. President Johnson has shown us that we should be as considerate of the tenderer feelings of the man who plays the game as we are of those of the red neck gazimbo who presumes too strongly on the protection that organized baseball has thrown about him. If we were a ball player we would swing hard on the indicator holder who reserves the right of the exercise of clumsy persiflage and banks on no chance of a comeback, even though it meant the job.

Tim Hurst, for example, can be horribly humorous at the expense of a man whom he can chase to the bench if he attempts to respond in kind.

Hoagland Leads Milwaukee Walkers.

Milwaukee, Wis., May 12.—At the end of the third night's walk and with the completion of the ninth hour of the twenty-six hours' walking match, W. A. Hoagland of Auburn, N. Y., leads the field of eleven pedestrians, three having dropped out. Hoagland is nine laps ahead of his nearest competitor, George Brown, also of Auburn. Hoagland is now two and three-quarter miles ahead of his previous walking record under similar conditions.

ADD TWO TO AUTO ENTRIES

Nominations for Carnival Events Are Marion Cars.

LIST SHOWS 14 MACHINES.

Eight Are Listed for Light Car Race and Six for Cobe Trophy.

Two more entries were received last night for the light car road race of the Chicago Automobile club which will be run over the Crown Point-Lowell course on June 18, the nominations coming from an unexpected course, being made by H. E. Stutz of the Marion Motor Car company of Indianapolis, who named two Marions.

One car will be driven by Charles E. Stutz and the other by Adolph Monsen, both of them skilled pilots. Both riders drove in the Glidden and many other road events.

The nomination of the two Marions brings the total number of entries in the two races up to fourteen, eight of which are in the light car event and six in the Cobe cup. The entry list is as follows:

Cobe cup—Buick, L. Strang; Buick, L. Chevrolet; Buick, R. P. Burman; Stoddard-Dayton, C. Englebeck; Stoddard-Dayton, B. Miller; Fiat, E. A. Hearne.

Indiana trophy—Moon, P. Wells; Buick, L. Strang; Buick, G. De Witt; Buick, R. Burman; Stoddard-Dayton, Stoddard-Dayton, Marion, C. E. Stutz; Marion, A. Monsen.

KANSAS CITY MAT MEN WINNERS

Capture Two of Three Bouts at C. A. A.—Morgan Only Local Athlete to Score Victory.

Will Morgan was the only Chicagoan to win a bout in the amateur wrestling show at the C. A. A. last night. Morgan took two straight falls from Harry Thorne of Kansas City. The Chicagoan took the first fall in 6:47 with a half nelson and the second in 14:05 with a half nelson and body hold.

Kansas City wrestlers carried off the honors in the other two bouts. Fred Gump won from Gene Durand of the C. A. A., taking the last two falls. He took the second fall with a wrist lock and body hold in 11:27 and the third in 7:12 with a head lock. Durand won the first fall in 2:52 with a roll and body hold. Johnny Nellegar of the C. A. A. lost to George Bradford in straight falls. The Kansas City grappler took the first fall in 14:10 with a toe hold and the second in 14:55 with the same hold.

In the professional bouts Henry Irslinger won a one fall match from "Young" Delviuk in 7:25 with a head lock and body hold. The "Mysterious Conductor" and Jack Leon wrestled fifteen minutes to a draw.

YOU'LL never do yourself a better turn than to drop in here some day soon and look at the suits we sell at $20 and $25. If you've already bought your Spring suit somewhere else, the visit will have added value for you as an object lesson; you'll learn something for next time. If you haven't bought yet, you'll realize what a positive favor we've done you to show you these goods.

They're Hart Schaffner & Marx made; and there's more concentrated value in them at $20 and $25 than the same money will produce anywhere else; its value you can see for yourself. It's in the fine fabrics, the smart colorings and patterns, the style and fit, the perfect tailoring; it's right there in the clothes; you could pay $5 to $10 more elsewhere and not match these at $20 and $25.

You may want to pay more; $30, $35, $40, $50; you'll get the finest clothes that art can produce, at these prices. We're specialists in that sort of thing.

Or if your figure is lower, we'll do exceptionally well for you at $15; a great line of 100 per cent pure wool or worsted suits at $15. We can fit any size, big or little.

For young college and high school fellows we have a great line of very swell clothes; their favorite snappy models, swagger styles and fabrics, extreme fashions; all the new ideas, $15 to $30.

We'll show you boys' clothes at $5 in all best weaves and patterns; nobby styles; others up to $20.

YOU ought to see some of the neckwear we're selling at 50 cents and $1; just-arrived novelties in crocheted and fancy silk scarfs. You ought to be acquainted with these $2 Manhattan shirts; or the great values at $1.50 and on up to $3.50. You ought to know about our fine underwear at $1 a garment.

IF you once get into our hat department we'll "head you off" in one of these $3.50 Stetsons, your size, and color and style. If you say "a little less," a Crofut & Knapp smart hat at $3; if "a little more," a Stetson "Special" at $5; here only. We have Stetson stiff hats at $8 and $10; the finest quality known in hats. Young men's hats, $2.

MR. ALDRICH still has a pretty firm grip on his senate.

NO USE in kicking about that change in your house number. It has to be made.

IN the absence of any information to the contrary, we assume that Mr. Roosevelt caught those leopard cubs with his bare hands.

BRINGING water from the river Jordan to this country has proved to be a losing investment. Nobody wanted it. Anyway, there is a Jordan Springs in Virginia.

A CALIFORNIA woman who was injured in alighting from a street car brought suit against the company and lost her case. It was proved that she wore high heeled shoes. The lesson is obvious.

THE traditionary custom that compels newly elected United States senators to keep themselves bottled up during their first year has been quite thoroughly ripped up the back.

"THERE were Giants in those days," laments the New York World. And truly they were "men of renown." But things have been different since Merkle failed to touch second.

EVEN in Missouri, however, they did not arrest Edward Payson Weston as a "suspicious character"—and they did in Illinois.

PORTO RICO naturally thought it could take liberties with a country that would leave the wreck of one of its battleships lying neglected in a foreign harbor for ten years.

INSTEAD of feeling grateful that the jury did not give him a neck sentence, as it might have done, Capt. Peter Hains insists on having a new trial.

IT appears from the number of financial anchors Abdul Hamid succeeded in casting to windward in the days of his prosperity that he was not so sleepy as he looked.

ANYTHING Uncle Shelby Cullom might say at the present moment concerning those matters that everybody else is talking about would be read with interest by several million persons, if not more.

THE country is waiting for the announcement that Mr. Roosevelt has killed an elephant and a blood sweating behemoth.

AS TO that story told by the Boyles, it is interesting, but it doesn't convince.

NOW THAT so many house numbers have to be changed, it would be a good time for the painters to go on a strike.

THE movement for the abolition of the smoking cars is still in the preamble stage.

ABOUT the only way to "manage" the Ohio river when it feels impelled to go on one of its periodical jamborees is to move back to the hills and watch its yellow flood surge past.

ON the eighty-fifth ballot, which was taken yesterday, Mr. Hopkins received seventy-eight votes for senator. The New Yorks beat the Cubs.

THE THREE RS.

"The boy comes out of school and he can't write an intelligent letter. His work is ungrammatical. It is illegibly written. Half of the words are spelled wrongly. Now, gentlemen, schools that can't teach a boy to write a letter, spell it properly, and phrase it grammatically are failures. And the Chicago schools are not teaching these things."

A leading business man of Chicago, who stands high among his fellows and, presumably, expresses a conviction that is general and not individual, is quoted as using such words of condemnation in a "quiet, confidential way," so the report has it. And then, praising a movement that is winning financial support of more than half a million dollars, he continued: "I am glad that you are collecting money for educational purposes. The city needs you badly."

It is the old story. The charge often made finds added force when thus brought to attention again. Millions of dollars are being spent for instruction in the schools. But when the products of these schools seek for means of livelihood they find themselves utterly unprepared even in the essentials ordinarily indicated by the words, "the three Rs." If such a charge stands against the high school graduate, what is true of the thousands who get no farther than the grammar schools?

This good old English language, so rich in its possibilities, is shamefully neglected. Those who inspect the work when the high school graduate enters college note the distressing conditions as quickly as the keen man of business does. The boys and girls are unable to write English correctly. They know little of grammar. They are deficient in penmanship. They cannot spell. It is not true of Chicago schools alone. The same conditions are observed all over the country. And when a man of affairs who has traveled the path to success calls attention to them in searching words the need of investigation of the courses of study in the schools is all the more apparent. There are many reasons for thinking that they do not provide some of the essential, practical training that the pupils sorely need.

WHICH IS TO PREVAIL?

Today the consolidation bill in all probability will meet its fate.

Is it to be a triumph of patronage allied with prejudice?

Or is it to be a victory for justice and good government?

No other question is involved.

AMERICAN WATCHES.

Watches sold in foreign countries that are in whole or in part of American manufacture and bearing the name and trade mark of American manufacturers should come into the United States duty free.

This is a provision which an association of American retail jewelers is anxious to have incorporated in the tariff bill. A man not in the business may not be able to understand the interest of the retailers. He may not be greatly enlightened when told that they favor the provision because with it they could sell their customers American made watches at a much lower price. He may not be able to understand how a watch which had been sold abroad could be brought back and retailed for less than one that never had left the country.

The ordinary man may ask how it is possible for any American watches to be sold abroad when the manufacturers say the cost of production is so much greater here than in Europe that they have to have an ample measure of protection in order to hold the home market. They are well protected. The cheapest kind of imported watch movements pay the equivalent of a 66 per cent ad valorem duty and the duty on watch cases is 40 per cent.

Oddly enough the American watch manufacturers who cannot get along without protection at home do not need it abroad. They have built up a large and profitable foreign trade by selling watches 40 per cent cheaper than they do at home. And yet, while they are so successful when they have to meet European competition in Europe, they are asking for more protection at home. They went to Washington for it and got it. The Payne bill gives them an 80 per cent duty and the Aldrich bill a 76 per cent duty. Either duty would decrease the volume of foreign importations and make more business for the domestic manufacturers.

An American retail jeweler can buy in London a lot of American made watches for a much lower price than he has to pay at home. If he could import them duty free he would be able to sell them to his customers at a considerable reduction. They would get cheaper watches and he would have more trade. Why should not he be allowed to import them free of duty? The American manufacturer should not need protection against his own goods, the product of American labor.

Yet he will insist on having it. There is little hope of the adoption of the amendment, because it would interfere to a certain extent with the policy of the manufacturers to make American consumers pay much higher prices than foreign consumers are charged for the same goods.

IT WOULD BE POETIC JUSTICE.

When the Young Turks took possession of the Yildiz kiosk they confiscated whatever money Abdul Hamid had in his treasure vault. They hold that it belongs to the state, which needs all the money it can get. They would like to lay their hands on the large sums which are deposited to his credit in English, French, and German banks. It is thought possible that he intrusted a part of his treasure to banks on this side of the Atlantic. But for obvious reasons the financial institutions which hold the sultan's cash are unwilling to surrender it without his order. He deposited it in his own name and not that of the Turkish government.

The royalties of Europe would like to see the banks persist in their refusal. They do not wish to see a precedent set which might be used to their harm at a future day. Wise monarchs, aware of the transitory nature of earthly power, are in the habit of putting by emergency funds in other countries. Then, if ousted from office by a revolution, they will have something to fall back on instead of becoming objects of charity. If the right of a new government to follow up and recover the savings of the chief of the old government were to be admitted, European kings and South and Central American presidents would have to work out some new insurance scheme.

If the banks were to disgorge the sultan's money in violation of bank rules it could be used to excellent purpose. The massacres of Christians in Asia Minor last month, with accompanying destruction of property, were instigated by Abdul Hamid. Some American missionaries were among his victims. Some of the property destroyed or looted belonged to American missionaries. The American government will demand the punishment of the murderers if they can be found. It will require all property losses to be made good. These are demands which the Turkish government will have to comply with.

With a few exceptions the sufferers in Asia Minor are Turkish subjects. The money of the man who did so much evil could not be better employed than in ministering to the needs of the widows and orphans Abdul Hamid made and in making good property losses due to him. If there were an assurance that his deposits would be used exclusively as an Armenian relief fund the banks might be more inclined to give them up.

A REAL REFORM OR NONE.

If a full and unanswerable test of the civic morals of the present legislative session is required by any citizen it is provided him in the present fate of the state institutions administration bill.

If the people of Illinois are not sunk in political inertia they will not allow this outrage to be threatened without protest or perpetrated without punishment.

THE TRIBUNE cannot believe that the emasculation and worse than defeat of this measure of humanitarianism and enlightened public policy will be permitted. But its fate is gravely in doubt and the destructive forces are now dominant.

In behalf of the commonwealth whose funds are wasted in the manipulation of these institutions, in behalf of the unfortunates whose needs are grossly neglected, in behalf of the community whose social welfare urgently requires a more intelligent dealing with the problems of our penal system, in behalf of the humane people of this state whose moral sense demands that these evils shall end, THE TRIBUNE calls upon the governor and the leaders of both parties, and upon every legislator who is willing to place the public welfare above the claims of self-interest and unscrupulous partisanship.

The charities administration bill should be passed with all its original, essential provisions intact. If it is to be emasculated, the friends of this reform should unite to defeat it.

We want a genuine reform or none. We want no bogus edifice to cover the truth and quiet conscience with the delusion that evil is safely buried. We want reality—the reality of substantial betterment, or the reality of recognized defects.

There is a place for reasonable compromise in most public matters. There is no need of it here. The conscience of the people demands that these institutions be removed at last from patronage politics, and we demand a clear field and an open fight, if fighting is to be.

A SANER FOURTH.

Representatives from more than half a hundred cities are assembled in Pittsburg this week. They are to consider the great subject of play. Great, because the city is attracting its increasing multitudes, and the problems of play are fundamental to the development of healthy boyhood and girlhood, and eventually, of course, of strong and healthy citizenship.

The occasion is the third annual congress of the Playgrounds Associations of America. There are to be addresses on the value of playgrounds, on story telling, on playground equipment. There are to be folk dances by the school children appealing to the people of the many nationalities of Pittsburg's population. There are to be field and track events for the eager athletic boys.

There is to be a game festival, when more than 200 teachers will play the games taught the children. Each game has its symbolic meaning. There is constant thought of the needed activity implied in the game, but care will be taken to show how each also helps to instill in the mind of the child courtesy, love of nature, obedience, patriotism, respect for the world of labor, reverence, justice, or some other important elemental factor in child life.

This is the company of earnest men and women who are to consider also a safer and saner Fourth of July celebration. No repressive legislation will suffice to bring about the desired change unless a satisfactory substitute is furnished for the conventional, haphazard celebration that has been attended by so many accidents and deaths. It may be possible that the play idea, with its accompaniments of athletic contests, folk dances, games, and music in the open air is to furnish the solution of a perplexing problem. The Springfield (Mass.) plan of a parade of all nations and picnic during the day, with elaborate fireworks at night under the supervision of the city authorities, is meeting with favor.

One thing is clear. There must be proper outlet for the energy and enthusiasm of childhood, and these are the things the Playgrounds Associations of America are studying with observing eyes and careful thought.

IN A MINOR KEY.

His Preference.

Farmer (showing him his live stock)—"These are my Jerseys. Ever see any finer cows?"

City Visitor—"They are certainly fine specimens. Still, I have always thought that if I were buying a cow for my own use I should prefer the—er—Early York breed."

If This Should Meet the Eye; Etc.

"How does your wife like the new flat?"

Cooking Up a Reason.

Fan—"That's the kind that thickens, isn't it?"

Where They Are All Tried Out.

Teacher—"What do you understand by the word 'problem'?"

Pupil—"Any question that comes up in Chicago."

Sounds Plausible.

"What is your principal object, anyhow," asked the visiting foreigner, "in building that Panama canal?"

"Well," answered the native, "we have an idea it will limit the size of future battleships."

No Trouble About That.

"But how," they asked Jonah, "did the whale get back into deep water after depositing you on dry land?"

"I believe," said Jonah, "the commentators explain that on the theory that the whale waited for the return of high tide. Sounds reasonable, doesn't it?"

Satisfactory Assurance.

Mrs. Upsome—"Dr. Mary Walker makes fun of the spring styles of hats."

Mrs. Goodsole—"I'm so glad to learn that the dear old lady is still alive."

Willing to Help the Cause.

Philanthropic Person (with subscription paper)—"We are raising a fund to prosecute the white slavers. Can you assist us?"

Baseball Magnate—"Sure! I've just disposed of two of my players and got a good cash price for them. Hundred dollars be enough?"

MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

DURING the last twelve or thirteen years of the reign of Queen Victoria one of the most notable, not to say influential, members of her entourage was her Indian secretary, then Munshi Hafiz Abdul Karim, who has just died in the utmost obscurity at Agra. One of the first and most popular acts of King Edward on his accession to the throne was to pension off the munshi, and to ship him to India along with his wives and his dusky attendants, for the munshi had managed to make himself universally disliked by his extravagant pretensions, by his arrogance, and by the trouble which he was constantly making and giving.

Queen Victoria was proud of being empress of India, and from the time when Lord Beaconsfield won a high place in her regard by causing her to be proclaimed kaisar-i-hind she availed herself of every opportunity to manifest her regard for the people of her great oriental dependency. It was after the Indian and colonial exhibition in London in 1886 that the queen caused one of the government native clerks of the Indian department at South Kensington to be sent to Windsor, with the idea of his becoming a species of superior attendant, of much the same kind as her faithful highland gillie, John Brown.

The munshi played his part well. He presented a dignified and picturesque appearance, and he had not been long attached to the royal household before the people at court and the public at large were amazed to learn that the septuagenarian queen had begun the study of Hindustani under the direction of the munshi.

In spite of her age, and of the overwhelming demands on her time and strength made by the cares and the business of state, she managed to acquire a remarkable knowledge of Hindustani, being able to write and to speak it fluently. She took the ground that it was only right and proper that she should be acquainted with the language spoken by more than 200,000,000 of her subjects, and that the knowledge communicated to the people of India by the native princes who visited her that she was able to converse with them in their own tongue would increase their sentiments of loyalty and attachment towards the British crown.

What, however, the good queen failed to understand was that the compliment which she paid to the vassal rulers of India by speaking to them in Hindustani, without the assistance of an interpreter, was in a measure nullified by their irritation at the favor and importance accorded by her majesty to a man so inferior in their eyes as the munshi.

The munshi took advantage of the queen's regard for him to give no end of trouble. He surrounded himself with female relatives who had to be secluded from masculine gaze, and in order to secure the necessary privacy for them he obtained from the queen some of the most desirable residences at Windsor, at Balmoral, and at Osborne. He also imported a number of native attendants from India, and they as well as he had to have their meat slaughtered in a certain way, and special kinds of food provided to them, while on every railroad journey not one but two cars had to be set aside for their exclusive use, no matter how much the other members of the royal household might be crowded.

If the munshi's demands were not immediately complied with he at once complained to the queen, with unpleasant results for those who had incurred his anger. In fact, the munshi and his Indians were voted an unmitigated nuisance by every one, from the highest dignitaries of the household down to the lowest scullion and stable boy, and there was general rejoicing when they were sent back to Bombay with an intimation that their services were no longer required.

The king, however, always has several Indian orderly officers in attendance at court throughout the season. Each year half a dozen, the pick of the native officers of the Indian regiments, are selected for the purpose, and they come to England for a five or six months term of duty, which is at the same time for them a visit of instruction.

For, while they appear at court at all official ceremonies in the entourage of the sovereign, and take part in state functions and court entertainments as members of his military suite, the remainder of their stay in England is devoted to visiting arsenals, the dockyards, and to making themselves acquainted under competent guidance with the principal phases of English military, naval, industrial, and economic life. Their visit, in fact, is one of education, and when they rejoin their regiments in India they have plenty to tell to their native officers, to their troops, and to their native friends and relatives of the splendor of King Edward's court, and of the greatness and wealth of Great Britain.

It is a sorry fate that has overtaken Sir William Vavasour, now going on towards 70, and who in his younger days served as a zouave in the papal army, and as such helped to defeat Garabaldi at Mentana, and took part in the defense of Rome in 1870 against the Italian troops, for, gazetted as a bankrupt, he is shown not only to be entirely without assets, but without even any means of subsistence, while his estates, including Hazelwood castle in Yorkshire, which has been the home of the Vavasours since Norman times, has been taken possession of by the mortgagees by virtue of foreclosure.

Hazelwood castle was already the home of the Vavasours before the building of the present minster of York in 1290, for it is a matter of historic record that the stone used in the construction of the cathedral at York came from the Thieves Gill quarry on the Hazelwood castle estate, and was given for the purpose by the then master of Hazelwood castle, Sir William le Vavasour.

The Vavasours may be said to be indebted for their name to their rank in the aristocracy. In olden times the latter was divided, according to Bracton, into "emperors, and kings, and princes, counts, barons, valvasors, and knights." In the "Canterbury Tales" the word "Valvasor," or "Vavasour," is used in the prologue to designate a person next in dignity to a baron, but superior to a knight, or a subvassal, and this interpretation is borne out by the fact that Sir Mauger le Vavasour is mentioned in Doomsday Book as being subvassal to the earls of Northumberland with respect to a considerable number of manors and estates.

Strictly speaking, the Vavasour family is extinct. True, there are today two baronets of the name of Vavasour—namely: the now bankrupt and completely ruined Sir William Vavasour, formerly of Hazelwood castle, and the venerable Sir Henry Vavasour, 95 years of age, of Spaldington, in Yorkshire.

Spaldington came into the family through the marriage of John Vavasour to Isabel de la Hayes, heiress of the de la Hayes of Spaldington. His lineal descendant, Thomas Vavasour of Spaldington, died at the end of the seventeenth century without male issue, leaving an only daughter, and for the next 100 years Spaldington passed through a succession of female heirs, until at the end of the eighteenth century Col. Henry North, husband of Anne Yates, great-granddaughter of Thomas Vavasour, obtained permission of the crown to assume the name and arms of Vavasour of Spaldington, and was created a baronet.

As for the parent stem, the Vavasours of Hazelwood, it practically became extinct through the death, unmarried, in 1826 of Sir Thomas Vavasour of Hazelwood castle. He devised his estates to a cousin, the Hon. Edward Stourton, younger son of the sixteenth Lord Stourton. He assumed on succeeding to Hazelwood castle the name and armorial bearings of Vavasour in accordance with the requirements of the testator's will, and was created a baronet. The present Sir William Vavasour is his grandson, and is married to one of the Welds of Ludworth castle, that is to say, one of the most famous Catholic families in England, and which has furnished a number of distinguished prelates to the church of Rome, notably Cardinal Weld.

Cold Kills Many Song Birds.

Great numbers of birds migrating north have been caught here by the cold wave and storm and hundreds have died.

There was one flight of estimated 1,500 cock robins which alighted on the Normal school grounds and have remained here for a couple of days. The next most numerous bird is the hermit thrush, and also there are a few bluebirds. Such a visitation of feathered songsters has never been seen around here before. Citizens generally have provided them with food, as many of them seemed to be in a starving condition.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Sends Thanks for Cartoon.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—May I thank THE TRIBUNE, and through it John McCutcheon, for his cartoon, the "Massacre of the Innocents." The press is such a power, and when papers like THE TRIBUNE lend their columns to such writers as Sidney R. Tabor, Mrs. Bain, and others, as well as Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, who protest against the killing of birds and the cruel trapping of animals for furs, they exert powerful influence against this barbarous practice.

JENNIE W. STEARNS.

Approves Change in Sunday Paper.

Chicago, May 11.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—It was a great pleasure to read your editorial and note the marked change for the better which appears in the "comic supplement" of THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE of May 9, and I want to assure you that I shall look forward confidently to the next step which I am sure you will take at no distant date, and substitute for all of the inartistic, the improbable, and the impossible stories told in so-called "comic" picture form something which will add not only to the pleasure and entertainment of the child readers of your paper but also to their education and cultivation.

I am sure that the percentage of your readers who desire the senseless "comic supplement," which as the Boston Sunday Herald a few months ago wrote "has outgrown its usefulness," will become a rapidly diminishing number as you develop and improve the new features which you have started. I am also sure I am only one of many who take pleasure in reading the "Billy Possum Story" to their children on Sunday.

Your choice of "The Exploits of Pinocchio" could not have been better, for there is probably no fairy tale which so faithfully and judiciously teaches children the importance of truthfulness and obedience, and withal affords them happy entertainment.

With all good wishes for you in the continuance and development of your good work.

ANDREW W. WOODMAN.

"Wonders of the Law."

Chicago, Ill., May 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I noticed with much pleasure your illustration of our jury business. The troubles will never be fewer, nor less, but more and worse under our present jury system. Your "take off" is a fair and good showing of the sham, fraud, and failure of our courts of justice.

There is no remedy, redress, or security to be had under our present plan of selecting jurors, and never will be as long as man can be fixed, bribed, or bought. Yet there is not a paper in Chicago that will take a bold and positive stand against such business—not only that, but "turn down" and black ball one who does.

The Japanese plan of selecting jurors seems to be the only one in sight for betterment. The trouble with that is, it interferes too much with "business," which seems to be about the only thing courts are used for.

I have seen nothing showing the weakness and wickedness of our jurisprudence business equal to your "Wonders of the Law."

Signs of Universal Peace.

Chicago, May 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The peace congress said little of the coming of peace as a fulfillment of the word of God, although its origin and achievement depend upon that word, which is the one permanent, infallible fact of the ages. "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my words shall not pass away." (Mark xiii., 31; Is. xx., 8.)

While universal peace is not established, yet its promise is written large in all scriptures and its signs are evident on every side. It seems strange that ones who call themselves servants of God should decry its approach. Apparently they are looking backward and clinging to an age which is rapidly vanishing, oblivious to the dawn of peace already shining over the horizon of the new day. They look not with living faith for the fulfillment of divine promises when "they shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain," "for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the land" (Is. xi., 9; Hab. ii., 14.) "And the work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness quietness and assurance forever." (Is. xxxii., 17.)

It is the Lord Jehovah (not many peoples) who said: "It shall come to pass in the last days that the mountain of the Lord's house shall be established in the top of the mountains and shall be exalted above the hills; and all nations shall flow unto it." "And they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks: nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more." (Is. ii., 1, 3.)

CHARLES ETON THORN.

"THIS IS MY BIRTHDAY"
—Shakspeare.

Edward J. Brundage, corporation counsel of the city of Chicago and formerly member of the legislature, is 40 years old today. He was born in New York state and was graduated from the Chicago College of Law.

A. A. Sprague II. of 1922 Calumet avenue, wholesale grocer and alumnus of Harvard, reaches the age of 33. O. S. A. Sprague, his father, who died three months ago, would have been 70 today had he lived.

Charles S. Castle, cashier of the American Trust and Savings bank, is 50 years old and a native of Cook county. He was once postmaster of Austin.

Ning Eley, attorney, who makes his home in Desplaines, is 41. A Hoosier by birth, he was graduated from the Northern Indiana Normal school.

Alexander D. Joslin of 565 East Fifty-first street, who has been in the service of the Illinois Central railroad company for forty-three years and is now auditor of passenger accounts, is 61. He started as an employé in a railroad machine shop.

Anton Finkl of 138 Willow street, president of the company which bears his name, is 61. He was born in Germany and learned the trade of blacksmith there.

Dr. Norval H. Pierce of 149 Lincoln Park boulevard, who was past assistant surgeon with the rank of lieutenant during the Spanish-American war, is 46. Washington, D. C., is his birthplace.

Edward W. Russell, district manager for the National Cash Register company and one time school teacher in Colorado, is 41. He lives in Evanston.

Abram J. Schuler of the Schuler Art Glass company was born in Pennsylvania forty-nine years ago. He is a La Grange commuter.

Henry Veeder of 4900 Greenwood avenue, attorney, who helps look after the interests of the packers, is 42. He is a graduate of Yale and of Union College of Law.

[Pall Mall Gazette.]

The member's oath in the house of commons is, in these days, only an affair between himself and the clerk at the table, and passes without attracting any particular attention. The new member for East Edinburgh, however, has created something in the nature of a record by taking the oath in the Scots fashion, with uplifted hand, and in an audible voice. Mr. Gibson has thus set an example which, if it should be generally followed, will make for dramatic effect, but will take up a good deal of time. Moreover, a solemn adjuration of this kind might not in all cases commend itself so well as does the perfunctory mumble that is customary on these occasions.

IN THE THEATERS.

THE INDEPENDENT MISS GOWER.

A Comedy in Three Acts.

BY

EMMA BEATRICE BRUNNER.

Theodosia Gower	Mary Mannering
Mrs. Milton Gower	Louise Sydmeth
Mrs. John Kittredge	Louise Rial
Elsie	Helen Macbeth
Mamie	Carol Elliott
Mrs. Dougherty	Zelda Sears
Irene Ayr	Mary Nash
Austin Ayr	White Whittlesey
Richard Selden	Robert Conness
Milton Gower	Dodson Mitchell
Frank Gower	James Spottswood

Little Dan Cupid loves best of all a self-confessed woman hater—for the heart of such is the easiest possible mark for the mischievous god's arrows. This would seem to be the conclusion to be drawn from the comedy by Mrs. Brunner which Mary Mannering is presenting at the Garrick this week. The play is called "The Independent Miss Gower," but as a dramatic structure it is distinctly dependent—dependent for its success upon such charm as the personality of Miss Mannering may exert. It is in itself a weakling, but the skill and womanly grace of the actress lend the performance a certain attractiveness and appeal.

Only for this the presentment would be a rather sorry affair, for the playwright has fashioned one of those dramatic vehicles which, without being bad enough to be amusing, is not good enough to be strong. It is a play which leaves you indifferent as to the progress of its presentation and only mildly interested in the dénouement, of which you are certain almost the moment the performance begins.

The dramatist evidently has planned to write a comedy the central character in which should furnish a woman study of interest and value. She has conceived of a young woman who, having reached the 30s, has never fallen really in love, but who has had more love affairs than any one cares to count. All the men of her acquaintance have dangled about her, she has encouraged and discouraged them all in turn, but herself has remained unmoved. To amuse herself and to enjoy life for life's sake has been her law. She and her unconventional deeds have been talked about, of course, but not until she is accused in a local paper of remaining unchaperoned in an artist friend's studio until dawn does she find herself in danger of being actually compromised.

Then she decides to marry—and the artist friend is selected as the man of her choice. He has proposed frequently, so she simply writes him a note telling him she will marry him and dispatches the message to his studio. He comes, however, before the note arrives, and she learns that he has just engaged himself to one of her friends. She rushes off to recapture the note, but in the studio surprises a man named Ayr who is a confessed woman hater and an old friend of the artist. She takes her letter while Ayr hides rather than meet her. They then discover each other, and after a series of complications, all of which are more or less stagey and artificial, the final curtain descends on Ayr making a proposal of marriage to the independent Miss Gower and being accepted.

That this complete conquest of a man who has been a professed and assertive woman hater for many years should be accomplished in some twenty-four hours is of course proof that Dan Cupid finds such masculines a peculiarly desirable target.

Mrs. Brunner has had some fairly effective ideas for her comedy, but she has not understood how to make the best of them, and she has shoved the characters on and off the stage so frequently without rhyme or reason, and has dragged in so inopportunely her "comedy relief" and the melodramatic moments she has deemed necessary to employ that the whole is neither good comedy nor good melodrama. It is poor playwriting and only Miss Mannering's personal charm saves the performance. The actress gives of her best and works hard to vitalize the rôle of Miss Gower. The task is a difficult one, for the woman drawn does not ring true enough to win the onlooker's sympathy, and there is not enough of stability or tangibility in the part to make possible any appeal that wins liking or admiration. One watches Miss Mannering willingly and approves, but for Miss Gower little interest is felt.

The other characters are cads or puppets all save the scrublady and her one whining daughter—two rôles excellently played by Miss Sears and Miss Elliott. Miss Sears really carried off the honors of the performance last evening and merited such preferment at the audience's hands, for she did work that was technically admirable, and fine in its naturalness.

The men of the play are cads or mummies. The artist is proven a rascal and Ayr, the woman hater, a conceited upstart, while the father of Miss Gower is wholly impossible. Mr. Conness does about all with the artist that can be done, Mr. Whittlesey plays Ayr quietly, and Dodson Mitchell as the father is more abundantly supplied with mannerisms than ever. Mr. Spottswood fills in effectively as a young brother, and Miss Sydmeth, Miss Rial, Miss Macbeth, and Miss Nash supply the women that revolve around Miss Gower. The two settings are reasonably adequate, although a second ceiling might have been supplied.

Vaudeville.

The greatest actor in the land could not ask for a heartier or nosier greeting than that which is being given James J. Jeffries by every audience that has filled the American Music hall so far this week. The applause begins the moment the name of the ex-champion flashes up on the announcement board, and it continues at intervals long after the former boilermaker has made his little speech of thanks and has bowed himself into the wings for the last time. O! it's great to be an "actor" and a pugilist at the same time.

But does the redoubtable James act? He does in the vaudeville sense of the term. In the parlance of the varieties every one who entertains, whether he be comedian, clog dancer, or merely an accessory to a trained animal act, is an actor. In the present instance Jeffries and his sparring partner, Sam Berger, appear in a sketch dignified by the title "At the Gymnasium." A diminutive reporter comes seeking an interview. He meets the strong men and the talk drifts to the bouts of other days. What could be more natural than that Jeffries should want to prove that again he is in prime condition?

The boxing is sufficiently realistic and scientific to be interesting, but to a large portion of those present ample satisfaction is found in simply gazing at the brawny, muscular Jeffries, meantime storing up for future use a tale beginning with "I once saw Jeff box."

Although there is no particular novelty in any of the acts which comprise the remainder of the bill, all are entertaining. Frank Mayne and company present a slangy sketch reeking of the race track. Edwin Latell specializes cleverly in black face. Collins and Hart are immense in a burlesque acrobatic act, even more amusing than that which they contributed to the "Little Nemo" performance. Grace Hazard offers again "Five Feet of Comic Opera," a pleasing diversion, in the course of the presentment of which she makes numerous costume changes and in turn gives the better known selections from "The Mikado," "The Bohemian Girl," "Fra Diavolo," "The Chimes of Normandy," and "The Grand Duchess."

W. L. HUBBARD.

Lew Fields Launches New Play.

New Haven, Conn., May 12.—[Special.]—Lew Fields launched his summer show, "The Midnight Sons," here tonight, at the Hyperion theater, using a hundred of the Yale undergraduates and nearly as many New Haven girls in the cast. The production brought 300 people on the stage together and was well staged. The company includes George A. Schiller, Fritz Williams, Joseph M. Ratliff, Harry Fisher, Lotta Faust, Norma Brown, Marion Stanley, George Monroe, and Miss Linden Beckwith. The words are by Glen MacDonough and the notes by Raymond Hubbell. The piece will be taken to New York City next Monday. The scenic features, which were warmly received, included a farewell banquet to Senator Noyes (George Schiller) before his trip to Africa.

CHURCH SEEN AS MAKESHIFT

Dr. McConnell Startles Episcopal Congress at Boston.

HITS LOYALTY TO CREED.

Urges Reforms, Especially in Sunday School Teaching.

Boston, Mass., May 12.—[Special.]—The Episcopal congress, in session in Tremont temple, witnessed a startling onslaught on its cherished opinions today by the Rev. Samuel D. McConnell, D. D., pastor of All Souls church, New York.

The Rev. Dr. McConnell made his striking allegations when the topic, "The Alleged Incompatibility of Genius and Orthodoxy," was under discussion. He attacked the conventional and traditional methods of the Episcopal church and the system of Sunday school teaching. He denounced loyalty to a creed and declared that it kept more people from church than it attracted, and he advocated a radical change in the whole policy of the church.

"They tell the children lies, the lesson papers now in use in hundreds of our Sunday schools," said Dr. McConnell. "They present myths or legends as realities. They give descriptive measurements of a temple such as never was and a tabernacle such as never could be.

"They teach history which children's day school books show them is not true. They utterly ignore the results of a critical study of the bible.

Urges That Truth Be Told.

"Sunday school committees say it is unsafe to teach them what they call the 'simple story of the bible.'

"Unsafe?

"Which is more unsafe, to tell children the truth or to tell fables in the name of religion, fables which they are as sure to find out as they are to grow?

"The world is amazed and Christianity ought to be at the spectacle of our denominational divisions.

"What hinders reunion? It is this spurious loyalty to dogma, not a statement of truth, but as barriers of a society which is the obstable to the reunion of the divided church.

"Think over the names of the presidents of the United States, governors of states, editors of great newspapers, great financiers, lawyers, littérateurs, philanthropists, engineers, physicians. Nine-tenths of them hold themselves aloof from the church.

"How is it possible for a man of high intelligence to be orthodox in face of this fact?"

Aspect of Gambling Considered.

At the night session of the congress "The Ethical Aspect of Gambling" was taken up and proved to be one of the most interesting of any of the subjects discussed.

The Rev. St. Clair Hester of New York was especially outspoken on the subject.

In his address the Rev. Mr. Hester said:

"There has probably never been a time when the indulgence of this passion has taken so evil a form or has been so widely diffused as in our own generation. In the last century it was a practice of the wealthy and leisured classes. Today its hold is upon the masses.

"The largest space in some daily newspapers furnishes information of interest only to gamblers.

"Many believe, as does Richard Croker, as reported in a recent interview, that it is in human nature as well as in the nature of a free people, to gamble. Concerning Gov. Hughes' anti-betting law, he was reported as saying, 'it is enough to damn any party.' Be it said here to the honor of the people of the state of New York that the evidence of the polls is emphatically to the effect that Gov. Hughes is not yet damned or downed."

TAKAHIRA TALKS OF PEACE AT BANQUET AT CAMBRIDGE.

Japanese Ambassador Tells Harvard University Cosmopolitan Club That Progress Is Toward End of Wars.

Cambridge, Mass., May 12.—The tables of the Cosmopolitan club of Harvard were graced tonight by two foreign ambassadors, Baron Jogoro Takahira of Japan and Count Bernstorff of Germany. Both made short addresses. Baron Takahira spoke on peace.

"It is an undeniable fact," he said, "that as civilization advances international interest in commerce is greatly developed and a general desire for peace is proportionately increased. It is a happy sign of the times that measure after measure is successively devised to assure the security of peace.

"Anger is not to be incited without some reason or provocation, nor is pride to be offended without some good cause. Among such causes those most reasonably suggested are misgovernment and disorder of the country and illiteracy and ignorance of its people.

"Last year on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the Bureau of American Republics at Washington Elihu Root said: 'The matters in dispute between nations are nothing; the spirit which deals with them is everything.' It therefore is desirable that every effort should be used to foster such a spirit among nations and to the end that necessary steps should be taken by the arbitrators to suggest to the parties interested to reconsider all questions with a conciliatory spirit."

"KNOCK" ON BASEBALL FAILS AT BIG PLAYGROUNDS MEETING

National Association Refuses to Throw Out Game Because of Objections Made to It.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 12.—[Special.]—There was an unhappy half hour at this morning's session of the congress of the American Playground association when some person or persons tried to knock the great game of baseball. To the everlasting horror and amazement of younger Pittsburg there were those who advocated that shinny, hide and seek, and "prisoner's base" be forced into the playgrounds to the detriment of the national sport. There were those in the convention who used to play baseball themselves, and they fought tooth and nail against any aspersion being cast on the sport.

Some of the opponents of the game complained that it was undesirable for boys under 12 years of age, that it takes up too much space on the playgrounds, and that it educates the young idea to become 'fans' and even to bloom into professional players who follow the game for pelf.

As the discussion of the game was in progress the echoes of youngsters playing baseball in Junction Hollow were carried to the ears of the speakers, while across the greensward of Schenley park came the sounds of the workmen as they pushed ahead the work of erecting the grand stand in the new baseball park of the Pittsburg National league club.

SCHOOL HONORS OAK PARK GIRL

Miss Esther M. Randall of Oak Park has been elected president of the senior class for next year at Wellesley college, according to a telegram received yesterday. This is one of the highest honors that can be bestowed upon an undergraduate at Wellesley.

Miss Randall, who is a member of the class of 1910, has always taken a prominent part in the affairs of the college and this year was secretary of the student government association. She is a member of the Phi Sigma fraternity and is popular among her classmates.

NEWS OF THE SOCIETY WORLD

Mrs. Henry W. Bishop to Leave for Summer Place This Month.

FESTIVAL ON NORTH SHORE.

Many Purchase Boxes for Series of Concerts in Evanston.

Mrs. Henry W. Bishop and her debutante daughter, Miss Jessica Bishop, expect to leave the city on May 31 for Pittsfield, Mass., where they will open the family summer place. Mr. Bishop will join his wife and daughter later in the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop have been occupying the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John Marshall Clark, 2000 Prairie avenue, during their absence on their trip around the world. Mr. and Mrs. Clark, with Mr. and Mrs. Richard Harding Davis (Cecil Clark), recently returned to America, having landed in New York last week. As yet their Chicago friends have not been told of their summer's plans, although Mr. Clark is expected in the city soon.

A society and musical event of the north shore will be the June music festival to be held in the new university gymnasium in Evanston on June 3, 4, and 5 under the auspices of the Chicago North Shore Festival association. Although the opening of the three day festival is still three weeks away, the greater part of the sixty-four boxes and reserved seats have been subscribed for. Those who have already purchased boxes for the series of four concerts are as follows:

The Saddle and Cycle club gave its first table d'hote dinner of the season last night and more than 100 guests enjoyed the dinner and the music and informal dance which followed. Walter Kirk, William McCormick Blair, Joseph Coleman Jr., Warren Fairbanks, William R. Odell, Frederick Norcross, Joseph Winterbotham Jr., Colin Fyffe, and Thomas Chalmers were among the hosts.

The marriage of Mrs. Elizabeth S. Campbell of Toronto, Ont., to Col. Christopher C. Crabb, 55 Lake View avenue, was solemnized yesterday in Toronto at the residence of the bride's nephew, A. McVicar, by the Rev. W. B. Findlay. The bride was attired in an old rose princess gown, a white picture hat, and was attended by Miss Lilias Young in a cream gown and carrying a bouquet of roses. Maj. Holman G. Purinton of Chicago was groomsman. The couple left for this city after the ceremony. The marriage is the result of an old romance in Goderich, Ont., the former home of both.

Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Starck, 2908 Kenmore avenue, will entertain at dinner and a dance this evening at the South Shore Country club in honor of Miss Mildred Ruehl and Philip Starck. Covers will be laid for eighteen.

Mrs. J. Whitney Farlin has returned to her residence, 64 Lake Shore drive, after an extended trip of four months in the south.

Mr. and Mrs. David F. Kenly of Astor street will leave the city the middle of next month to open their cottage at Harbor Point, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall F. Holmes and Mrs. Henrietta Holmes Robertson, who went abroad during the winter, have returned to their residence, 460 Normal Parkway.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Lindman, who have been in Des Moines as the guests of Mrs. Lindman's brother, A. W. Everhart, for some time, will remain in the west through the summer. Mr. and Mrs. Lindman left for California in April, expecting to spend the winter there. They stopped for a visit with Mr. Everhart and his family, and during the visit Mrs. Lindman was taken ill. She now is convalescing.

Mrs. A. C. Bricker, 416 Home avenue, Oak Park, has returned from a month's visit in New York City.

St. Louis, Mo., May 12.—[Special.]—Edward Magnus, son of Mrs. Nellie Busch Magnus, wife of Jacob W. Loeb of Chicago, and grandson of Adolphus Busch, the millionaire St. Louis brewer, was married here at 8 o'clock tonight to Miss Nellie Orthwein at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Orthwein, 19 Portland place, by Dr. Samuel J. Niccolls, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church. Hundreds congratulated the couple at a reception which followed.

Miss Lillie Magnus, the groom's sister, was bridemaid; Miss Mildred Orthwein, the bride's sister, was maid of honor; and Adolphus Busch Magnus, the groom's brother, best man. The bride's father gave her away. Miss Helen Heissler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heissler of Chicago, and Master Richard Orthwein strewed the bride's path with rose petals.

The bride was gowned in white satin. The square neck was filled in with rose point lace, which also formed demi sleeves. The tulle veil was held in place with a chaplet of fresh orange blossoms. She carried a shower of lilies of the valley and orange blossoms.

The bride and groom left tonight on their way to Europe. They will reside here.

SOCIETY AT NATION'S CAPITAL.

Attorney General and Mrs. Wickersham Entertain at Dinner—Mrs. Culberson Also Is Hostess.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—[Special.]—Attorney General and Mrs. Wickersham entertained at a dinner tonight at their attractive home in Sixteenth street. Their guests were Sir Robert and Lady Hadfield, the British ambassador and Mrs. Bryce, Assistant Secretary of War and Mrs. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. Bowers, Miss Mabel Bardman, Secretary Nagel, Rear Admiral Cowles, and Miss Hopkins.

Mrs. Sherman, wife of the vice president, who has just returned from a visit at her old home in Utica, was the guest complimentary to whom Mrs. Culberson, wife of Senator Culberson of Texas, entertained at a luncheon today. Among the guests were Mrs. L. W. Babcock and Mrs. E. S. Moore, mother and sister of Mrs. Sherman; Mrs. Charles T. Quirrell, Mrs. Alexander of New York, and Mrs. Schleuter, sister of the hostess.

Chicago Girl Weds Bostonian.

Mrs. Burt Frost Upham

The marriage of Miss Alice Genevieve Irvine, daughter of Mrs. William Irvine, and Burt Frost Upham of Boston took place at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Hewitt of 2667 Kenmore avenue, Edgewater, last night. The Rev. Herbert Gwyn of St. Simon's Episcopal church officiated.

The bride was attended by Miss Elinor Hatch as maid of honor and Miss Ida Hartshorn of Boston was the bridemaid. Henry W. Newhall of Boston served as best man. The ushers were Harry W. Upham and J. Albert Briggs, both of Boston; Fred T. Irvine, brother of the bride, and L. Scott Wallace of Chicago. Little Virginia Hayward, the flower girl, completed the party.

Raymond C. Thorne, the sophomore at Dartmouth college who eloped to Providence, R. I., with Miss R. Mayme Wood of Boston, daughter of a railway shop foreman, and was married there, has cut short his college career and is bringing his bride to his father's home. Young Thorne is the son of W. C. Thorne, vice president of Montgomery Ward & Co. Mr. Thorne refused to discuss his son's sudden wedding.

"You've forgiven the young people and expect them home, is that not so?" the father was asked.

"Father has telegraphed for them to come to Chicago," said Gordon Thorne, a brother of the young benedict. "I don't know what Ray is going to do in the way of supporting a wife, though. He hasn't a job. The thing father didn't like was that he got married in his sophomore year. We knew Miss Wood. We think they have started home by this time, and that they will get here tomorrow."

FAVORS RETURN TO THREE R'S

Forty-two Pass the Examination for School Nurses.

The plan of the Chicago public schools to include in their curriculums many courses that until recent years have been left to the colleges and technical schools, which was scored by David R. Forgan at the Y. M. C. A. banquet Tuesday night as being at the expense of the fundamental branches of school education, will be dealt another blow in the annual report of President Otto C. Schneider of the board of education. This was the statement made by President Schneider himself yesterday when asked to comment on the arraignment made by Mr. Forgan. The report of the president now is in the hands of the printers and will be delievered in a week or two.

"I have advocated a return to the teaching of the three R's for a long time and I thoroughly agree with Mr. Forgan that the modern system of public school education is too complex," said President Schneider. "In my annual report I have considerable to say along this line. I want the children to be able to read and write and spell accurately when they come from the elementary schools. By that time spelling should be automatic with them.

Pupil a Poor Speller.

"Recently I received a letter from a boy in the Jefferson high school protesting against changing the name of that school. The letetr was couched in such poor English and so plentifully sprinkled with ingenious spelling that I wrote back and told the boy what I thought of it. Any boy or girl who cannot spell and write English correctly should be refused a diploma."

A slight criticism of Mr. Forgan's objection to the teaching of the "abominable system of upright penmanship" came from Assistant Supt. of Schools Roberts.

"Although Mr. Forgan's objections in the main may be well founded, it might interest him to know that the system of upright or vertical penmanship has not been taught in the Chicago schools for more than five years," he said.

Parade Around Lumber.

The first load of building material for the new $280,000 Nobel school was delivered on the site in the afternoon, and the occasion was celebrated by teachers and pupils in the old school. A parade of school children about the pile of structural iron and lumber was organized and this was followed by speeches and recitations.

Forty-two applicants passed the civil service examination for school nurses, according to the eligible list posted by the civil service commission. Forty of the successful applicants will be selected to replace the nurses now acting under temporary authority. The two applicants who passed highest on the list were Christine Kefanver, 3608 Lake avenue, with a grade of 89.22, and Agnes G. Lyons, 5546 Grove avenue, with a grade of 89.12.

SEES EVIL IN FRATERNITY LIFE.

Minneapolis, Minn., May 12.—[Special.]—That there are today still many evils in the fraternity life of all large universities resulting in exclusiveness and lack of scholarship for the fraternity men, is the opinion of President Cyrus Northrop of the University of Minnesota.

Statements made by President Schurman of Cornell university before a body of fraternity men scored the system, and the Minnesota president agreed with everything he said.

"The conditions which President Schurman said applied to fraternity life at Cornell apply everywhere," said President Northrop. "There is a need at present to make fraternity men better students."

Sees Danger in Blotters.

Abraham Merinbaum, pardon clerk in Mayor Busse's office, is sounding a warning against the use of blue blotters. Danger of blood poisoning exists in the chemicals used in preparing them, he declares, and in support of his contention shows an infected finger which prevents his writing.

MEN OF CHURCHES MEET IN JOINT SESSION TONIGHT.

THE GLOVE OPERATORS' UNION, local No. 18, has arranged for its seventh annual dancing party for tomorrow night at Columbia hall.

THE EMPLOYING PRINTERS of the city will hold a banquet at the Chicago Advertising association tonight. The meeting will be under the auspices of the Ben Franklin club.

Chicagoan Chosen to Lead National Movement to Advance Beauty—Many Delegates Are Present.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—The American Federation of Arts today was formally inaugurated by the adoption of a constitution. The object of the federation is the amalgamation of art institutions and organizations for the advancement of art.

More than 100 delegates attended today's session, which was presided over by Charles L. Hutchinson, president of the Chicago Art institute and vice president of the National Academy of Art. Among the interesting papers read was one by Royal Cortiss of New York. He made a strong plea for better decorative work.

C. L. Hutchinson was chosen president of the society. Other officers chosen were: F. D. Millet of New York and Washington, D. C., secretary, and J. P. Morgan Jr., New York, treasurer. Students in art schools are barred from membership in the federation.

Alexander to Succeed Deilman.

New York, May 12.—John W. Alexander, the painter, today was elected president of the National Academy of Design, succeeding Frederick Deilman, who declined to serve again.

Beauty Hints No. 2—The Complexion You may not see the mote in your neighbor's eye, but you always see her unsightly complexion. If she is a friend of yours, you are sorry for her. If she isn't your friend, you are not sorry, unless you have more than an ordinary share of Christian charity. She might be beautiful as a houri in a Mohammedan's dream of Paradise, but how are you going to know it when ugly skin blemishes are the most prominent points of her countenance? Pimples, blackheads, rough and coarse skin come from a variety of causes, but always from a sluggish skin. Do you know why your skin is sluggish? Because you don't wash it clean. You think you do; perhaps the surface is clean, but soap that is not pure leaves a secretion that causes all sorts of skin blemishes to appear, instead of removing any possibility of them.

There is a simple way to get rid of them all. Wash them out, is a remedy certain and sure. But see that you wash with only Craddock's (Medicated) Blue Soap. It will search the pores, clean them instead of clogging them, and leave the skin soft and white. Your complexion will be good if you use Craddock's (Medicated) Blue Soap, and use it often.

Common soaps defeat Nature's purpose by clogging the pores and creating the very condition they should destroy.

Craddock's (Medicated) Blue Soap is different. It is a soap with a purpose—to assist Nature.

It is the one safe soap to use for every toilet purpose—the one soap which actually improves and beautifies the complexion—the one soap that will delight you with its delicate, lasting odor.

Tariff Notice No. 3

You will notice that the prices of solid fuel are going up.

Not so with gas. The price per thousand cubic feet stays where the people put it in 1907. There is no tariff on gas—it is the fuel without a burden.

Nothing to handle, no empty fuel bin to worry you, no shoveling and hustling to keep the kitchen supplied.

* * *

They are a boon and a blessing to the housewife who must do her own cooking—especially the "Double Economy" Cabinet Ranges, the stoves that have two ovens heated with one flame.

Every one is delivered, installed and connected ready for use FREE.

While you think of it, write to The Peoples Gas Light & Coke Company, 155 Michigan Avenue, for a copy of the new art catalog; it is full of useful information. If you can't call at the nearest salesroom, telephone Central 1076, and our expert will bring full information to your door.

COAL ROAD ISSUES LEADERS.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

NEW YORK, May 12.—[Special.]—With activity and strength still largely concentrated in the coal road group, the stock market in the first three hours of business today made further progress towards higher price levels. Early in the afternoon profit taking in Reading, which had advanced above 5 points in two trading sessions, and in Delaware and Hudson, where the maximum rise was nearly 10 points, carried these issues off sharply, and, together with the development of similar weakness in Union Pacific, led to reactions in many other parts of the list.

The Rock Island common, Consolidated Gas, several of the more important industrials, and the Erie shares failed to participate in this setback, or at least shared in it only in a small way, and closed with the greater part of their gains intact. The Erie directors held a prolonged session during the afternoon in connection, it is understood, with financial arrangements which will include the sale of bonds recently authorized by the up-state public service commission for the prosecution of work which will be of the largest benefit to the property.

Cause of Rock Island Boost.

In the case of Rock Island and Consolidated, reports were in circulation, although entirely unconfirmed, of the granting of voting privileges to the common shares of the Rock Island and of elaboration plans by the Consolidated Gas company which will permit larger disbursements upon the stock.

An extra cash dividend of 50 per cent was declared by the directors of the United Metals Selling company. The company markets the output of Amalgamated Copper. The dividend calls for the distribution of $2,500,000 and represents a part of the proceeds derived from the recent sale of the Raritan refinery to the International Smelting and Refining company.

Owing to the failure of some stockholders of the Corn Products Refining company to receive notices of the special meeting called to ratify the proposed bond issue, the meeting which was set for today adjourned to June 1.

An interesting item of news from London was the announcement that applications for the London county loan of $11,250,000 exceeded this amount 100 times. London markets were stirred into activity and strength by this event.

Firmness in Time Money.

Features of the day's money market were the continued firmness in time money and the larger offerings of mercantile paper. Quotations on time loans were advanced a trifle, but the main point of interest in the situation is the obvious unwillingness of lenders to put out funds at any concession whatever. An engagement of $700,000 of gold bars for shipment to Paris was announced, but it remains to be seen what effect upon the gold movement the now fully developed labor troubles in the French capital will exercise.

Money on call, steady; 1¾@2 per cent; ruling rate, 2; closing bid, 1¾; offered at 1¾. Time loans, strong; 60 days, 2½ per cent, and 90 days, 2¾ per cent; six months, 3¼ per cent. Prime mercantile paper, 3½@4 per cent; sterling exchange, firm, with actual business in bankers' bills at 4.8635@4.8645 for 60 day bills and at 4.8775 for demand. Commercial bills, 4.85⅝@4.86⅛; bar silver, 52⅛c; Mexican dollars, 44c; government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, irregular.

IN THE FOREIGN STOCK MARKET.

LONDON, May 12.—Money was in free supply and fair demand on the market today, while discounts were firm. Trading on the stock exchange maintained a steady undertone with fair activity. First class securities moved higher, but the best prices were not maintained in foreign or home rails. The interruption of telegraphic communication with Paris restricted slightly the business in foreign rails.

American securities opened easier, but went over parity in the forenoon, with good business later in Union Pacific, United States Steel, and Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé. New York bought well in the afternoon and the market closed firm. Erie was a feature. Chartered was a feature in the mining section, which continued active and strong.

ALTON ADS CAPTURE TRAFFIC

March Report Shows Increase in Passenger Revenue.

DIVERSE STORIES ABOUT "L."

But Merger Proposition as Whole Finds Favor, It Is Said.

Much earnings of the Chicago & Alton as reported to the interstate commerce commission, show a decrease in freight revenues of 3.9 per cent and in passenger revenue an increase of 6 per cent. This showing differs from that made by most of the roads in that passenger receipts have increased while freight traffic has fallen off.

The Alton management has been doing a considerable amount of advertising in connection with its passenger service which while it may not appeal to all railroad men, appeals apparently to the traveling public. The March report showed a small increase in maintenance of equipment, though relatively the gain is good, being 18.6 per cent. Maintenance of way expenditures were 27.2 per cent over the corresponding month last year.

The interstate commerce figures of the Milwaukee and St. Paul for March show a gain of 7½ per cent in freight revenue and an increase of 4 per cent in passenger revenues. Expenditures for maintenance of equipment were small, being a decrease of $98,451 compared with last year.

The figures of the Illinois Central for March indicate a gain in freight revenue of 8.2 per cent, and a gain in passenger revenue of 0.8 per cent. Equipment expenditures were relatively heavy, being an increase of $350,917, or 49.7 per cent.

Diverse "L" Stories Probable.

It is probable a number of diverse statements will reach the public relative to the negotiations now on between the Central Terminal company and the elevated railroads. The proposal made to the South Side and the Metropolitan elevated companies included terms which were expected to be the subject of conferences and changes. But it is impossible at this time even to hint at the outcome other than to say that the plan, as a whole, meets with favor by all the interested parties. The South Side directors have not, as a board, had the matter presented to them, and there will be nothing final until the stockholders, in a special meeting, have passed upon the matter.

The Metropolitan Elevated people will have more difficulty in reaching a conclusion than the South Side elevated, though nothing will be final until the stockholders have had the proposition presented to them. In the meantime, it is a question of the representatives of the two roads and the Central Terminal company reaching a proposition which the directors can recommend, or if not recommend submit to the shareholders. The latter may be expected to insist upon knowing, as a body, what has been offered and why it should or should not be accepted.

The only definite news that may be expected will be the action of either one of the boards of directors in formally communicating its views to the shareholders. Difficulty in the case of the Metropolitan elevated has been several times rehearsed. No one is at this time authorized to accept or reject the proposal to the South Side or Metropolitan company.

Rand Gold Output.

The output of the Rand for the month of April amounted to 607,101 fine ounces of gold, being slightly in excess of the output for March. Expressed in dollars, the April results were equal to $12,900,896. The following table gives the output for a series of years:

American Steel Foundries.

Swartwout & Appenzellar, who were instrumental in stirring up, before the annual meeting, the stockholders of the American Steel Foundries company, are now out with a circular setting forth the position, from their viewpoint, of the stock. They assert the statement of the company as of June 30 showed cash in bank sufficient, practically, to pay all current liabilities and still leave $1,900,000, which at that time the company had employed in loans on the New York stock exchange. This amount is equal to 11 per cent on the capital stock.

Beet Sugar Report.

The pamphlet report of the American Beet Sugar company was issued during the day, giving the full income account for the fiscal year ended March 31. The surplus shown was, by resolution of the board, applied to working capital, which at the close of the last fiscal year stood at $2,278,468. The income account follows:

Dividends Declared.

The United Metals Selling company has declared and paid an extra cash dividend of 50 per cent calling for the distribution of $2,500,000. It is understood the payment represents part of the proceeds derived by the company from the recent sale of the Raritan refinery to the International Smelting and Refining company.

The Brooklyn Rapid Transit company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent. The first dividend at this rate was paid on April 1. The dividend is payable July 1 and the books close June 9.

The Homestake Mining company declared the customary monthly dividend of 50 cents a share, payable May 25. The books close May 20.

The National Biscuit company declared a regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on its prefered stock, payable May 29 on stock of record May 18, and the usual quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent on its common stock, payable July 15 on stock of record June 28.

Directors of Borden's Condensed Milk company have declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable June 15. The transfer books close June 5 and reopen June 16.

General Financial News.

It is rumored the United Metals Selling company will take over the Osceola and Tamarack mining companies. It is announced the tin plate department, which will soon be added to the new Jones & Laughlin company's plant at Aliquippa, will be one of the most modern in the country. Besides the hot mills, there will be a tinning department sufficient to tin all the black sheets produced.

There is some expectation of a small dividend on the common stock of the American Shipbuilding company within the current calendar year.

The National City bank of New York engaged $900,000 gold bars for export to Paris. There have been repeated inquiries at the assay office by bankers considering the export of gold.

Chicago Securities.

There was a decided "boom" in American Can shares on the local exchange. Preferred advanced to 83. The return of D. G. Reid, a member of the executive committee of the company, is held largely responsible for the bulge of the last few days. An extra disbursement on the preferred stock is anticipated.

Commonwealth Edison shares made another new high record, advancing to 117. The buying was not large, but is considered good.

Street's Stable Car, common, also made a new high record at 42. The buying was general. Swift & Co. shares were firm on miscellaneous buying.

CITY OF NEW ORLEANS, LA.

PROPOSALS FOR THE PURCHASE OF "NEW PUBLIC IMPROVEMENT BONDS" OF THE CITY OF NEW ORLEANS.

New Orleans, La., April 17th, 1909.

The Board of Liquidation of the City Debt, under special authority granted by Acts No. 19 of 1906 and No. 116 of 1908 of the Legislature of Louisiana, which acts have been ratified by Constitutional Amendments and have become part of the Constitution of the State of Louisiana, will receive at the office of the Board of Liquidation of the City Debt, City Hall, New Orleans, Louisiana, sealed proposals up to Friday, May 21st, 1909, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purchase of Two Million Dollars [$2,000,000], or any part thereof, of the New Public Improvement Bonds of the City of New Orleans, to be issued under authority of said Acts No. 19 of 1906 and No. 116 of 1908 and the Constitutional Amendments ratifying said acts.

The bonds are payable January 1st, 1942, are callable at the option of the City of New Orleans after January 1st, 1928, bear four per cent [4%] per annum interest, payable semi-annually. They are of the denomination of One Thousand Dollars [$1,000] each, with interest coupons annexed, payable January and July first, and are exempt from all taxation, State, Parish and Municipal.

The bonds will be sold to the best bidder in price for not less than par and accrued interest, coupled with the least commission, and no bid will be considered requiring a commission of more than six per cent [6%].

Bids must be accompanied by a certified check of 3 per cent of the amount of the bids. The checks of unsuccessful bidders will be returned immediately after adjudication. The check of the successful bidder or bidders will be retained and applied toward payment of the first delivery of bonds. The successful bidder or bidders shall have the option either to pay in full for the amounts which may be adjudicated to him or them or to take and pay for, in cash, twenty-five per cent of the amount of his or their bid and to take and pay for the remainder at such times and in such amounts as the Sewerage and Water Board may request after a notice of thirty days.

Bids must set forth whether or not the bidder will take and pay for in full such bonds as may be adjudicated to him or them, or will take and pay for twenty-five per cent of said bonds and accept delivery at such times and in such amounts as the Sewerage and Water Board may direct upon the giving of thirty days' notice.

In order to secure the time for the signing and delivery of said bonds, and in the event that the entire $2,000,000 of said bonds are adjudicated for cash and immediate delivery, the same will be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers as follows:

One Million Dollars [$1,000,000] within thirty days, the remaining $1,000,000 within sixty days from the date of the adjudication.

In the event of adjudication subject to the right of the purchaser or purchasers to pay twenty-five per cent and accept the balance subject to the requirements of the Sewerage and Water Board after notice by said Board for a period of thirty days, the said twenty-five per cent will be delivered to the purchaser or purchasers within fifteen days from the date of the adjudication.

In the event that there should be more than one bid accepted the deliveries as above set forth shall be prorated in the proportion that the bids bear to the entire amount adjudicated.

Mark all bids "Proposals for purchase of New Public Improvement Bonds."

Further particulars and detail will be furnished by application to Terence Wolfe, Jr., Secretary of the Board of Liquidation of the City Debt, City Hall, New Orleans, La.

T. WOLFE, JR., Secretary.

PROPOSALS FOR DYNAMITE, LUMBER, Piles, etc.—Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the General Purchasing Officer, Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., until 10:30 a. m., June 7, 1909, at which time they will be opened in public for furnishing the above mentioned articles. Blanks and general information relating to this Circular (No. 510), may be obtained from this office or the offices of the Assistant Purchasing Agents, 24 State street, New York City; Custom House, New Orleans, La., and 1086 North Point street, San Francisco, Cal.; also from the U. S. Engineer Offices in the following cities: Seattle, Wash.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Baltimore, Md.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Pittsburg, Pa.; Boston, Mass.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Cleveland, Ohio; Cincinnati, Ohio; Chicago, Ill.; St. Louis, Mo.; Detroit, Mich.; Milwaukee, Wis.; St. Paul, Minn.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Louisville, Ky.; Mobile, Ala.; and Galveston, Tex.; Commercial Club, Kansas City, Mo.; Chamber of Commerce, Quincy, Ill., and Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade, Tacoma, Wash. F. C. BOGGS, Captain, Corps of Engineers, U. S. A., General Purchasing Officer.

PROPOSALS FOR SHOWER BOOTH ADDITIONS.

South Park Commissioners.

Sealed proposals will be received by the South Park Commissioners at their office, 57th St. and Cottage Grove Ave., until 12 o'clock, noon, Wednesday, June 16, 1909, for furnishing the materials and doing the work necessary in the construction of two shower booth additions to be made to the building in Mark White Square, 29th and Halsted Sts.; all work and material to conform to the plans and specifications therefor which may be found at the above named office and at the office of the architects, D. H. Burnham & Co., Railway Exchange Bldg., Chicago.

Separate bids are also invited for each of the different classes of work specified in the specifications, including concrete work, carpentry, plumbing, heating, electric wiring, sheet metal, plastering, glass, iron work, hardware, painting, slate work, lighting fixtures, and all other kinds of work and material necessary to complete the building in accordance with the specifications therefor.

Each bid must be accompanied by a deposit equal to five per cent (5%) of the total of the bid, which deposit must be in the form of currency or a certified check made payable to the South Park Commissioners. This deposit will be returned to the bidder if his bid is rejected, and, if the bidder is successful, upon his entering into a contract with the South Park Commissioners and giving a satisfactory guaranty company's bond for twenty-five per cent (25%) of the value of the contract within five (5) days of the date of notification that the proposal has been accepted.

Should the bidder fail to enter into said contract and bond within said five days, said deposit shall be forfeited to the South Park Commissioners.

The South Park Commissioners reserve the right to reject any and all proposals, and to award the contract to a bidder for the entire building, or to several bidders for the different classes of work, as they may see fit.

SOUTH PARK COMMISSIONERS,
E. G. Shumway, Secretary.

WHEAT PRICES WORK LOWER

Outside Support Lacking and Heavy Pressure Develops.

COARSE GRAINS IRREGULAR.

Cash Corn Situation Strong, but Crop Outlook Is for Big Acreage.

Wheat prices failed to hold the gains of Tuesday and the market closed weak yesterday after a show of strength early. Net declines for the day were ½@⅞c, the greatest pressure being on the July. Reported rains in Kansas were received during the latter part of the session, causing heavy selling by local longs. The lack of outside buying was also a factor in the situation, the market for a time being without any substantial support. The general crop outlook was not regarded as so discouraging, and local professionals were encouraged in their selling tactics by the ease with which prices were broken. The slow cash trade was also a bear influence, sales for the day being only 15,000 bu.

Rains Give Relief in Kansas.

The usual crop reports were received from all points of the compass and were conflicting. Advices from Kansas were decidedly mixed and the importance of this state as a factor in the situation made the situation harder for the traders to decipher. The general impression seemed to be that little of the wheat area was actually suffering from lack of moisture, although the reports of high winds were given some consideration. Late reports of showers and threatening weather conditions from many sections of the Sunflower state gave the bears more courage, and there was free selling by Clement-Curtis, Barrell, Lake, Hulburd-Warren-Chandler, and commission houses in general. Bartlett-Patten sold early, but on the break were buyers, with Logan-Bryan, Jackson Bros., Peavey, and Wrenn buying also.

In the early trade there was little buying by Lowitz and Rosenbaum Grain, which was supposed to be for the account of Daggett & Co., who transferred their trades to J. Rosenbaum & Co. This buying was helped along by the local pit crowd, who later turned sellers. Trade was nervous and fitful throughout, small orders influencing prices materially.

Northwest Outlook Favorable.

In the northwest most reports are encouraging, and rains on newly seeded wheat were regarded in a favorable light, although seeding might have been temporarily delayed. Canadian seeding is about 75 per cent finished and in the three northwest states is most completed. A fair increase in acreage is reported. Minneapolis stocks decreased 500,000 bu for four days. Primary receipts for the day were small at 187,000 bu, against 339,000 bu a year ago.

Foreign markets were irregular. Liverpool closed ⅛@¼d lower, with spot unchanged. Paris was steady to ½c lower; Antwerp, unchanged; Berlin, 1¾c higher; Budapest, ⅞c off, and Buenos Aires steady to 1½c lower. A special Russian cable said the general outlook for wheat in that country was favorable. Rain has to a large extent relieved the drought conditions in Russia and cheaper offerings of wheat from Black sea ports were an influence in the European markets. Local receipts were 4 cars, with only 3 cars expected today. While the cash demand was slow, there was no evidence of concessions in prices being made by holders. Spring wheat is in especially slow request and relatively is holding at cheaper values than other grades.

Corn Easy at the Close.

Corn ruled strong during the early part of the session, but there was a renewal of selling pressure, and prices broke a little just before the close, final quotations being ¼c higher for the May, unchanged for July and December, and ¼c lower for the September. Weather conditions are favorable and the prospect for an immense acreage and a large crop offset to some extent the extremely strong cash situation. The market is now an interesting proposition, with the bulls and bears about evenly divided. Country offerings were light and cash prices were again boosted ½@1c. Sales were 135,000 bu for shipment and the demand is larger than the supply at the moment. Primary receipts were 314,000 bu, against 363,000 bu a year ago. Local cars, 80, with 81 promised for today. Bartlett-Patten were on both sides of the market, selling early. Lowitz was a big seller, and Friedman, Updike, Bloom, and Shearson-Hammill were sellers. Cash houses were fair buyers.

July Oats Are Strong.

Strength in July oats was a feature early. Prices advanced into new high ground on buying by country houses and shorts. The demand appeared to be satisfied on the bulge and sales were more liberal, causing an easier tone at the finish. Closing figures were ⅝c up for May, ¼c higher for July, and ⅛c lower for the deferred deliveries. The cash demand was excellent and sample prices were ½c up. Sales were 175,000 bu for shipment. Country advices indicate generally fine prospects. Receipts were 113 cars, with 109 cars expected today. Primary arrivals were 573,000 bu, against 703,000 bu a year ago.

Rye Prices Are Maintained.

Rye was quiet, but prices were well maintained. May closed nominally at 82½c; July, 82c; and September, 80c. No. 2 sold free on board at 85c. No. 3 was quoted 78@82c and No. 4 74@78c. Receipts, 1 car.

Barley advanced 1c in sympathy with the strength in oats. Malting was quoted 70@73c; mixing, 69@73c; and screenings, 50@73c. Receipts were 36 cars.

Flaxseed was ½c higher. No. 1 northwestern closed at $1.69½; No. 1 from the northwest, $1.68; and No. 1 southwestern, $1.59½. Receipts, none.

Timothy seed was unchanged. September closed at $3.80 bid; country lots, $2.75@3.80. Cloverseed dull; May closed at $9.50 and cash lots at $7.25@9.25.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON CHANGE.

Lively markets are predicted in corn during the next few weeks and plans are being laid for an aggressive bear campaign. Some of the biggest interests in the trade are looking a little farther ahead of the immediate situation and are anticipating a fair volume of receipts at all markets as soon as corn planting is over and the crop is well started. It is the general belief that corn supplies in the country are large and that sooner or later the farmers will sell freely, especially if the price breaks sharply. Acting on this theory, the leading local professionals continue to try to locate the top, but are not playing far from shore. The professional element has had one of the most unprofitable seasons in corn it has had in a long time and outside of a few no one has made any money. Lowitz sold a lot of July corn yesterday—about 500,000 bu—and it was reported that Patten was inclined to the bear side of the market, especially for the deferred months. The Bartlett-Patten house bought as much corn as they sold yesterday, however, and the shorts went through their usual performance of covering on the daily bulge. Several of the leading pit traders recalled their previous experiences this year in trying to sell the farmers' corn for them and were not particularly anxious about trying it again.

The Northwestern Miller, in its weekly review, says: "Seeding of wheat in the northwest has made rapid progress in the last week. The weather, while cloudy and not over warm, has been favorable for work and in places early sown wheat is above ground. Elevator reports are that in southern and central Minnesota and South Dakota seeding was practically finished several days ago. In northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota 90 per cent of wheat is in the ground and in western North Dakota 75 per cent. While the season is late, general conditions are regarded as favorable. In about all localities, except possibly in northern North Dakota, there is plenty of moisture and the soil is in splendid condition. The view is taken that the acreage of wheat has been increased—some elevator men say 5 per cent and others 10 per cent. It was a surprise that the Minneapolis flour market should have shown a decrease of nearly 12,000 brls last week. The quantity of flour turned out [week of May 8] was 262,440 brls, against 248,620 in 1908, and 248,865 in 1907."

There was considerable gossip yesterday to the effect that the cash wheat of the Bartlett-Patten clique had been hedged in the July, which has been selling at prices that would enable the bulls to hedge their wheat to good advantage. Ample opportunity has been given for a procedure of this kind, and while nothing definite was known in regard to it the trade was inclined to take stock in the report.

Reports from agents and correspondents of the bureau of statistics, department of agriculture, indicate that 14.3 per cent, equivalent to 10,130,000 tons, of the 1908 hay crop remained on farms on May 1, 1909. Of the total hay crop it is estimated that 77.8 per cent, or 55,079,000 tons, will be fed on the farms where produced, and about 22.2 per cent, or 15,719,000 tons, will be moved off the farm.

W. H. Lane had a message from St. Louis saying that wheat thirty miles west of that place was heading out a week earlier than a year ago.

Winnipeg receipts of wheat were 44 cars, compared with 71 cars a week ago and 41 cars the corresponding day last year.

Estimated receipts are: Wheat, 3 cars; corn, 81 cars; oats, 109 cars; rye, none; barley, 15 cars; hogs, 23,000.

CATTLE.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Choice light and handy weight steers met with a ready outlet at firm to 10c higher prices, but the plain heavy offerings were discriminated against and hard to sell at better than steady figures. Receipts of 14,000 head were fully up to expectations, but sellers had an idea that prices should average higher than on previous days, and they refused to consider steady bids at the opening. This served only to restrict the trade, however, as the demand was not so urgent that buyers were willing to outbid one another, and when their offers were refused they left the bids open for the consideration of the sellers. The latter were finally convinced that a strong market was about the best they could hope for and they let the holdings go at unchanged to 10c higher figures.

Offerings included several lots of strictly prime beeves, and they sold at from $7.00@7.30, while good to choice shipping and exporting grades made $5.90@6.75, and the plain light lots cleared at from $4.90@5.50. Arrivals consisted largely of steers, and there was a shortage of butcher stock. This resulted in a firm and higher market for cows and heifers, but the strength in this division was of an evanescent character, and sellers who refused slight appreciations in values on the opening rounds were compelled to liquidate at reduced figures at the finish. Most of the desirable cows and heifers cleared at from $4.50@5.75. Quotations:

Beef steers, good to prime	$6.40@7.30

Cattle at six western markets, 30,600, against 39,200 a week ago, 41,100 a year ago, and 38,100 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 2,553,000, against 2,703,000 the same period in 1908.

HOGS.

Killers who failed to take advantage of salesmen's generosity during the early trade developed an acute liking for stock at the higher values demanded later in the day, and they closed the market in a strong position, with all the hogs offered closed absorbed. Shippers paid up to $7.40, the preceding day's highest figure, for choice butcher hogs, taking the mediumweights at from $7.25@7.35, and the choice light hogs at from $7.15@7.25. Packers bought their mixed hogs at from $7.15@7.20, taking the choice heavy packing grades at from $7.25@7.35. Quotations:

Average price of hogs at Chicago, $7.26, against $7.24 Tuesday, $7.25 a week ago, $5.54 a year ago, and $6.45 two years ago.

Eleven markets received 80,100 hogs, against 95,200 a week ago, 129,000 a year ago, and 97,300 two years ago. Total for 1909 to date, 9,909,000, against 11,727,000 the same period in 1908.

Hog purchases for the day follow: Armour & Co., 4,750; Swift & C., 3,500; Schwarzschild & Sulzberger, 2,000; Anglo-American, 1,800; Hammond, 1,800; Morris & Co., 1,050; Boore & Co., 840; Boyd-Lunham, 1,000; Roberts & Oake, 700; Western Packing Co., 1,250; butchers, 800; shippers, 2,800; total, 22,290; left over, 5,000.

SHEEP.

Clipped lambs sold at a decline of 10c, while sheep cleared at figures that were weak to a shade lower, and wool lambs sold more readily than on Tuesday at practically the same values. Receipts of 12,000 head consisted largely of clipped lambs, and for that reason they came in for most of the bearish pressure applied by packers, while the offerings in fleece met with more favor than on the preceding day and moved with less difficulty than on that day. Spring lambs came forward in increased numbers and sold at a big drop in prices, sales being made at from $8.00@12.00, for stock which would have brought 50c@$1.50 more two days ago.

A top for wool lambs was established at $9.40, against $9.35 Tuesday, while loads of strictly choice offerings found an outlet at from $9.00@9.35. Best clipped lambs reached $8.40, with the bulk of the desirable lots at from $7.90@8.30. Sheep sold up to $6.85, a steady level, but sales at up to this figure were not numerous, and the bulk of the prime fat offerings cleared at from $6.35@6.60. Wethers and yearlings mixed, weighing an average of 105 lbs, sold to a packer at $7.10. Straight yearlings made $7.00@7.25, while a string of common wool yearlings and two year olds made $6.50. Quotations:

Clipped yearlings	6.60@7.25
Clipped ewes	4.75@6.00
Bucks and stags	3.50@4.75
Colorado and westerns, choice	8.90@9.40
Cull lambs	6.00@6.50
Clipped lambs, choice	8.00@8.40
Clipped lambs, plain to good	6.25@7.95

Receipts for May 13 were estimated at 4,000 cattle, 17,000 hogs, and 10,000 sheep, against actual arrivals of 6,408 cattle, 27,236 hogs, and 8,102 sheep for Thursday, May 14, 1908.

STOCKYARDS GOSSIP.

Offerings in the steer division were liberally sprinkled with Kansas and Nebraska beeves of choice quality and the number of high priced sales transacted was larger than on any previous day in many weeks. Shippers and packers secured several loads of prime beeves at $7.00 and up to $7.30, while the exporters were more energetic buyers of handy weight offerings at around $6.50@6.65.

The Farmers and Drovers' Journal's British cablegram quoted American beeves on the Liverpool market at 13¾c per lb, or ¼c higher than on last Monday. There were no American beeves offered at London.

Armour & Co. had 741 hogs in direct from the St. Paul market, while the Anglo-American company had 934 and Hammond had 757 from Milwaukee. All three concerns were represented on the local mart, their purchases here amounting to 4,000 head for Armour & Co. and 1,000 each for the other two.

Buffalo reported best shorn lambs selling at $8.25. The top here was $8.40. Eastern buyers have taken less than 2,000 head of sheep and lambs here this week, against actual shipments of 10,116 head for the corresponding days a year ago.

ON THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Further gains were scored by provisions. The demand from the shippers and the larger packers for lard and ribs, reflecting the active state of the cash trade, was again in evidence. In addition to this a fair investment demand is becoming apparent, while the offerings are much less liberal. Final quotations were unchanged to 2½c up for pork, 7½@10c up for lard, and 5@7½c higher for ribs. Light receipts in the west of hogs was a factor, the aggregate for the day being 79,200, against 113,500 a year ago. Local receipts overran estimates a little at 25,000, with 23,000 expected for today. Liverpool quotations were unchanged on hams and bacon, but 6d higher for lard. Shipments of product were 114 cars and receipts 48 cars.

Chicago Horse Market.

There was an improved local and outside demand for drafters, drivers, expressers, and saddlers, and offerings in the auction ring attracted more spirited bidding. Choice heavy draft horses sold at from $225.00@250.00, with fancy show offerings in pairs at from $750.00 to $850.00; drivers and saddlers made $150.00@350.00, with occasional sales at $500.00 and higher, while expressers and wagon classes cleared at from $140.00 to $210.00. Receipts for the day were only 150 head.

IN THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

EGGS.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Local consumptive demand for eggs continued brisk and afforded an outlet for all the stock not taken by outsiders at steady prices. Shippers were inclined to go slowly, but there was no surplus stock on the market. Receipts were 24,601 cases. Quotations:

Prime firsts	21c	Do firsts	20c

NEW YORK, May 12.—EGGS—Firm; receipts, 36,668; state, Pennsylvania, and nearby fancy selected white, 24½c; do fair to choice, 23@24c; brown and mixed fancy, 22½@23c; do fair to choice, 21½@22c; western first, 21@21¾c. BUTTER.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Buyers were holding off in the expectation that values would be lowered and all purchases were confined to most pressing needs. Sellers, however, were not ready to make concessions and prices remained steady. Receipts, 7,712 tubs. Quotations:

Dairies, extras	24c	Do firsts	23½c
Creamery, extras	25½c	Do seconds	22c
Extra firsts	24½c	Packing goods	18c

NEW YORK, May 12.—BUTTER—Steady, unchanged; receipts, 7,355 tubs. Butter in Philadelphia—Dull and weak; extra western creamery, 27½c; do nearby prints, 28c.

CHEESE.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Demand for cheese was stimulated a little by the recent decline in prices and the market was kept clean of accumulations. Quotations:

Western twins	13@14c	Longhorns	13¼@14c
Daisies	13½@14c	Swiss	13½@14¾c
Young Americas	13¼@14c	Limburger	12½@13½c
		Brick	10@13½c

NEW YORK, May 12.—CHEESE—Easy, unchanged; receipts, 2,619. Cheese in Philadelphia—Unchanged.

POULTRY.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Moderate receipts of live poultry met with a quiet demand at the prices recorded on the preceding day. City retailers and dressers were the principal buyers, but they showed little reluctance in paying the prices and supplies were closely absorbed. Quotations:

Live chickens	12½c	Iced chickens	15@15½c
Spring, doz	$2.50@8.00	Do turkeys	16@20c
Do roosters	10c	Do ducks	10@11c

VEGETABLES.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Supplies of all kinds of green vegetables were of smaller volume, and values showed a strong upward tendency. The demand continued of good volume and offerings were readily absorbed at the prices. Receipts of potatoes were only 26 cars, but there were 102 cars on track and the market had a weak tone at a decline of 2@3c a bu. Quotations:

Asparagus, box	$1.00@2.50	Do, new, sacks	$1.40@1.50

STRAW.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Rye, $9.50@10.50; oat, $6.50@7.50; and wheat, $6.00@6.50.

Groceries.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Steady improvement was shown in the demand for staple groceries, and inquiries indicated that winter holdings in the interior were down to such a low level that retailers found it necessary to make general purchases. Individual orders were not large, owing to the fact that buyers confined their purchases to immediate requirements only, but the aggregate amount of business reached a gratifying total.

Sugar and Coffee.

SUGAR.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Offerings of refined sugars pressing on sale were not burdensome, but bearish crop reports had a depressing influence on the market and values were lowered 10 points. Following were the ruling prices at wholesale, quotations being on 100 lb lots: Standard granulated, beet and cane, $5.14@5.24; cut loaf, H. & E., $6.17; standard powdered, $5.65; extra C, $4.85; canary, $4.65; chemically pure milk sugar, 19c per lb in brl lots.

NEW YORK, May 12.—SUGAR—Raw, firm; fair refining, 3.42c; centrifugal 96 test, 3.92c; molasses sugar, 3.17c; refined, steady; crushed, 5.65c; powdered, 5.05c; granulated, 4.95c.

COFFEE.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Spot demand for coffees continued quiet, but there was no change in the general situation and values remained steady. Receipts at Rio were reported at 3,000 bags and at Santos, 6,000 bags.

NEW YORK, May 12.—COFFEE—Spot, quiet; Rio No. 7, 8¼@8⅜c; Santos No. 4, 8⅞@9c. Mild, dull; Cordova, 9¾@12¾c. Futures opened steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 5 points, April being the only month to show an improvement at the start. Trading was quiet during the morning and early afternoon and there seemed to be no fresh feature in the general situation, but prices ruled generally steady and improved on the near months later in the day on support from leading trade circles and scattered covering. The market closed steady net unchanged to 5 points higher. Sales were reported of 20,500 bags, including May, at 7.05c; June at 6.75c; July at 6.60c; and September at 6.10c. Havre closed net unchanged to ¼c lower.

Dry Goods.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Business in wholesale dry goods was featured by a more general demand for cotton yarns for deferred shipments and a rejuvenated inquiry for nearly all kinds of lightweight fabrics from interior dealers, who were attracted by the recent readjustment of prices for staple prints and encouraged to increase their holdings by the more favorable weather.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Following the revision of prices for printed wash fabrics a much larger business is being placed with the agents. The general trade is quiet, and, while prices on cotton goods and yarns are firm, buyers are not willing to pay the advances which would be in keeping with the higher prices asked for cotton. Silk piece goods and ribbons are quiet. Jobbing houses are doing a moderate trade only.

Cotton.

NEW YORK, May 12.—COTTON—Spot, closed 20 points higher; middling uplands, 11.30c; middling gulf, 11.55c; sales, 524 bales. The market opened firm at an advance of 10@13 points in response to higher cables than expected, a renewal of the general buying movement, and covering of shorts. Realizing was heavy, but offerings were surprisingly well absorbed and after a little hesitation the upward movement continued. There were slight recessions around midday, but only momentarily, and later the market received renewed impetus from rebuying by people who had sold earlier for profits and who saw no apparent sign of any substantial setback. Before the advance was checked May contracts had sold at 11.08c and January at 10.83c, or 29 to 32 points above the closing figures of yesterday. Realizing was exceedingly heavy during the last hour, when it looked as though many of the original bulls were taking down substantial profits, and prices eased off a few points from the top in consequence. There were private reports of a better spot demand in the south at high prices and the southern spot markets were unchanged to ⅛c higher. Futures opened firm and closed nervous. Quotations:

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 12.—COTTON—Spot, steady, 5-16c higher; middling, 10⅝c. Sales on spot, 4,050 bales; to arrive, 2,525. Covering of May commitments by exporters who were alarmed at the advance in futures resulted in heavy sales. Futures opened steady at an advance of 7 points on the near and 10@11 points on the distant months in connection with a sensational advance in Liverpool. After this influence wore off the ring still found itself facing a demand for contracts which it could not fill and the result was the wildest advance in many months and new high levels for the season for all months. At the height of the advance July was 26 points over yesterday's closing at 10.73c and October and December both registered advances of 30 points. Manipulation by big New York interests had much to do with the advance, although many orders to buy came from towns in the interior of the cotton belt. At no time did the market display anything but a steady tone. The closing was steady at a net advance of 24@26 points. Futures closed steady. Closing bids: May, 10.64c; June, 10.79c; July, 10.91c; August, 10.77c; September, 10.73c; October, 10.69c; December, 10.70c.

LIVERPOOL, May 12.—Closing: COTTON—Spot in increased demand; prices 14 points higher; American middling fair, 6.28d; good middling, 5.92d; middling, 5.72d; low middling, 5.54d; good ordinary, 5.25d; ordinary, 4.90d. The sales of the day were 10,000 bales, of which 500 were for speculation and export and included 9,200 American. Receipts, 12,000 bales, including 500 American. Futures opened firm and closed steady. GETS LAST OF GROSS TRACT

Ten Year Loan of $130,000 at 4 Per Cent Indicates Cheap Money.

Another large real estate transaction in the northwest part of the city, where much activity recently has been shown, is the purchase by Albert Haentze, of Haentze & Wheeler, of a tract of 249 lots, comprising a part of what is known as the S. E. Gross boulevard addition to Chicago. The property is bounded by North Fortieth avenue, Avondale and Hamlin avenues, and Addison street.

The tract, which was purchased by S. E. Gross several years ago from the Franklin Osburn estate of Pittsburg, Pa., passed by foreclosure proceedings back to the latter. It originally comprised seven blocks, and Haentze & Wheeler began acquiring parts of the property over a year ago. The present transaction cleans up the entire tract. No consideration is given, but Mr. Haentze gave back a trust deed to H. H. Walker to secure $57,714 of the purchase money. The deed runs for three years at 5 per cent. It is proposed to change the name of the subdivision and place the new purchase on the market.

Passes Title to Hotel Annex.

John W. Gary has quitclaimed to the McNaughton company, owners of the Windermere hotel property, what is known as the annex to the latter on Fifty-sixth street, 150 feet west of Cornell avenue, for $25,000. The lot is 50x164 feet, south front, and the building is a three story and basement structure.

A loan of noteworthy interest as indicating the cheapening tendency of the money market has just been closed by Edgar M. Snow & Co. The loan is for $130,000, ten years, at 4 per cent, and is secured by the property at the northeast corner of Market and Quincy streets, 40x74 feet, improved with a new twelve story steel fireproof building under long lease to the Dry Goods Reporter company.

John B. Watson of Montague, Mich., sold to Lizzie W. Sullivan of Chicago the six apartment building at 5819-5821 Prairie avenue, 44x161 feet, for a nominal consideration, subject to an incumbrance of $13,500. W. H. Wollenbar and Howard Bros. were the brokers.

Buys Block of Flats.

Otto Diederichs has purchased from Martin H. Serum the property in Roscoe street, 432 feet west of Evanston avenue, 50x132 feet, north front, with flat improvements, for $24,000.

The Ohrman Mortgage company has made a loan of $30,000 at 5 per cent to Julius Frank on his new three story apartment building being erected at 1832-1838 Wrightwood avenue.

The Chicago Title and Trust company has taken title as trustee from Robert F. Goodman to the property in Michigan boulevard, 213 feet north of Twenty-fourth street, 19x193 feet, east front, a nominal consideration being given.

Albert S. Gage, president of the Wellington Hotel company, has leased through E. A. Keebler & Co. to the United Cigar Stores company the corner store in the Wellington hotel for six years for a term rental of $30,000.

Keebler & Co. have also leased for Hirsch, Wickwire & Co. to Charles Tennes the corner store in the new Hirsch-Wickwire building, northeast corner of Van Buren and Franklin streets, for five years at a total rental of $20,000.

Paper Dealers to Build.

Thomas Bros., paper dealers, are to erect a five story and basement warehouse and office building on Sangamon street, between Lake and Fulton streets, 107x120 feet, of mill construction, to cost $50,000.

F. L. Nelson will build five one story stores at the southeast corner of Lawrence and Hermitage avenues on a lot 102x45 feet.

REVIEW OF THE METAL TRADES.

Cleveland, O., May 12.—[Special.]—The Iron Trade Review will say tomorrow:

"The outlook in the iron trade is now more favorable than at any time since the fall of 1907. The menace of prices being too rapidly advanced is the only cloud in the sky. The recent increase in demand for both finished products and pig iron shows a tendency to recuperate more promptly than was anticipated. There is a distinct trend toward better conditions. The steel industry is really prosperous in most of its branches and in some lines the tonnage output is close to the best on record.

"All this year the country has been producing pig iron at a rate close to 22,000,000 tons a year, which is less than 4,000,000 tons short of the best output in any calendar. The steel corporation is now operating 69 per cent of its blast furnace capacity, which, in view of the Gary improvements, is about 75 per cent of what was normal a year ago. In spite of this fact, corporation stocks of pig iron are low.

"The pig iron market continues fairly active and there has been more buying of steel making grades. Southern iron for prompt shipment is weak and the outlook for the last half is not entirely satisfactory. Valley prices are firmer. Prices in the central west are firmer, but competition has been strong in the east and some low prices have been named."

Prepare for Lifting Process.

The Iron Age tomorrow will say:

"The maxim of a famous steel maker now retired was that preliminary to lifting the market was to get underneath. The latter process seems to have been pretty completely accomplished and the effort to effect the former is now under way. It is not without its uncertainties, and until quite recently exceptions were numerous.

"In staple lines jobbers have loaded up quite heavily, and to that extent no really new business has been created. But there is strong evidence, too, that the low prices have decidedly encouraged consumption and brought out dormant business from the standpoint of profits the accumulations of a large amount of tonnage is not a cheerful development, and considerable sums have been sacrificed through their adjustment to the basis of present prices for current and future deliveries on contracts entered prior to February at the prices then ruling."

REAL ESTATE—FARM LANDS.

FOR SALE—THE CADILLAC TRACT. Within and adjoining the City of Cadillac, is the one best buy in Michigan lands. The soil, climate, rainfall, and natural advantages are exceptionally fine for fruit, stock, and diversified farming, but the superior railway facilities, the dependable and high priced home markets, the good hard roads, the fine schools, churches, and up to date benefits of modern civilization, place my proposition quite in a class by itself.

I own upwards of 15,000 acres, distant one-half to six miles from the City of Cadillac, population over 10,000 live ones, the industrial metropolis of central western Michigan. Cadillac has everything you ought to have, from 32 mills and factories to 14 churches of various denominations. There is generally plenty of work for my settlers who wish to turn an honest penny at times when not employed in developing their properties. Another feature in addition to these advantages (offered by no other dealer in Michigan lands, so far as I know) is that I have placed many thousand acres of my lands under contract to have stumps and roots removed. When this is done they are ready for the plow. I will sell you lands under this stump removing contract at just as low a figure and on as easy terms as others are selling you raw lands from which you will have to remove the stumps yourself. Furthermore, if you wish to remove stumps from your own land the stump removing contract stipulates that you will be paid $4 per cord for same; as the stumps and roots generally run over six cords per acre—sometimes ten cords—you can see the money to be made. This means just what it says. Investigate. The stumps and roots are used for the manufacture of turpentine, rosin, and by-products in a factory already erected and operating for this purpose.

It will pay you to write for my booklets, which will give you complete and accurate information. Every word of the descriptive matter I send you is from my own pen, which means that I hold myself personally responsible for the integrity of each statement I make. And remember, brother, your money back if not as represented. Write today to

Owner of the Cadillac Tract,
Drawer G1, Cadillac, Mich.

FOR SALE—

160 acre farm bordering on a beautiful crystal inland lake, about 6 miles from Ludington; macadamized road all the way, half mile from church, school; soil of clay loam, fenced in 20 acre fields, woven wire, 50 acres wheat, 30 acres meadow, 20 acres new land plowed, 60 acres woodland and pasture; fine modern 9 room house; barn 42x84, with stone foundation. With this goes 32 tons baled hay, all implements, household goods, 20,000 ft. lumber, and other articles too numerous to mention here. Reasons for selling, death of owner's wife. Farm is worth $12,000. Safely $2,000 crop now on farm. For quick sale will sacrifice everything for $8,500; $2,500 cash down and terms to suit. Address A. J. YAKES, 302 Lewis-st., Ludington, Mich.

Bitter Root Valley

Buy an irrigated orchard home in the Pacific northwest. Be one of a unique colony with suburban home comforts, good roads, churches, schools, stores, banks, telephones, electric lights, two railroads, hunting, fishing, and a perfect climate. Does your present home give you an income or do you give your income for a home? Berries and vegetables yield silver dollars at once. Apples and hardy fruits yield golden eagles later. Sold only to people who make good neighbors. Come and talk it over or send for printed matter.

REAL ESTATE—FARM LANDS.

THIS IS AN AGE OF SPECIALISTS.
I am a specialist in my line.

Irrigated Land.

I have what I know to be the best irrigated land in the best location:
12 miles north of Denver, Colo.
The best transportation—5 railroads within 4 miles—16 railroads enter Denver.
Cheapest labor, all you want when you need it.
Cheap fuel coal $2 a ton, only two miles away.
The best of water rights with ample storage capacity to guarantee absolute protection to your crops.

$500 or $1,000 invested in my land now will grow faster and surer than any other form of investment you can make.

Because of the valuable crops of fruit and vegetables that can be grown on the land.

Also because of its nearness to Denver it is attractive to the man of means.

Who would not live on the best land in the world, where he could have near neighbors, free mail delivery, telephones, churches, schools, and stores; also theaters.

I can also arrange to take entire charge of your land, cultivate and market your crops, if you are not ready to go now.

NEXT EXCURSION MAY 18TH.

SOUTH DAKOTA.

If you are interested in land LISTEN. We have some propositions in the famous Jim River Valley of South Dakota that cannot be duplicated any place on the map. It will pay you to investigate the rapid developments of that great state. She has for the last twelve years produced more new wealth per capita than any state in the union. Her climate is bright, healthful, and invigorating; the average rainfall east of the Missouri river is 21 inches, 17 inches of this falls in the five growing months. For the last three years the value of her corn crop has exceeded the value of the wheat crop by over three million dollars. Send for our free booklet or call at our office, 1207 Fort Dearborn Bldg.

WILLIAM HALL, BROKER—A STATEMENT.

William Hall, a broker in the Rector Building, has published and is circulating a pamphlet, on the front page of which is a picture of himself and a heading, "Extract from Chicago Sunday Tribune, June 4, 1905," the "extract" being as follows:

"Chicago's most successful broker, Mr. William Hall, President of the William Hall Company, with offices on the fourth floor of the Hartford Building, 140 Dearborn-st., as was generally predicted, has made a wonderful record in investment circles. Mr. Hall commenced business five years ago in a small office at 167 Dearborn-st., and through good financiering, excellent judgment, and close attention to business, has established the largest brokerage firm in Chicago for sale and purchase of any and all legitimate businesses.

"Mr. Hall's success is due largely to the high grade investments and property handled through his office, and by fulfilling every representation made by him to the investing public. As a rule, the advertiser, or the one seeking to dispose of their property, almost invariably exaggerate their offers, and it is for these reasons the services of a strictly responsible and experienced investment broker is essential. The success which Mr. Hall has achieved in this field proves the necessity of a medium between the prospective investor and the party who wishes to secure a partner or dispose of their business or invest their money in any legitimate enterprise.

"Mr. Hall is in constant communication with investors seeking to purchase any and all kinds of legitimate business, and is thus able to render the most valuable services to both in the capacity of a medium.

"The William Hall Co. are the heaviest advertisers in the U. S. Their advertisements appear regularly in all the leading papers throughout the country. Consequently their facilities for disposing of any and all legitimate businesses is practically unlimited.

"Mr. Hall's integrity and method of operation are indorsed by the highest commercial authorities. The testimony of hundreds of gratified investors proves the valuable services rendered by him through his office and entitles him to the implicit confidence of the investing public."

This "extract," which a reader might naturally suppose from the circular to have been taken from the news or editorial columns of "The Tribune," as a matter of fact is the substance of a paid advertisement which appeared in "The Tribune." The advertisement itself is so worded and its heading is so framed as to lead a reader to the almost inevitable belief that the words of the advertisement are those of "The Tribune."

Of course, nothing is farther from the fact. "The Tribune" of its own volition never has printed a word eulogistic of Mr. Hall and his business methods. His attention has been called to the circular and the erroneous impression it seeks to convey. Mr. Hall has replied, that no reason has been given him why he should not conduct his own business as he sees fit.

Mr. Hall's attitude being thus, "The Tribune" takes this method of informing the public of the facts in the case and to disclaim any desire or intention of in any way vouching for Mr. Hall's "integrity or method of operation."

"The Tribune" will be pleased to hear from any clients or customers of Mr. Hall who were led to believe the extract from "The Tribune" was an editorial expression by "The Tribune" of the character and business standing of Mr. Hall.

PAYMENTS TO SUIT.

We do a straight, legitimate loan business, dealing only with the BETTER CLASS OF MEN and WOMEN, and can afford to make the LOWEST and BEST TERMS. No "banking," "merchandising," "insurance," or other scheme tacked on to swell the cost to borrowers.

We state from the start just what a loan will cost and there are no notary's fees, charges for papers, or investigating, interest added or deducted, or other extras twisted in on customers when they come to the point of getting their money. They get the full amount they ask for, too.

While we prefer the large loans, we treat the applicant for a small loan with the same courtesy and consideration accorded those who borrow $500 or more.

Our facilities for dealing with the class we cater to are ideal. Our money is no better than that of others, but there's a difference; you'll see it. Others can imitate our "ads," but that is as far as they go. Private waiting and "talk" rooms.

WE CONDUCT
FOR SALARIED PEOPLE.

If you have a permanent salaried position we will gladly lend you any reasonable amount of money at lowest rates without security.
You may repay this loan on easy installments arranged to suit your income.
We guarantee absolute secrecy.
Loans made in one day.
Call and see us; you will receive the same courteous treatment that your employer gets at his bank. If not convenient to call, fill out this blank, mail it to our office, and our agent will call at once with full particulars.

I APPRECIATE ACCOUNTS OF HONORABLE people [men employed or in business, ladies with allowances from their husbands or incomes from other sources] who want large or small sums, confidentially, with or without security. My location [30 min. from loop district] and my being the president of a large manufacturing, wholesale, vehicle establishment [Bradstreet's and other agencies show its standing], and not a professional money lender, assures a privacy not possible to those who deal with brokers in downtown office buildings where money lenders congregate. Professional lenders demand high rates, usually asking so much that the average straightforward citizen realizes that an exorbitant interest for any time is burdensome. My average rate, all charges positively included, is never more than 1, 2, or 3 per cent monthly, depending on risk and amount loaned. Individual waiting rooms. Ask for WILLCOXE, care The Englewood Co., 538-540 East 63d-st., cor. Greenwood-av. Tel. Hyde Park 4333.

BANKERS TO THE PEOPLE—
YOU CAN borrow money of us in small sums as well as large. Men and Women employed—Business Men, too—we will give you the fairest rate in Chicago. LADIES of reputable family may easily borrow on their own name and promise. We will give any new patron the same consideration we have given a host of honorable borrowers of quick and emergency money in our eleven years of the people's banking business, which has culminated in our now occupying new quarters, not only the most commodious but considerately convenient for those desiring to transact a personal business. Close to State-st. stores—heart of business district. We have no "insurance" or "Mercantile connection" or other device or deceit. But straightforward and courteously we offer our services and just terms to any honorable person, with or without security. Tel. Central 1054, or call, private offices [also ladies' room], in connection, with banking room, at Seventh Floor, 122 Monroe-st., cor. Clark. WEST & COMPANY.

SEE FLAW IN CASE ON ELECTRIC RATE

LOOKS FOR FEDERAL AID.

Dr. W. A. Evans on Return from Washington Predicts Health Co-operation.

A big flaw in the complaint of A. J. Sidder that the Commonwealth Edison was not paying full compensation to the city was found by employés of the city yesterday, and Controller Walter H. Wilson said the complaint was dismissed so far as he was concerned.

The shoe merchant, on the other hand, was convinced that in figures he obtained during the day he had established a prima facie case against the electric company, and he intimated he had something additional "up his sleeve." He admitted he recently had protested against the bills charged against him for lighting his State street store.

The flaw found in Mr. Sidder's figures was that he based his deductions on the stock exchange reports of the gross receipts of the company for the twelve months ending Sept. 30, 1908, during all of which the Commonwealth and the Chicago Edison companies were in joint operation, and against this amount he contrasted the compensation paid the city during the year prior to June 1, 1908, during which there were three months that the Commonwealth alone was to pay compensation.

The franchise consolidating the two companies was passed Sept. 17, 1908. Until that time the Chicago Edison paid the city no compensation.

Compensation for Other Years.

1905	54,162	1907	104,875

The next report to the city was of the proceeds of the Commonwealth from June 1, 1907, to Sept. 30, 1907, when the franchises went into effect, and of the consolidation—the Commonwealth Edison—from that time, Sept. 30, 1907, until May 31, 1908. The gross receipts for this period were $6,840,673 and the city's 3 per cent was $205,561.

Mr. Sidder's claim is that the reports of the Commonwealth Edison to the New York and Chicago exchanges show for the year ending Sept. 30, 1908, gross receipts of $9,500,908, and that the city's compensation for a year ending a few months earlier should have been in proportion. He insists the 3 per cent ratio held in former years, so that it should have held in 1907-1908.

Dr. W. A. Evans, health commissioner, returned from Washington confident of the government aid asked for the establishment of better sanitation for Chicago. With Dr. Gustav Weiss of Hammond, Ind., he left the national capital after assurances from the war department that proper legislation introduced in congress would be passed without question, and William R. Humphrey, representing the Chicago Association of Commerce, remained to see that the initial steps in this direction were taken.

Senator Cullom was torn away from tariff deliberations long enough to listen to the needs of Chicago and took the framing of an adequate bill under consideration. He was asked to see that the bill included provisions that all dumping must be done either within the breakwaters where land is to be built by the park boards or at least eight miles out in the lake. Dr. Evans said that either would keep the water supply safe from pollution.

Decide Water Meters Are Useless.

The council committee on water recommended for passage an ordinance wiping out about 3,000 water meters now in use. Their maintenance, according to Supt. McCourt of the water department, was an expense on the city, as the rates paid by the consumer did not cover the cost of cleaning and repairing them, and the receipts of the city were less than if the consumer paid by the usual frontage rate.

The committee favored a rehabilitation of the entire rate scheme, so that the minimum rate will be the frontage rate, and Supt. McCourt was instructed to ask the law department for an ordinance to this effect.

The old question of the right of the city to regulate the conduct of automobile drivers was brought up again by the request of the judiciary committee for an opinion from the law department on the proposed ordinance to compel machines to slacken speed when passing street cars. Assistant Corporation Counsel Hayes repeated the old decision that the state law prohibits the city from passing restrictive legislation.

GEORGE H. DAGGETT & CO. TRANSFER TRADES IN GRAIN.

Considerable surprise was manifested by members of the board of trade yesterday morning when announcement was made on the floor that George H. Daggett & Co., a firm of well known brokers, with Chicago and Minneapolis offices, had transferred their trades to the J. Rosenbaum Grain company. It was thought at first the firm was in financial difficulty, but later in the day it was learned the trouble was not financial but physical.

George H. Daggett, senior member of the firm, and a resident of Minneapolis, was stricken for the second time Tuesday night with paralysis. Therefore, it was decided in the morning that the business should be wound up at the Minneapolis and Chicago offices. The house transferred its trades in Minneapolis to Hallett & Co.

"The company is perfectly solvent," said Frank S. Daggett, manager of the Chicago branch. "Our trade is amply protected and nobody will lose a dollar."

It was reported about the floor during the day that J. Brandt Walker, who sprang into fame a few years ago through his operations on the stock market, has come to Chicago to give battle to James A. Patten.

"I came to Chicago to see my father," said Mr. Walker. "I have been bullish on wheat, but have little interest in it now."

BLAMES CHICAGO WHEAT DEAL FOR LOSS IN FLOUR EXPORTS.

Agent of Department of Commerce and Labor Reports on Conditions in Europe Following Manipulation.

Washington, D. C., May 12.—"Wheat manipulation at Chicago has rendered business in American flour impossible for months," reports Special Agent M. H. Davis of the department of commerce and labor. Mr. Davis has been in Europe for several months investigating conditions of the markets there for grain and flour. He writes the bureau of manufactures touching the effect of recent speculation in this country in wheat, as follows:

"I confidently believe that if the wheat speculators had let the market alone, we should have exported at least 2,000,000 barrels more of flour to Great Britain and Europe on the current crop than the figures will now be able to show.

"The price of bread and the distressed financial conditions on this side did not justify in the minds of buyers any faith in higher prices. The result is the home mills on this side have done more business than usual and the importers less."

EXTRA MAIL DELIVERY STOPS

COMPELLED TO RETRENCH.

Question Expected to Come Up Again in Fall, When Mails Are Heavy.

A plan to add another delivery of mail to the schedule in the business district of the city has failed for the time being on account of the refusal of the postoffice department to allow Postmaster Campbell an appropriation of $10,000 for the purpose. The extra delivery was made daily during a period of ten days, but the postmaster was compelled to abandon it because of departmental disapproval.

There now are six deliveries of mail inside the loop during the day. The first is at 7 a. m. and the last is at 4 p. m. A force of 230 carriers is employed in making these deliveries.

The postmaster conceived a plan of facilitating the distribution of mail matter and of catering to the convenience of business men by adding one more delivery. This system would give a delivery of mail on an average of every hour during the business day. The extra round required the addition of eighteen carriers to the downtown force, and this meant an appropriation of $10,000 a year for salaries.

Appreciated by Business Men.

A trial of the plan was given with eighteen substitute carriers. The new system was welcomed by the business men, who wrote and telephoned to the postmaster their appreciation of the frequent deliveries. But when Mr. Campbell sought to obtain from the department at Washington the necessary allowance for salaries he was turned down. The department declared that it was compelled to retrench all along the line and that seven deliveries in Chicago was in the class of luxuries.

The extra delivery, therefore, was abandoned and the substitute carriers relieved of duty. It was said at the time that there even was a question of the payment of the substitutes for their ten days' work, but it was stated at the postoffice yesterday that they would be paid out of the emergency appropriation.

Coming Up Again in Fall.

"The matter of an additional delivery in the downtown district will come up again next fall when the mails become heavy," said Assistant Postmaster Hubbard. "I think there will be little difficulty in convincing the department that the extra delivery is needed during the winter at least."

SAYS HIGH WHEAT PRICE HURTS EXPORTS OF FLOUR.

John Stream Says Foreign Trade Cannot Increase Until Quotation Drops About 15 Cents.

"Everybody in the trade has known for many months that there has been scarcely any export business for American flour or wheat," said John Stream, member of one of the largest exporting firms in the city. "It stands to reason that when American wheat is 10 to 15 cents higher than wheat in Liverpool there can be no business from this country over there. As flour prices are based on the market price of wheat and as the market price of wheat is made on the floor of the board of trade, and the cash wheat is governed entirely by the prices for the options, it is plain to see why our exports have fallen off.

"Farmers are offering wheat to the elevators in the country at $1 and the elevators are afraid to contract for much wheat even at that price. This wheat, of course, will not be delivered until some time in July or August, and if prices on the board of trade can be kept up through manipulations to the present level it will be sold for delivery here, otherwise I look to see the export business pick up. But there can be no export business until wheat comes down about 15 cents."

EIGHTY TO BE SUED FOR TAXES.

Proceedings to Compel Payment of Personal Property Assessments Will Be Filed Today.

Suits will be filed today in the Municipal court against eighty defendants to compel them to pay their 1907 personal property taxes, according to announcement made yesterday in the county attorney's office. Among the persons and firms against whom suits will be filed are James J. O'Leary, the George W. Jackson Construction company, and the Washington Park Fireproof warehouse.

MARSHALL FIELD & COMPANY.

Ball-Bearing Carpet Sweepers, $2.75 and $3.25.

They are the easiest running Carpet Sweepers in existence. The driving wheels are of pressed steel and mounted so that gentle pressure on the handle forces them against the brush pulley. This compels the brush to sweep perfectly clean at every movement. Ingenious arrangement of the supporting rods makes the Sweeper adjust itself to all grades of carpet. The brush release—a little spring at the end of the Sweeper—enables the brush to be withdrawn when it is desired to clean it.

There are many other original improvements which make these styles the highest form of development in Carpet Sweepers. One of the two models is made exclusively for us, $2.75 and $3.25. Third Floor.
